A German named 'Frederick' Click reached Ogden by the U. P. train on Friday night, with his foot terribly crushed. He had "beat" bis way from the East undiscovered until he reached Wasatch, when he jumped from the train while it was in motion, the cars passing over and crushing his right foot so hadly that four of his toes had to be amputated and two and a half inches of the crushed bone of the foot extracted. The operation was performed by Dr. P. L. Anderson.

Good Business Prospects.—We have conversed recently upon business prospects with a large number of gentlemen who represent different branches of commerce, including manufacturers, trades, bankers and speculators. It is singular to hote the unanimity of opinion which they express upon the probable revival of trade at an early day. This belief is based mainly upon the conviction that our crops are to be large, and that the demand abroad will be great. The fact is well known that stocks of all kinds of merchandie in the hands

The connection of Father Hautholer with the attempted assassination is given as follows: "He had a desire to see Bismarch; he was in Schweinfurth, and not having much money, jet bent on seeing the chancellor before returning home, he paids flying visit to Kissengen. He arrived at early morning, and since Bismarck does not drive out until one o'clock he had seems hours to apare, which had dispute between the moderate and drive out until one o'clock he had some hours to spare, which he spent walking up and down the pavement in from of the Prince's house. In his perambulations he got into conversation with Kullman, who too, said he was desirous of seeing the Prince, and they talked together at intervals. At last, one o'clock arrived and Bismarck's carriage was expected every moment. Kullman stood on the pavement opposite Bismarck's House. Pactor Hauthler found himself in what he thought a bad position so the other side of the street. The wagon of the the street. The wagon of the Prince drove out of the yard, and Hauthler thinking he had not a moment to lose, and being exceedingly short-sighted, ran across the road and was alightly tripped up in the middle of the road by his long coat, and the Prince's coachman had to rain up suddenly to ware.

EASTERN COMMENTS.

In this way does the New York Herald comment upon its lengthy telegraphic report of the riot at the City Hall in this city, on the 3r.—

"For the first time the Gentiles were able to insist on their rights were able to insist on their rights men, Brigham Young's saints are rather an intolerant set. The time that whatever the Union Pacific can do to relieve the mining industries by the aid of low rather an intolerant set. The time has, however, passed when they will be allowed with impunity to deprive any citizen of his just rights.

The correspondent adds: "In no portion of the C. coat, and the Prince's coachman had to rein up suddenly to prevent an accident. At this moment the shot was fired. Houthler knew by intuition, in what a critical position he had placed himself, and therefore his desire to get away as quickly as possible. When Hauthler left the court the justice accompanied him as far as the miliroad depot in order to prove to the outside world the old man's innomitive, without one pretense of honor—by lying, by a devilish jugglery of fraud, by blinding the eye,
