

INTER-STATE DEBATE FRIDAY

When University of Utah Meets
The University of Oregon in Oratorical Contest.

THE LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES

Beehive State Boys Who Appear Are
Novices in Inter-College Contests,
But Have Some Experience.

Next Friday evening the University of Utah meets the University of Oregon in an interstate debate at Barratt hall.

The question is, Resolved, that the fifteenth amendment and section two of the fourteenth amendment of the federal Constitution should be repealed. These amendments deal with the granting of suffrage to the negro and the question resolves itself into a discussion of the ballot conditions in the south with and without these amendments.

The men who will represent Utah are Christen Jensen and Richard W. Young, Jr., and the Oregonians are John C.

which won for them the championship of the northwest. Mr. Galloway also won second in the state oratorical short time ago. The Oregon Weekly, commenting on his colleague's work in his debate, said as follows: "The whirlwind work of Veatch in his first speech and his five minutes rebuttal was better than anything yet produced in university debate."

While this is the first time that either of the local men has been in an inter-collegiate forensic contest, both have had considerable experience and promise to give the visitors a lively time.

Christen Jensen, the Utah champion, is a 1902 Salt Lake High school graduate and senior at the present time. He has for the past two years been a member of the Chronicle staff, and during the time that there was an interest in debating societies he was an active member. Although he is not an eloquent speaker he is a good reasoner and can emphasize his points in a very convincing manner.

Richard W. Young graduated from the L. D. S. university last year, and has entered the university as a sophomore. At the L. D. S. he was selected to represent that school twice in debate as well as being elected manager of debating. This year he has already represented the "U" in dramatics. As a debater, he is a good arguer and an effective speaker.

AMUSEMENTS.

Theater—Peerless Annie Russell—no other term so well describes her; for recalling her luminous career on the American stage, she is certainly without a peer. Miss Russell began to surprise the public so many years ago, that even her sweet temperament might be ruffled if the actual number were mentioned. She first burst upon us when she created the role of "Emeralda," then she became one of the brilliant particular stars that glittered in the Madison Square firmament for a number of years, during which time her wonderful creation of "Blaine" with its "picture of the dead steeled by the dumb," again astonished the world of art. Some time after she was seized with a mysterious illness, and for years the stage mourned her as one lost. Then she leaped into the arena again with more than her old time vigor, and ever since has gone on furnishing new creations, with each one giving new instances of her powers. This year she has taken the old Shakespearean comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and decided to illuminate the character of Puck. Every now and again, American actors have taken up this particular comedy, and made a revival of it. Nat Goodwin once essayed the role of Bottom, but did not shine in it very long. Stuart Robson followed suit with a little more success, then Louis James and Katharine Kidder, she in the part of Hermia and he as Bottom, feasted it extensively, but it must be said that none of the productions is to be mentioned in the same breath with Miss Russell's. James, himself, had not the comic instincts possessed by Mr. John Bunney, whose delineation throughout is exquisitely droll. The part of Puck—ordinarily one of the lesser roles, is made to stand out in the most vivid fashion by the beauty with which Miss Russell invests it. Her rarely rich voice, always her greatest charm, is as beautiful as ever, and the mischievous witchery with which she executed the part, whether talking, singing, dancing or flying about the stage, was most irresistible. She was called back again and again. The supporting cast was admirable throughout. Those excellent actors, Edwin Mordant, Atkins Lawrence, Oswald York, Lionel Adams, Mr. Cooke, Mr. Young, Miss Procter, Miss Rowan, and Miss Brooks, all did some reading that was delightful to listen to. The scenery was a grand feature, and the sylvan effects in the wood scene were triumphs of the painter's art. The singing was satisfactory without being great. It was for "The Mid-Summer Night's Dream" that Mendelssohn wrote his beautiful incidental music, and it was well rendered last night by the orchestra.

If people only attended the Shakespearean comedies as they do the modern plays, they would here see an instance of an evenly balanced company, such as is only found in the best stock organizations of the country. But no matter how strongly they may be presented, Shakespearean comedies seldom attract large audiences in Salt Lake. People seem to cling to the old notion that the lighter works of the master were made rather for reading than for stage presentation, and much of the comedy work, which in the old days was received with delight, now seems to fall on indifferent ears.

The engagement lasts tonight and tomorrow afternoon and evening.

There has been a change in the hour for commencing Wednesday matinees at the Salt Lake Theater. Hereafter the curtain will go up at 2:15, the same as on Saturdays.

The sale is now going on at the Theater for "All of a Sudden Peggy."

