STABBED BY AN ITALIAN.

Thos, Brooks, a Miner, Seriously Injured as the Result of a Quarrel Over a Girl.

Interesting Meeting of Weber County Teachers-Forgot to Pay for Hired Rig, Sends it Back by a Tramp.

Shortly after midnight Saturday night Thomas Brooks, a miner, was stabbed in the arm twice by an unknown Italjan. The two men were in an alley on lower Twenty-fifth street and quarreled over a girl, exchanging hot words and then blows; the Italian drew a knife and indicted two deep gashes in Brooks' arm and escaped. Brooks went to the police station and informed the officers of the affair; they immediately started out on the chase for the Italian, but up to the present time he has not been apprehended. Dr. Condon dressed the unded man's arm, and he is now getting along all right. He lost consider-shie blood, which has made him very weak. It is thought his assailant skipped out of town immediately after the stabbing and that he will not be arrestel, as the police have not a good description of him.

SPLENDID CROP OF LUCERNSEED. That there are hidden sources of human hippiness is clearly shown to me by the fact that late in the spring I met my friend Oscar Anderson who runs the Anderson farm between Kanosh and Meadow. Oscar said the outlook was pretty scaly. "No snow in the moun-tains and no water in the creek means no crops this year and I am farming on shares," and there was a bluenesss all over him. I met Oscar again yes-terday. What a change! Smiles! Well there appeared to be springs all over him, and a glow of happiness on his overalls and jumper. He had just fin-ished threshing 225 bushels of lucera seed which meant $2,000 in cash, the most valuable crop ever raised on the farm.
