INSULTED WIFE; IRATE HUSBAND

Story of a Gay Real Estate Man Who Got Into Trouble.

A WILD SCENE IN A SALOON.

And Now the Husband is Looking for
The Fellow in Order to "Get Him."

The story of how narrowly a certain well known Salt Lake real estate man came from receiving a severe beating and possibly fatal injury has just leaked out. All the facts are not yet obtainable, but if said prominent real estate man should happen to run into a certain Salt Laker there will be bloodshed.

INSULTED LADIES.
According to the story related by eye witnesses it all came about because the real estate man, in company with a well known hotel man of this city, insulted two ladies on west Second south street last Monday evening. It is claimed that the real estate man has a penchant for insulting women and young girls and making improper proposals to them and on the night mentioned when he saw two unprotected women walking along the street he insulted them. The ladies did not notice the fellow beyond remembering his bulky form and awkward walk and the peculiar expression of his countenance. But one of the outraged women lost no time in telling her husband of the affair. It happens that the husband is a large man, but the real estate dealer, who is no lightweight by any means. Upon being made acquainted with the facts the irate husband, accompanied by the enraged and insulted woman, started out on a still hunt for the insult.

SCENE IN HOGGLE'S.
They located him with his friend, the hotel man, in Hogle's saloon on Main street. The woman was bent on revenge and the husband had murder in his eye. Together they rushed into the saloon, but the appearance of the husband and his wife was the signal for a stampede on the part of the big fellow and his small companion. The latter seemed to fade away into thin air, but the real estate man nearly broke his neck and almost tore out the rear end of the building making his getaway. From the pace he set when going out of the back door it is believed he is still running. The irate husband followed, but was not able to catch the culprit. He knows his man, however, and says he will "get him" yet and that when he does some one will need a wooden overcoat.

BABY HANDS.
Will get into mischief—often it means a hurt. The woman, Apple, Ballard's Snow Lintiment just as soon as the accident happens, and the pain will be relieved. A sure cure for sprains, Rheumatism and all pains. Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Store, 112-114 Main Street.

MAY BE KIN TO FARRIS.
H. E. Hale of Junction Here to Look Into Cause of Farmer's Death.
H. E. Hale of Junction, Utah, who believes that he is possibly a relative of John Farris, who died in this city a few weeks ago, is here for the purpose of making an investigation as to whether the man was one of his kin and also as to the cause of death. He is staying at a rooming house on west South Temple street, and died early on Monday morning, after a few hours' illness. He had complained of being ill the night before, upon returning from a business trip. It was thought at first that ptomaine poisoning might have been the cause. The supposition was not borne out by an autopsy that was performed.

AGAINST PARCEL POST.
Utah Commercial Travelers Formulate Letter to Be Sent to Senators.
Members of Salt Lake Council 81, United Commercial Travelers of America, have gone on record as opposed to the parcels post idea as contained in a bill looking to that consummation. At a meeting held last Saturday night, a committee was appointed to formulate a letter to be sent to President Roosevelt, and the committee, consisting of Frank R. Ball, O. R. Sterling, Leola Irish, S. M. Barlow and George W. Goddard, met yesterday and drafted a series of objections to the proposed legislation. Summarizing the bill, the petitioners say the adoption thereof would mean:

First—The practical elimination of the country merchant, and the material damage in the business of all retail merchants.

Second—The tendency to centralize the mercantile trade of the country in the hands of a few large concerns.

Third—The loss of the country merchant, who would destroy competition, lessen the business of jobbing houses, force out of business local manufacturers of millable articles, and is designed to undermine the very foundation principle of our nation's commercial system, which has, more than all other forces, built up this country, and any interference with which would mean a check to the country's further development.

Fourth—We know that the passage of this bill would most seriously affect that great body of men known as "Commercial Travelers," who number about half a million. These traveling salesmen are circulating mediums in our vast commercial system. Upwards of 75 per cent of the mercantile business of our country is transacted through them. We cannot feel that it is the spirit of our Congress to strike such a blow at the commercial interests of our country, therefore we most respectfully ask that you put forth every honorable effort to forestall the passage of any bill that strikes at the very vitals of our commercial system.

CHILD'S LIFE SAVED BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

Mrs. John E. Hubbard, of Gera, Mich., tells of the anxious moments spent over her little two-year-old daughter who had taken a hard cold resulting in a severe cough. She says: "I am satisfied that it had not been for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy she would have choked to death. I gave this medicine every ten minutes and she soon began to throw up the phlegm. I can recommend it to the highest degree. I have used it myself and it cured me in the same way." Sold by all druggists.