Orpheum—Fisher Harris, author of the "See America First" idea, should visit the Orpheum this week, for there is an act there to win the cockles of his heart. After the black face boys with the Hebrew cast to their negro dialect, have danced their way back to the dressing room, and the doll lady with the big chin has sung her song and departed, Miss Toona steps forth, and declares that she is going to show views of the face of the whole globe. Then the kinodrome lantern splutters a bit, and out comes a picture of a Ute chieftain with a big southern Ute face in the background. The Utah cliff in the back ground. The journey follows them through the Grand canyon cliffs, and along the Indian settlements of Arizona and New Mexico. At the conclusion a view of on the stage and in story. In the play now on at the Grand it is different, and the dreaded "cow puncher" is seen in another light. There is nothing improbable in the tale, and it is a most natural depiction of life on the plains of the great southwest. It is not fair to judge the future of "Butternut Jones" by the few blitches at present noticeable in the lines, nor from the occasional use of objectionable words. The defect will be overcome, the latter doubtless will be eliminated. This much for the play. The title role is well sustained by Mr. Leighton, the principal female part excellently portrayed by Miss Eddi, followed in order of importance by Miss Fearnley, Mr. Clark and Mr. Chambers. All the players gave a good account of themselves. The bill runs throughout the week.

Lyric—There is another good program at the Lyric this week, considering the moderate prices charged and a big business is anticipated. The program consists of singing and dancing, a pleasing sketch, comedy, acrobatic stunts, operatic numbers and clever imitations. The most highly respected and popular of the Lyric's literary clubs, "The Ladies' Literary Club," owning her among its founders, and as its first president, and an entire and talented worker in its ranks. In the reception to-night many friends will gather to show their esteem and friendship to the pair who have journeyed so worthily together the pathway of over a half hundred years.

NEW PROGRAM DESIGN.

Mr. T. F. Thomas, the enterprising publisher of the Orpheum program, this week introduces a change on his front cover, which has been much admired by the patrons of the house. The new design is a very artistic one, and it will be heightened by frequent changes in the tint of the paper employed. In addition to the program privileges of the Orpheum, Mr. Thomas has introduced a new and popular advertising, for which there is always a heavy demand by local advertisers.

Judge Royce has been a distinguished member of the local bar, the firm of Marshall and Royce being in its time among the most prominent and notable, and connected with some of the most important cases in Utah. Mrs. Royce's name has stood for all the time highest in the annals of Utah's literary clubs. "The Ladies' Literary Club," owning her among its founders, and as its first president, and an entire and talented worker in its ranks. ### SUGAR HOUSE SALOON.

County Commissioners Refuse to Renew Liquor License of Perry Smoot.

After considering the matter at several different sessions and after hearing both sides of the question in full, the county commissioners yesterday afternoon refused to renew the liquor license of Perry Smoot of Sugar House ward, in whose building a saloon has been conducted by a man named Harvey for some years. There were many complaints against the saloon by the residents of the ward who claimed that the place was open on Sundays and the law was being violated in other ways. Atty. P. P. Christensen represented Smoot and undertook to induce the commissioners to grant the license, but was unsuccessful.

Tony Hanch, the Assyrian peddler who was shot at Bingham by a young girl several months ago, has been haunting the commissioners' office for several days past in quest of a free peddler's license. The commissioners have expressed doubt as to the advisability of giving him a license. He has also tried to get a free license from the city authorities but has failed in that also.

LINEMEN GET NO RAISE.

General Manager of Bell Company Declines to Advance Their Wages.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting between the linemen's committee and Gen. Mgr. Murray and Gen. Supt. Sommers of the Bell Telephone company, the latter declined to advance the wages of the men as requested for the reason that the revenues of the company do not warrant the increase. The committee included L. Lynn, president of the district council; Fred Fisher of Ogden, and S. A.

Burkhouse, chairman of the executive board of local division No. 57, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Mr. Lynn stated later that he would prepare a circular letter to the district unions comprising the district and St. J.

Sullivan of San Francisco, grand vice president of the order, has been sent for to help elucidate the situation. Mr. Lynn says the same proposition has been laid before the Independent Telephone company.

In order to thoroughly advertise their pianos in this section, they have deemed it better to spend this amount in prizes, given free to successful winners, rather than pay it out in expensive advertising in magazines, etc. It is a new departure in advertising, and one, we are sure that will be appreciated by the people of this section. In return for this large expenditure these companies naturally expect to be repaid in part through a largely increased demand for their pianos from this section.

THE REASON FOR IT.

This Contest is only made possible through the active assistance and great liberality of the Vose & Sons, Boston; W. W. Kimball Co., Chicago, and Schaeffer Piano Co., Chicago, three of the largest and wealthiest piano factories in the world, and whose sole representative we are for the State of Utah. It is simply an advertising campaign of these companies, conducted through our house. In order to thoroughly advertise their pianos in this section, they have deemed it better to spend this amount in prizes, given free to successful winners, rather than pay it out in expensive advertising in magazines, etc. It is a new departure in advertising, and one, we are sure that will be appreciated by the people of this section. In return for this large expenditure these companies naturally expect to be repaid in part through a largely increased demand for their pianos from this section.

THE CERTIFICATE OF CREDIT.

The Certificates of Credit to be awarded as prizes to the winners in the contest are good only at our store, and will be accepted at face value towards payment of any new piano made by these companies. This is by special arrangement with us alone. Any certificate we redeem is returned by us to the factory making that particular piano from whom we receive due credit for same.

OUR ONE PRICE SYSTEM.

Our well known plan of marking every piano in plain figures at the lowest possible price and selling it at that price to one and all alike, the only fair and genuine reduction to the full amount the certificates may call for.
