"NICK" NOT A MILLIONAIRE.

Neither is Alice as Wealthy as Some People Imagine-Interesting Gossip About Coming Nuptials.

Special Correspondence. Washington, D. C .- Presents to bride-elect of Congressman Nicholas Longworth continue to be received at the White House and the sterage capacity of that historic building is taxed to its utmost to accommodate the gifts which the friends of Miss Alice Roosevelt are showering upon her. These presents are literally nt for a princess or the bride of a mining king. But as much cannot be said for them when it is remembered that nei-ther the bride nor the groom is wealthy.

ther the bride nor the groom is wealthy. There is an erroneous impression throughout the country that the bridegroom-to-be is a millionaire. The fact is that Mr. Longworth has literally nothing aside from his salary as a member of the house of representatives. His mother has a moderate fortune but nothing compared with that with which she is credited. As for Miss Roosevelt herself she has neither money nor expectations according to the declarations of those who are posted intimately on the affairs of the president's family.

Ment's family. WILL HAVE HUMBLE HOME,

If the bridegroom-elect had been wealthy as he is credited with being it is natural to infer that he would install his bride in a home commensurate in its appointments with his in-come. Yet the house which has been leased is no better than those occupied by scores of Mr. Longworth's colleagues, who depend entirely upon their salaries as members for support. Reports of the character of the presents which have character of the presents which have already been received or are on their way indicate that the givers have gone upon the assumption that the young people are able to live in an atmosphere of regal magnificence.

"We can't give them anything in silver without duplicating some other gift," said a member of the New York elegating when the question of a presented that the presented of the presented that the property of the presented that the process of the presented that the presented lelegation when the question of a present was being discussed. "I have learned that the best silver and goldsmiths of the country have exhausted their ingenuity in designing beautiful gifts. Already the White House is filled with enough sliverware to stock the vaults of a score of dukes and not even the London Guilds, those repossiones of sliver plate, can approach the magnificence of the display that has been sent to the president's daughter," and then the delegation decided upon a service of favrile glass. But glass is not needed either, according to reports, for it is said that enough specimens of high art in cut crystal have been re-ceived to stock a dozen beau as large as that selected by the congressman.

BEAUTIFUL NOT USEFUL. In fact it appears that hundreds of In fact it appears that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been generously expended by the legion of friends of the bride and groom who have vied with each other in selecting something magnificent. The useful has been almost entirely ignored. The days when a chest of linen was considered one of the essential presents to a bride have passed away. No one thought of purchasing a house and furniture because everyone believed such a present would not only be unnecessary but realwould not only be unnecessary but really offensive, and perhaps it would have been so regarded. But certainly Mrs. Longworth will experience great diffi-culty in finding use for half a dozent gold and silver punch bowls, 15 or 20 gold and silver punch bowls, 15 or 20 silver candelabra and a score of epergnes of great value, much beauty but of doubtful utility. There are said to be bronzes enough to fill a room and silverware sufficient to stock a modern hotel. In fact, as asserted above, the presents would do credit to an eastern princess, but they will doubtless prove burdensome to the sensible. burdensome to the sensible American girl who on next Saturday will be unit-ed to a well bred, up-to-date brainy.

Carpenters, plasterers and painters are transforming the historic Chamber-lain hotel, that for years has stood at the corner of Fifteenth and I streets, into a club house, family hotel or residence. Here in the olden days when John Chamberlain was alive and the king of hotel men of his generation, senators, representatives, governors king of hotel men of his generation, enators, representatives, governors, financiers, the captains of industry, mine owners, army and navy officers and the bonvivants of a decade ago, clinked glasses and made merry. Here the details of legislation were worked out. Here men were promoted or demoted and within the historic place now being remodeled the world's best stories have been told. John F. Chamberiain died in 1897 and when he died the hostelry which bore his name began to show signs of deay, and although efforts were made to keep the house running and retain the atmosphere that prevailed in Chamberiain's time, was unsuccessful and for the past four years the rats and mice have held unlimited say.

One night when the wind was blowing a gale and snow was piling in drifts on Washington streets, a coterie of conganial splits were in Chamberlain's back room, among them being Roscoe Conking and a member of President Hayer cabinet. The Kentucky senator, who for identification shall be called "phil", sauntered in and seated himself in front of John Chamberlair. There was a pack of cards on the table at which Chamberlain was sitting, and "Phil" said: "John, suppose we run off a jackpot hand just to see how the cards are running today?"

"Don't care if I do, Phil, just to kill altile time. What's the limit?"

TO REARRANGE VATICAN PICTURE GALLERIES.

