From Arizona and New Mexico.

Weekly Arizonian of Sept. 15:

The total election returns for Arizona Territory give Mowry, for Congress, 2164; Gallegos, New Mexico candidate, 484; Otero, New Mexico candidate, 240.

This outrage caused much feeling among the Americans, and a few of them determined to clear the Gila river of Mexicans. They paid those in their employ, supplied them with previsions, and ordered them to leave. The Mexicans, it is said, went to Slater's having camp and endeavored to steal his mules, but were pursued by the you say to that charge, Hoskins?" Americans. One account says that six Mexicans were killed-another, only one. The Mexicans at the mines, on the Gila junction, are much alarmed, and a collision is feared.

Lieut. Cook, 8th Infantry, has been out several days after the indians, who stole the horses from Tubac and Arivaca. There are three separate parties out, trailing up the thieves; who are in a fair way of having their deserts meted out to them at last. Lieut. Cook has returned, having trailed the Indians across the line into Sonora. A few days ago, about one hundred Apaches, surrounded the the place. They destroyed everything in the way of property. Nine men who were within the principal building, defended themselves against them.
