Elder Heber J. Grant Delivers a Highly Interesting Farewell Address.

WILL SOON LEAVE FOR EUROPE.

Relates Items of His Experience at Home and Abroad and Testifies that "Mormonism" is True.

The speaker at the Tabernacle yesterday afternoon was Elder Heber J. Grant, who delivered a highly interesting address and incidentally took occasion to say farewell to those assembled prior to his departure for Europe where he goes to succeed Elder Francis E. Lyman as president of that mission. President Angus M. Cannon of the Salt Lake stake presided over the services. The choir sang the hymn:

O God, Thou great, Thou good, Thou wise,
Eternal is Thy name.

Prayer was offered by Elder Rodney C. Badger.

The choir further sang:

Peace Be Still.

Elder Heber J. Grant of the Council of the Twelve Apostles, was the speaker. He expressed his pleasure at being privileged to meet with the Latter-day Saints and to address them and bear testimony of the divinity of the work of God.

Elder Grant said he had not always been privileged to associate with members of this Church, for business affairs had thrown him among others. However, at all times he had taken great pleasure in hearing testimony of the divine mission of Joseph Smith the Prophet of the latter days. In business affairs he had met with some success and among his fellow men he had been honored, but none had given him the satisfaction derived from mingling with the Saints of God.

The speaker said the "Mormon" people were regarded in the world as a sect and deluded. However, these impressions were the result of misinformation rather than knowledge, for as all who knew the Latter-day Saints could testify, they were a people above reproach and a sect willing to be judged by their fruits. This manner of judging was much in vogue among thoughtful people of the present day and it was having a decided effect for good as far as the "Mormon" people were concerned.

Elder Grant cited instances wherein the Latter-day Saints had been highly complimented by those not of their faith, for their sincerity and religious devotion. These people could see that the much-maligned "Mormons," were conscientious and God-fearing, and ready to do anything and everything required of them to advance the interests of the work in which they were engaged.

In early days it was said that President Young was the man who held the Church together and that on his demise the superstructure would go to pieces. But it was not so. When President Young died, they said the same thing of President Taylor, but despite their utterance these words were not heeded, and one by one, and still the Church continued to grow and increase in the earth.

The speaker said he knew full well that this was the work of God, and such was his testimony to all the world. He knew that God was behind it, and that all the calumny and vituperation heaped upon it would not hinder its progress one whit. It had glorious destiny before it, and all that was required was that its individual members live close to the line and work with unceasing vigor to assist in the accomplishment of the Father's purposes.

The Savior said, "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for so persecuted were the prophets who were before you." In this respect, the speaker, the Latter-day Saints were truly a blessed people.

Elder Grant referred to conditions in Japan, and the difficult matter it was, when he first went there, to induce certain newspapers to publish articles in refutation of the scandalous stories which had printed about the "Mormons." This was because of the prejudice which existed against the Latter-day Saints, but thanks be to God, said the speaker, such conditions were rapidly becoming otherwise.

The speaker related circumstances connected with a trip east 20 years ago. At that time he met many people who advanced arguments against "Mormonism," some of which were rather difficult to combat. Still, his faith in "Mormonism" was not shaken in the least, for he had a testimony firmly established in his heart that the work he was engaged in was of God, and he took occasion to bear it to all he met. In this connection the speaker urged the young people of Zion to search the Scriptures that they might be able to vindicate the position taken by the "Mormon" people.

Elder Grant spoke of having been introduced to a Mr. Pulsipher of New York several years ago, the introduction having come from a friend in Boston, who expressed the conviction that Mr. Pulsipher, being a well read man, would annihilate both him and "Mormonism." On meeting the gentleman he extended a friendly hand to the "Mormon from Utah," and paid this people a very high compliment, at the same time stating that he believed there was more in "Mormonism" than in any other religious movement he had ever heard of. When he heard his expressions the speaker felt to say in his heart, "Go on, my friend, with your annihilation of Mormonism."

The speaker related many incidents of his experiences, some of them quite humorous, to illustrate the incongruous position occupied by the Latter-day Saints. He bore an earnest testimony of the work in which he was engaged, fearing and conscientiously in all they undertook to do through life.

In conclusion Elder Grant referred to the work being carried on by the "Mormon" Elders in Japan, and spoke of special conditions in that land, paying high tribute to the Japanese for their fidelity and honest in their dealings with their fellow men. The Japanese, said he, were a progressive people and were fast making themselves felt in the world and while, perhaps, they would not be equal to Russia, should hostilities break out between them, they would present such a front to the enemy that the Russians would certainly receive something of a surprise. The speaker hoped to again visit that nation and bear to them an additional testimony of the truth.