Rome, Feb. 11 .-- Pope Pius has decided upon artistic changes in the vatican, chiefly in the removal of the famous picture galleries from the present quarters, which were provisionally chosen at the instance of Pope Pius VII by Antonio Vanova, the sculptor, and Cardinal Consalvi. The present quarters are above the hall of the consistory, and the pictures are considered to be in danger of being burned should a fire break out at one burned should a fire break out at one of the functions held there. The pope has chosen for the new gallery a room in the wing of the vatican adjacent to library, and in which not more to 50 persons will be allowed at a ime. He has also ordered the hasten-lag of work on the new quarters of the secretary of state, which, when completed, will leave the Borgia apartment, now occupied by Cardinal Merry del Val, open to the public.

OYSTER SLAVERY ARRESTED.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 11.—United States Marshal Morgan Treat and Commissioner Percy S. Demand Made on Porte for the Evacuation of lahidjan by Turkish Troops.

COMMISSION MAY ADVISE IT.

Revolt of the Bedouins is Meeting With More or Less Success.

Constantinople, Feb. 11 .- The Turco-Persion frontier dispute remains unsettled. The Persian ambassador has demanded of the porte the evacuation of lahidjan by Turkish troops and compensation for the depredations by the Turkish cavalry.

It is believed that the Turkish commission which has arrived at the disputed territory will recommend the withdrawal of the Turkish troops.

Marshal Ahmed Fezi Pasha, commanding the Turkish troops in Yemen, manding the Turkish troops in Yemen, proceeded to Sanaa with a few prisoners and has announced the complete success of his expedition against the rebels. Nevertheless, the operations against the important fortress at Slakara have been abandoned, the besiegers leaving four guns behind, owing to a lack of transport facilities.

Yussuf Pasha was wounded during the assaults and Riza Pasha was killed. The revoit in Arabia has been of long duration. In December, 1904, 30,000 Bedouths rose against the Turkish authorities in the province of Yemen. Turkish troops under Riza Pasha were sent against the rebels, but sustained a serious defeat, four of their batallions being routed, and later the garrison at Sanaa, the capital of the province, surrendered to the Bedouins after a long siege.

Siege.
The rebels captured 30 guns, 20,000 rifles and much ammunition at Sanaa. It was then that Riza Pasha was super-seded by Marshal Ahmund Fezi Pasha, but the Bedouins continued their suc-

force, consisting of one corps each of cruisers, two destroyers and four tor-pedo boats, to crush the insurrection, which had spread to the province of Assyr and along the Red sea to Hidjaz. In July the Turks met with some successes at Sansa in the operations begun by Marshal Ahmed Fezi Pasha and in which the Bedouins suffered great losses, and advices from Constantinople Sept. 23 said that the Turkish troops had entered Sanas, from which the renels retreated. This practically ended the revolt.

The leader of the Arabs was Emir Mahmud Heya, and their hostility to the Turks was on the contention that they were descendants of Mohammed and that the Turks were only foreign invaders of their territory.

BIG FIRE IN NEW YORK.

New York, Feb. 11.—More than a quarter million dollars worth of property was destroyed and several firemen were injured, one of them seriously, today by fire in the six-story store and factory building at 838-838 Broadway. The four upper floors of the huilding were completely burned out, the floors and roof falling in while the lower portions of the structure were flooded. The firemen who were injured were caught under a mass of partly burned packing zboxes when one of the upper floors collapsed. The burned building was occupied by Phillips, Anderson & Co., makers of women's hats: Heller & Co., pants makers; J. & F. This treaty is recognized by the German government and was assumed by it after the con-lederation of the old German states, if any relief for the United States is to be obtained from this source, however, it means the threshing over again of It means the threshing over again of an old diplomatic courtoversy which was thoroughly ventilated in 1899 and 1990 by the late Secy. Hay, and Count von Holleben, then the German representative to the United States. It was out of that correspondence that the present agreement with Germany was reached. The question at issue now is the construction placed on the most favored nation clause of the treaty of 1828, Germany contending that the clause did not apply to reciprocal agreements. Germany's notice of the termalination of the agreement then entered into seems, according to the entered into seems, according to the officials here, likely to preclude the probability of that government yielding to the United States in the matter of the application of the minimum tariff rates to American imports.

ALABAMA NEGRO LYNCHED.

Gadsden, Aia., Feb. 11.—Bunkie Richardson, a negro, charged with the assault and murder of Mrs. Sarah Smith here July 15 last, was foreibly taken from the jalt here at an early hour this morning and hanged to a bridge of the Louisville & Nashville railroad across the Cooper river. Twenty-four masked men went to the jail, overpowered the sheriff and jailer and made short work of the prisoner. Four negroes were charged with the crime against Mr. Smith, one of the most flendish ever committed in the state, two of whom have been legally executed. The third, Will Johnson, was recently convicted and sentenced to death, but list week Gov.
