

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

The people of Parowan, Iron county, are arranging to put in a new roller mill.

The rabbit hunt of last week in Iron county resulted in a total of 2,635 of the rodents being brought in.

All of the appropriations made by the City Council up to date are now ready for payment in warrants. The total passes the $200,000 mark.

Elias S. Kimball has been called to preside over the Southern States mission to succeed his brother, J. G. Kimball. This will cause a vacancy in the Logan city council.

The Ogden Junior Football club has sent out a challenge to the Weber Stake Academy for a match game on April 20th. It probably will be accepted by the academy boys.

Ephraim Enterprise: Manti is now getting three dollar coal. If the reduction had come earlier it would probably have been more appreciated by the residents of the Temple City.

The Mayor has signed the ordinance authorizing the issue of $800,000 bonds. He has also approved the ordinance permitting hackmen to charge fifty cents for conveying a passenger to or from the depot.

The falling of the temperature the last day or two has had a tendency for good in some respects in that it has caused the swelling streams to recede. A few such spells throughout the spring would be of benefit.

Influenza, a disease closely resembling the epizootic is attacking some of the Cache Valley horses. Mr. Chris. Jensen of Hyrum has lost four fine animals from this cause; one of them a Percheron stallion valued at $2,000.

James Kerr, father of G. M. Kerr, depot master, Ogden, died March 29 at the residence of his son, at 11:35 p.m. Mr. Kerr was 87 years of age, and leaves one child and a host of friends to mourn his loss. The cause of death was old age.

Chief Devine, it appears, is evading very successfully the effect of the Montague writ of mandate. When Montague reported for duty he was immediately suspended, as were also Bates and Mowers when they presented themselves at headquarters.

The Bingham Bulletin reports a rich strike of ore in the foothills near Fort Herriman, below the Brooklyn mine. The claims on which the discovery has been made belong to the Heaston brothers and J. H. Barryman. A vein of from four to six feet of 670-ounce silver ore has been found.

The Provo Woolen mills have been closed down temporarily. The move is the result of a meeting held by the board of directors yesterday. The directors will give no cause except that a readjustment is needed. It is to be hoped that this readjustment will be accomplished speedily.

The case of the Farmers' Union mills, of Smithfield, vs James Mack, of the same place, that has been occupying the attention of various courts for about two years, has at last been concluded by mutual consent. Each party claims to have been awarded that for which it contended.

The Morgan hotel on First South street was sold at auction on a trust deed. James H. Bacon, the banker, was named as trustee, and made the sale. The property was bid in by Judge C. F. Loofbourov, for Mr. Anzi Dodd, an eastern capitalist, the price being $32,000.

It is now stated that W. S. Godbe, of this city, has just completed final arrangements for commencing to build a forty mile railroad extending southwest from Bullionville, Nevada. It is further stated that Mr. Godbe will leave for Nevada within a day or two and that operations will begin immediately.

Work has been resumed and is being vigorously conducted on the canal for the proposed large power plant near the mouth of Logan canyon, and it is confidently anticipated that the undertaking will be complete by early autumn. Poor men are the projectors, but a company is to be organized and they are assured of ample capital.

There seems to be a little friction between the Wellsville city council and some of the citizens, because the council proposes to assume control of the waters running through the city, something that the owners of canals and ditches object to. It is said that a mass meeting will be held to protest against the proposed action.

The head gear of the police officers is now adorned with silver number wreaths. The wreaths are of home manufacture and are very creditable both in design and finish and make handsome circles for the numbers placed within them. Chief Pratt says that every man in the department is required to patronize home institutions first, last and all the time.

Charles Stevenson, a young man from Salt Lake, who is attending the Agricultural College, while in the gymnasium having a friendly sparring match with another student, endeavored to make a sudden turn. One foot caught the other and he was thrown violently to the floor. Both bones of the forearm were broken.

A move is on foot among leading citizens of Provo for the building of an annex to the B. Y. academy to be used as a normal training school.

While there is not a superabundance of cash in the Garden City, there is an abundance of rock, sand, brick and lumber, and a considerable amount of bone and muscle. Why should the addition not be built?

On Thursday last a young man named Moser, of the Fifth ward, was badly hurt in Logan canyon. He was dragging some timber down a steep hill when his horse slipped and fell, knocking the young man down. His left ear was partially severed from the head, and he also sustained several severe scalp wounds. He is now rapidly improving.

The Culmer-Jennings Paving company commenced tearing up and relaying asphalt on East Temple street opposite the Templeton hotel. The cause of this work is that certain parts of the paving done last season was not up to the standard that the contract called for, and now that mild weather is here again it is being proceeded with. The expense is being borne by the company.

Tom King, a character well known to the police for his fiery disposition, was arrested March 29th while haranguing a crowd of idle men on Plum alley. It is claimed that his remarks were of a class that would tend to riot, and he was taken into custody and sent to jail while his motley audience was dispersed with the injunction that a further demonstration of that kind would lead to the arrest of all of them.

Governor West has received a numerous signed petition from the residents of Parowan and Red Creek, asking that the next term of the Second Judicial Court be held at Parowan. As Parowan is much nearer the center of the district than Beaver, which is on the extreme northern end, the petitioners think that on the ground of convenience alone there is good ground for the making of the request. The governor has the matter under his consideration.

There is no longer a doubt about Kaysville having a cheese factory, says the Eagle. The creamery company has ordered the necessary machinery, and has engaged Mr. Byron Frank to take charge of that branch of their business. Mr. Frank has had a life's experience in cheese making, and he feels confident that the enterprise will be a success in Kaysville. The machinery will have a capacity for handling three tons of milk a day.

Marshals Low and Fulmer left Milford on the morning of the 27th, having in charge Jake Wickets, the Indian, who is charged with killing his squaw. They caught their man near Frisco. He proved such an ugly customer the officers found it necessary to put both "bracelets" and leg-irons on him. Marshals Tanner and Kuss arrived in town today; the chief goes to Salt Lake while Kuss goes to Frisco.