The speaker referred to his contemplated early departure for Europe and bade farewell to those assembled, expressing the hope that he would be permitted to return after he had performed an honorable mission.

Miss Ruth Wilson then rendered by request, "The Holy City," after which

A WARNING

TO THE PEOPLE OF SALT LAKE CITY.

Much Sickness Predicted This Fall. Early Precautions Should Be Taken.

"Our seasons nowadays seem to be all mixed up," remarked a News reporter the other day to Mr. Druehl of Druehl & Frank, our well known druggists. "The winter seems to have tumbled into summer and summer into winter. It is stated by health authorities that such sudden changes cannot help but result in early fall colds, the grippe and other sickness. This condition of things is also bad for old people, or those who are run down or have a tendency to any weakness or disease."

"You are right," said Mr. Druehl, "the winter in our country is all point to a cold, wet and generally unhealthy fall, and people are warned to take extra precautions to ward off sickness, especially the old, and those who are already in delicate health."

If we could only meet every person in this city face to face and tell them what a grand protection to health Vinol is. We know we could convince them so we would not have clerks enough in our store to fill their orders. You see, we have been selling Vinol for several years, and every bottle is sold on a positive guarantee that if it does not do as we say, we will pay back the money, and as we have not been asked to refund for more than two bottles out of every hundred sold, this proves that Vinol is successful in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred.

We never sold a medicine that is so universally successful, and yet this is not strange, for Vinol is the only preparation of cod liver oil which does not contain oil, or any disagreeable feature, yet contains every one of the fifty odd medicinal curatives that are found in cod liver oil.

If you know of any one who needs the grandest, surest, most pleasant tonic and restorer of strength, one that will positively cure chronic colds, coughs, bronchitis, strengthen the old, build up the weak, and run down and make pale, red blood, and health in place of pallor and weakness, just send them to us for a bottle of Vinol, and if it does not do the work it won't cost them a cent.—Druehl & Frank and Smith Drug Co.

the choir sang, "Hosanna," and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Joseph E. Taylor.

SPOILED CHILDREN.

Usually Make Sickly Men and Women.

The "spoiled" child usually makes a weak, sickly man or woman because such a youngster has its own way about diet and eats and drinks things that are unhealthful for any stomach and sickness results.

"I was always a delicate spoiled child and my parents used to let me drink coffee because I would cry for it," says a Georgian young woman. "When I entered school my nervousness increased and my parents thought it was due to my going to school so they took me out again. But I did not get any better and my headaches got worse and weakened me so that I was unfit for any duty. Sometimes I would go a whole day without any other nourishment than a cup of coffee."

"Last spring I had a bad attack of the Grippe and when I recovered I found that coffee nauseated me so I could not drink it and even a few swallows would cause a terrible burning in my stomach. It was at this time that a friend who had been much benefited by the use of Postum suggested that I try this food drink. I found it simply delicious and have used it ever since and the results speak for themselves. I have gained 15 pounds and my nerves are as steady as any one's."

"I consider myself well and strong and I make it a point now to take a cup of Postum with a cracker or two as soon as I come home from school in the afternoon. Postum with crackers or a biscuit makes my luncheon. It certainly has saved my life for I know coffee would have killed me in time had I continued drinking it."

"I have a young girl friend, a stenographer, who declares nothing strengthens and refreshes her like Postum and she has a little oil stove in her office and makes a cup of Postum at noon-time. I have recommended this wonderful beverage to many of my friends and we know what it has done for me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Special Correspondence.

Ephraim, Sanpete Co., Oct. 16.—A. W. Jensen, supervisor of the Manti forest reserve, received instructions from the department of the interior over the signature of the acting commissioner, that the enlarging of reservoirs as well as the construction of reservoirs, cannot be permitted with the reserve except upon permit from the secretary, granted on application made under the regulations of the general land office, same rules also apply to ditch construction or enlargement thereof, and rights of way.

The above rules relative to reservoirs, ditch construction or enlargement, and rights of way will hereafter be enforced by the reserve officers, and it will affect the following cities, towns and irrigation companies:

Ephraim and Manti cities, Ferron, Mayfield, Sterling and Gunnison irrigation companies, and almost every town in Emery county, and several private parties owning ditches.

