THE NEWS FROM TENNESSEE. THE news from Tennessee is not reassuring. Intelligence has been recovered and the full penalty of the laws they have broken be inflicted up-over this year, with but small pros-pect of a diminution of the wheatglut, as there is no appearance of an outlet that would offer anything like an inducement to dispose of the product to any extent.

But this may turn out for the best. It is in accordance with the advice of the leading minds in the community for the people ple to retain a large proportion of breadstuffs in the Territory, in case of a contingency arising that would place them in a terrible plight by being caught without a reserve supply to fall

A season of scarcity is liable to occur any year so sweeping in its charac-ter as to cause a bushel of breadstuff to be of greater value than its weight in gold. Even should such a calamity as a famine not fall upon Utah, if it should upon the country at large, the necessity of reserve would exist all he same. The Latter-day Saints offer to the world the spiritual things of the Kingdom, and they should also be in a nister temporal salvation, should casion require, by feeding the hungry ho might be under the necessity of applying to them for aid. It is in the ition to do good to all men desiring able reserve of the "staff of life" accumulated, and this can readily be done when the article is "sold for a song," so to speak. When the markets are comparatively closed, the adoption of this saving policy is almost like "Hob-son's choice."

cospect of heaviness in the arket will, for a time, maineen counting largely upon the carriage of the season's crops for a revival from their present stagnation.

A HARD HIT FROM LARAMIE

A newspaper which ekes out a scanty subsistence on the great plains of Wy-oming had the following in its editorial column in a recent issue:

ure" and credited at the end that mighty organ of western don, the Laranic Boomerany. public by a man who thinks the "Mor-nous" don't know how to put their rplus $350,000 to better use. Such density of ignorance, with the fact of tight times and little money confronting all classes of citizens, is hard to credit, even in a Wyoming editor.

CHANGED HIS VIEWS.

Some of the extreme socialists are only in favor of their own communistic sion of wealth. When the distribution would work the other way, and they are the ones liable to hand out the inform our readers that our former co-laborer Arostigul has left the editorial staff. The immediate cause of his departure was a legacy of six housand plastres left him by his randmother. Yesterday he informed us of his friends that he considered is new position incompatible with our recories."

It is not unlikely that there are many ocialists of the Arostigui stripe.

A CONSISTENT VIEW. THE following article from the New York Dial of the 13th, takes the correct view of the Tennessee Massacre, and the subsequent responsibilities regard-ing the vindication of the broken law by the punishment of the murderers:

"If the State authorities of Tennesceived from Brotner Roberts that the life of another Elder has been attempted, the intended victim of the murder-ous assault being wounded. It is uncertain whether Elder Roskelly, an account of an attack upon whom appears in another part of the paper, is the person referred to or not. As the attempt to assassinate him occurred as early as August 8th, and the information regarding the assault to which Brother Roberts refers reached the latter through the dispatches, this appears scarcely probable. More definite information regarding it will be awaited with anxiety. It appears also that such is the state of feeling among the vicious, intolerant and murderously inclined in Chattanooga, that Elder Roberts believes it would be unsafe for him to stay in that city, and he will probably remain for some time in Nashville.

There is a way by which the murderous element in Tennessee can be repressed, and the perpetrators of such barbarous and bloody scenes as have been enacted prevented in the future. It is for the county and State authorities where they have occurred to at once enter upon a retentless pursuit of the criminals, that they may be discovered and the full penalty of the laws they have broken be inflicted upon them. We do not wish to pass a last telegration of the murderous and unprovoked outrage upon a peaceable Mormon meeting see do not bring the purpovoked outrage upon a peaceable Mormon meeting the murderous and unprovoked outrage upon a peaceable Mormon meeting in that State to speedy trial and execution, then the National Government of such a national diagrace.

It matters not that the peaceful meeting into which this Southern chivalry (?) fired their deadly volleys was composed of Mormons. They were citizens of the United States, and as quelled the result of the country were citizens of the United States, and as quelled the protection thereof. It will not do to plead that it was a confident to bring these brigands to instance of the internation feel the murderous protection thereof. It will not do to pl

A regard to the Cane Creek murders, that there is but little ground for hope that anything like vigor or earnestness will be exhibited for the vindication of the law.

The GRAIN PROSPECT.

Ohlo, or elsewhere outside of Utah, practise or preach polygamy, or in any manner violate the laws of the State or Territory in which they reside; yet a prejudice exists against them in many places which would almost justify their annihilation. People should remember that similar feelings were entertained by the Puritans of New England toward Catholics, Baptists, Quakers, and in fact all other denominations who did not believe in their peculiar tenets, though there is no doubt that Hoger Williams and others, who were driven out of Massachusetts for conscience's sake, were as sincere in their religious convictions, and morally and intellectually the equals of, their Puritan persecutors."

A DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE CANE CREEK MASSACRE.

THE following graphic account of the great interest. It appeared in the Nashville American, of August 15:

Several articles have already appeared in your paper respecting the horrid butchery that took piace at the house of James Condor, near the head of Cane Creek, about 11 o'clock Sunday morning, but we hope you will not retuse us space for this communication, as we are able to represent the affair as related by two of the Mormon Eiders who were at the scene of the murder and narrowly escaped with their lives; also as related by Mr. Garrett, who lives near Mr. Condor's residence.

While this was transpiring the Condor brothers ran from the orchard to the house. As Martin Condor, a boy of 19, entered the house, he grappled with David Hinson and tried to wrench a gun from him. Hinson drew a derringer and snapped it at Condor, but it failed to go off. Some one else then shot young Condor, killing him instantly, and Hinson stepped out of the front door. While Martin Condor was struggling with Hinson his half brother, James R. Hudson, ran up to the loft to get his gun. As he came back two men ciutched him, but he succeeded in wrenching partly away, and shot David Hinson, who was standing in the door yard. As Hinson fell some one said, "I'll have revenge," and shot young Hudson, who lived about an hour, and was the only one who was not instantly killed. A volley was now lired through the window, wounding Mrs. Condor in the hip, but the greater part of it entering the dead body of Elder Berry, who lay upon the floor.

The mob took Hinson's body with them when they retired, and the rest of the dead were buried near Condor's house.

Such is the story of the outrage as we have harmed no one, interfered with no one, and we claim the sacred privi-lege to exercise the rights of free men under the laws of the land.

What ever of approbrium may attach to our names because we are "Mor-mons" it will yet be known that we are firm friends to virtue, truth, justice and liberty. "For one," as said Bryon, the Gospel of Christ—and where friendship may perform over their bullet-torn bodies the last rites that man performs for his fellowman.

Concerning the perpetrators of the horrid deed we have nothing to say. The laws of this State have been shamefully outraged, but we suppose there is sufficient majesty in the State to vindicate its owns laws without any special efforts on our part to push the matter. We shall work in harmony with the officers of the law. We have no vindictive feelings that cry for vengeance. Those matters are in the hands of the State and county officers, and in the hands of God.

Yours respectfully,

B. H. Roberts.

AN ELDER WOUNDED.

THIS THE ONE REFERRED TO IN ELDER ROBERTS' DISPATCH?

We take the following entire from the Logan Leader of August 20: From Brother Samuel Roskelley, of Smithfield, now engaged in laboring in the Temple, we learn the particulars of son James, who is now laboring in Tennessee, including what it is morally certain was a murderous attempt upon the young man's life.

As there are a number of interesting incidents in Elder Roskeller's experience since he began his labors in the field, we will give a sketch of those labors, including, in due course, the attempt on his life, as furnished to us the attempt on his life, as furnished to us by his father, and gleaned from his letters.

Elder James Roskelley is a mere youth, being still less than 20 years of age. He was called on a mission in May last, and left the Tarritors for his session.

Elder Roskelley writes hopefully and encouragingly. He desires to remain and fill his mission, and charges his family to say nothing of his being wounded to any person outside their own circle. This shows a humble and courageous spirit such as should command the admiration of all honest men, and proves that our young missionary is worthy of his high and holy calling.

H. B. Eldredge, Reg., Supt. Z. C. M. I.,

DEAR SIR.—I am the owner of a Miller Wrought Iron Range.

No. 18 with elvated oven shelf, which I purchased from you and consider it just capital. I believe it consumes less fuel than the ordinary No. 7 Stove; it is roomy, and large enough for a family of thirty persons; it bakes well and has the best attachments for hot water I ever saw, requiring no extra fuel to keep forty gallons at boiling heat, it takes up but little room, is plain, and consequently easily kept clean, in fact it is homelike and comfortable.

When in Cincinnati in January last, I learned from one of Mr. Miller's salesmen, they had just taken in exchange for a larger one, the first Hange they ever made, which, after being in constant use for over sixteen years, was apparently as good as new.

I only know of three defects with it, it has to be set in place, it has to be cleaned occasionally, and you have to buy Coal or Wood for it; if you can find something that obviates these inconveniences, do so, if you cannot, then buy a Miller, and you will always find your wife happy, and your food well cooked.

Fours truly,