INFORMATION WANTED.

MRS. LILLIE JOHNSON IS VERY anxious to learn the address of Alida Malory. Any one knowing her whereabouts will please communicate the same to Sugar P. O. Salt Lake City, Utah.

OBITUARY.

ELIZABETH H. SOLOMON.

The features of Elizabeth H. Solomon, who died last Saturday morning, are familiar to a great many of the old residents of this city. To a host of young people also she was familiarly known as "Aunt," and they were always welcome at her home.

In her early life she formed the acquaintance of James Solomon and was married to him; and, though she did not embrace the gospel till after her arrival here, she believed in its divinity, and in accordance with her belief, sacrificed home and family, to follow her husband to Zion, walking nearly every step of the journey across the plains, from Florence.

She was a lover of children, although she had none of her own, and always showed a kindly interest in them, especially those of Bishop Alfred Solomon, who were left motherless at a youthful age. She has resided in this city continuously, excepting for a trip to San Francisco to meet her niece, Mrs. Nellie Beesley, who was returning from a mission to the Sandwich Islands. Later she accompanied her husband on a journey to England, to visit relatives and friends, and to gather sympathy. She was kind, genial and lady-like in her demeanor, an active worker in the Relief society of the Twenty-second ward, and a member of the board. She died in full faith in the gospel, with hopes of a glorious resurrection.

The funeral services will be held at the residence, 569 west Third north, Sunday, Feb. 9, at 12 noon. The remains may be viewed between 10:30 and 11:30 of same day.

TRANSFER RULE ABUSED

Railroad Man's Experience and How University Boys Fooled One Official's
First South Street Conductor.

William Hunsberger of the Rio Grande passenger offices has a grievance; one that many a Salt Laker has at the present time. It has to do with the "transfer rule" put in by the Utah Light & Railway company some time ago and abused ever since by a few indiscreet conductors. Mr. Hunsberger is a quiet, uncomplaining fellow and seldom has a word of dissatisfaction, but regarding the treatment he received at the hands of a First South street line conductor last evening he says: "The transfer rule may be good and intended to do away with a number of bothersome things but when abused it is obnoxious and tiresome. I boarded a First South street car near the hospital last evening with a woman companion. Upon paying my fare I asked for a couple of transfers. The conductor was looking right at me and he collected a couple of fares in front of me. I repeated my request for the transfers. He turned to me smilingly, 'Too late,' he snapped. 'I asked you for transfers when I paid,' I answered. 'Well, you're too late; that's the order.' He refused to hand me the slips and while aching to do otherwise I made no scene.

"When I boarded another car I paid my two fares. The same conductor came back in the car a little later and a woman asked him for a transfer. Without glancing in her direction he snarled 'Too late,' not noticing she had her hand extended. 'But I haven't paid my fare yet,' she said smilingly. Mr. Snarley was very uncomfortable when everyone in the car laughed."

The First street line must have several conductors of the caliber working on it as numerous complaints are being heard. A few days ago a lady asked a conductor for a transfer and did not get it. A crowd of university students were on the car and made it unpleasant for the officious pancher. Upon paying their fares each student asked for a transfer and one of them presented his transfer to the woman ahead.

"Had dyspepsia or indigestion for years. No appetite, and what I did eat distressed me terribly. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me."—J. H. Walker, Sunbury, Ohio.

SUBPOENAS BEING SERVED.

O. R. N. and A. T. & S. F. Railroad Companies Are Reached.

Two subpoenas issued by the government for witnesses wanted in the big Harriman suit filed here by H. E. Booth, district attorney, acting under instructions of the United States attorney-general, have been served. One was on the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company, one of the defendants. This was served upon W. W. Cotton, secretary of the railroad corporation, by a deputy United States marshal in Portland, Or., Feb. 4. The second was served on the same date upon the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe in Topeka, Kan. The individual served for the corporation in this instance was James E. Harley, general manager of the system. The financiers and magnates, including E. H. Harriman and associates, will be reached within a few days in New York and other eastern cities. The subpoenas were sent to Senator W. A. Clark returned unanswered and forwarded to New York. Subpoenas for local railroad men have not been served yet, owing to the absence of the men wanted.

WILL FINISH SENTENCE.

About a year ago James Crow was arrested by the police on the charge of stealing wire from the Bell Telephone company. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to 40 days in jail. After serving nine days of the sentence he escaped and was not seen again until yesterday afternoon by Mounted Officer Heath, who arrested the man. Crow came back because of his infatuation for a young woman. When arrested he admitted his identity and did not attempt to escape. He will now complete his sentence.