The following are the rules which will govern in the matter, formulated by the department of the interior, issued under date of May 19, 1903, and signed by Commissioner W. A. Richards:

"In the state of Utah, the forest and reservoirs upon public lands, forest or other reserves of the United States, the act of Feb. 15, 1901, (31 Stat., 799), requires a right of way therefrom for the construction of the project. Where the project is within the limits of a forest reserve the right of way may be procured by proper application submitted in one of two ways:

"1.—Through the forest supervisor in case of individual applications involving small projects of a private and personal character, where the reservoir site will occupy but a few acres, perhaps five acres or thereabouts, and the ditch will not be longer than perhaps half a mile, or mile, or thereabouts, and the cross section of the ditch will occupy four square feet or thereabouts. The application must be accompanied by affidavit, certificate and stipulation as follows:

"1.—That he is a citizen of the United States.
"2.—Setting forth the purpose for which the right of way is to be used.
"3.—The location of the land to be affected thereby.

"4.—That he is in good faith, intends, to use the right of way for the purpose stated. In the event his application is granted.
"5.—If for reservoir, the location and area of forest reserve to be occupied. If for a ditch or ditches, the length and direction thereof; (a) The length which will traverse forest reserve lands; (b) The length which will traverse private lands within forest reserve limits; (c) The length which will traverse public lands outside forest reserve limits.

"6.—The source of the water supply.
"7.—How the water is to be conducted on the land to be benefited thereby.
"8.—Whether there are any other water rights on the stream from which the water is to be taken; and, if so, whether the stream furnishes all the water needed for those rights at all times of the year; and whether the proposed reservoir or ditch would be likely to interfere with those rights, at least during dry seasons.

"Certificate required from the applicant must be to the effect that the right of way is not so located as to interfere with the proper occupation of the reserve by the government.

"If the applicant desires to be filed by the applicant, that no timber which ever will be removed from the forest reserve outside of the right of way, and that no timber within the right of way will be removed, except as such as is necessary to enable the proper construction and the use and enjoyment of the privilege for which his application is made.

"The forest supervisor should transmit the application to this office with his report thereon and recommendation, giving his reasons for such recommendation. See forest reserve manual, page 71. And second: For enterprises of greater magnitude than above indicated whether private or corporate, and which are to be established and maintained by or for the interest and benefit of an individual, or a company or association, application should be made through the proper local land office in accordance with the requirements of the circular of July 8, 1901, issued under the said act of Feb. 15, 1901.

"Forest officers are hereby instructed to act in accordance with the above requirements; and to make due effort to have them fully understood within their respective jurisdictions."

Gets Judgment Against Ajax Mining Company for $7,322.98.

The jury in the case of Samuel McIntyre against the Ajax Mining company, which was tried in Judge Morse's court last week, returned a verdict in favor of plaintiff Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock for the sum of $7,322.98. The action was brought to recover $4,010 and interest alleged to be the balance due for the purchase price of an indebtedness in a mining claim sold to defendant by Frank Salsbury in February, 1895. The total price of the claim was $17,000, of which amount $10,990 had been paid. The balance on the account was secured by a mortgage on this claim. The verdict rendered the full amount due with interest amounting to $1,312.98.

LAND OWNERSHIP.

Land ownership is conducive to rural happiness. Among the French people, says Farm News, there are 5,300,000 land owners out of a total population of 39,000,000, or the equivalent to one land owner to every family of five persons. France is a country where the small best cultivated farms in the world, and the happiest homes and the most patriotic people. Elsewhere in Europe the land is owned by a few, and farmers are at best tenants by leasehold. Hence the people are less happy and the country is less productive. The French people rarely emigrate. France is good enough for them. On account of the small farms and high cultivation, they make twice as much wheat per acre as we do, even in Kansas. The same applies to other crops generally. No animals run at large every square yard is cultivated. They do not interfere with crops. The farmers generally live in small villages and go daily to their nearby fields to labor. And what sounds strange to Americans, they do not steal their fruit, nor trespass upon their neighbor's holdings. Much the same climatic conditions prevail in the south and southwest as in France, and in much of this region land is so cheap that any energetic man who wants a farm can get and own one in a very short time by intelligent effort. The tendency in the rapidly developing parts of the country is toward small "one-man" farms. Such places, well cultivated, are producing satisfactory financial results, and in addition they lead to a vastly pleasanter social condition, for the reason that under this order of things the farmer need not have to ride half a day to reach his nearest neighbor, and is not so much dependent upon hired help.
