D. R. Roberts of Logan and John P. Cahoon of Murray, Mr. Loucks told his audience that the keynote of the move-ment is "organization." The motto is "Agitation. Education, Organization and Legislation for Good Roads." The movement has this year signalized it-self by the passage of good roads legis-lation in 1s states with 40 governors co-operating either in advisory boards or as vice presidents of the national asso-ciation. The Union Pacific official-have urged that as many points as pos-sible on the Harriman lines be reached and a strong itinerary through the Shasta valley in California is looked for after the Portland convention. with a supaporting cast, a stage equip-ment, musical settings and all round management that must be as flattering to them as it is to the public. The colors, the groupings, the general pictures might have been arranged by a painter of the highest ideals. The incldental music in the orchestra was ad-mirable and brought to the play a per-fect atmosphere of the period. Unfor-tunately, hardly the same can be said for the vocal part, the singers taking to agree with the orchestra either in time or tone. The supporting actors were of the best, the principal work being done by Mr. Hackett in the role of Claudio, Mr. Buckstone as Dogberry and Miss Sand-Buckstone actor The old legitimate actor ford as Hero. The old legitimate actor Mr. Crompton had a small part, but his delivery was refreshing to listen to, Others in the cast were equally good. The engagement closes with Romeo and Juliet tonight.

An opera company of youngsters hecessarily suggests amateurism, but there is no unge of that in the work of the Lilliputians. The clever little artists demonstrated at the Grand the-ater last night that dramatic ability described and have but may han. doesn't come with years, but may hap-pen even among the tiniest of tots. "The Belle of New York" was the bill, and in finish and careful acting, it seemed a miniature of the best the bigger companies can produce. The seenery was elaborate and tasteful, the contumes ware beautiful, and the chil costumes were beautiful, and the chil-dren in excellent voice, all of which contributed to an entirely successful performance before a packed house.

performance before a packed house. The singers for the most part made decided hits, the best of them being perhaps Fred Pollard, who was re-called time after time on his render-ing of "Kisses for You, Sweetheart." Master Teddy McNamara, who early caught the fancy of the audience by his interpretation of the bowery tough, scored a decided encore by his song "That's How I Love You, Mame." Olive Moore, who takes the part of Fiff Fricort, won the hearts of everyone by Olive Moore, who takes the part of Fiff Fricort, won the hearts of everyone by her dainty handling of the coquette manner and Parisienne accent, as well as of Frenchy songs. In the funny business Master Jack Pollard as Icha-bod Bronson, and Fred and Jack Heinz as the Counts Ratatto, were most suc-cessful, while Master Willie Thomp-son as Karl Von Pumpernick had a voice too rasping to be enjoyable. Miss voice too rasping to be enjoyable. Miss Daphene Pollard, as Cora Angelique, Queen of Comic Opera, gives a good idea of how the most beautiful of dolls would behave were it to be brought suddenly to life. Her acting alone is worth the price of admission. The Pollard company remains at the Grand for the week. "The Belle of New York" is repeated tonight, while "A Runaway Girl" will be given Wednesday and Thursday evenings, and "Pinafore" at Wednesday's matinee, and Friday evening. "The American Millionatre" will be the bill for Fri-day's matinee.

Mr. Calder thought that dog was the most accom plished canine ever in this city, and "laid great store by him." That dog, he said, was like the girl in the song: "She could dance she could sing, she could turn a handspring, and could climb up a sycamore tree." Mr. Calder says that dog was also a mind reader, and could almost talk; and to have if done up by a dog poisoner, was just a little too much for him.

The junior class of the Latter-day Saints' University has planned a sur-prise program for friends and visitors tomorrow night in Barratt hall. The precise nature of the program mobody knows, except those who will render it. Hints too vague to take definite form have been circulated to the effect that something unique and startling is to happen, all at the expense of the graduating class and the faculty. No charge is made for admission, and the hall is ample, so that there will be no limitations placed on attendance. The fun will begin at 8 p. m., but where the trouble will end nobody seems to know, ns the seniors are preparing to take their revenge on the following night.

AMUSEMENTS.

Something astonishing occurred at the Theater last night. Salt Lake, with a record that any city might be proud of for patronage bestowed on such red letter events as Mansfield's engagement, the Savage Opera performances and other attractions that find it necessary to advance their prices, suddenly made up its mind that it could not pay $3,00 to see Sothern and Mariowe. The attendance, instead of taxing the capacity of the house, as every one had expected, could only be called fair. Not expected, could only be called fair. Not more than half the seats were occu-pied even the popular family circle being sparsely filled. If the box office counted up $1,006, it was probably as much as it could do, in-stead of the $2,500 or $3,000 which had been confidently relied on. The result may considently relied on. was regrettable, and unless there is a great change in tonight's attendance, the town cannot fall to suffer, because nothing could be more disastrous from amusement standpoint than have the word go forth that Salt Lake is unable to properly support a high class attraction like Sothern and Marhigh owe. Some mitigation, however, may be found in the fact that the visit comes found in the fact that the visit comes very late in the season; also that "Much-Ado-About-Nothing" was never a popular bill in Salt Lake, and that had the opening occurred in "Romeo and Juliet" or "Hamlet," which many theater patrons strongly desired, a dif-ferent tale might have been told. The advance sale for tonight indicates there is a much wider interest in "Romeo and Juliet" than in last night's bill.

From an artistic standpoint, the in-terpretation of "Much-Ado-About-Nothing" was almost a dream of the ideal. It is hard to say who bears off the honors. Sothern in the part of Ben-edick or Marlowe in the role of Bea-trice. Both artists bring to their parts matured taste and thorough accom-plianment in reading, delivery, concep-tion, personal magnetism and personal beauty. It must be confessed that Miss Marlowe's increased avordupois caused something of a shock to those who had so long worshipped her, recalling her as the slight, dainty and graceful Juliet and Rosalind of years ago, but her face and her voice, and that attractive winsomeness which was ever her distinctive charm, enchain us as much as they ever did, and in the part of the dainty Beatrice, at first a cynic as to the tender passion and later its complete slave, she left nothing to be de-sired. Mr. Sothern gave a most finished performance; first as the woman hater, second as the ardent worshipper hater, secon-of Beatrice. of Beatrice, he missed no point and filled every ideal. The two roles only have one opportunity for any acting that might be called flery or magnetic, PATENTS FOR UTAHNS.

A Good Suggestion.

Mr. C. B. Wainwight of Lemon City, Fla., has written the manufacturers that much better results are obtained from the use of Chamberlain's Collo, Choiera and Diarthcea Hemedy in cases of pains in the stomach, colic and choiera morbus by taking it in water as hot so can be drank. That when taken in this way the effect is double in rapidity, "It seems to get at the right spot instantly," he says. For sale by all druggists.
