Conditions somewhat threatening, but probably fair weather tonight; cooler Sunday, fair and cooler.
Utah—Forecast made at San Francisco:
Fair tonight and Sunday cooler.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The area of low pressure is central this morning over the northern Rocky Mountain slope. The crest of the area of high pressure lies along the Washington and Oregon coast while a second "high" is cooler over eastern Washington, northern Idaho, western Montana and northern Utah. The distribution of atmospheric pressure this morning indicates that the hot wave will be broken in this vicinity by tonight. Rain has fallen along the Washington and Oregon coast, over northern Montana, eastern South Dakota, Kansas, Missouri, southern Illinois and along the Texas coast. The following high temperatures were reached yesterday: Grand Junction, 100 deg.; Salt Lake City, 101 deg.; Yuma, 104 deg., and Phoenix, 104 deg.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Only a few copies of the "News" anniversary edition are now remaining and at the present rate of demand they will all be exhausted at the end of next week.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will meet Monday night, July 2nd, at the telephone office. All who are interested in the work of this society are invited to be present.

John Radon, conductor of a construction car of the Salt Lake City Railroad Company, is at the Holy Cross hospital, suffering from a flesh wound and a contusion of the right foot, which he sustained in an accident yesterday.

A seven-year-old son of John C. Cutler fell from a poplar tree 22 feet to the ground about six o'clock last night. Drs. Richards and Bowers say they do not think anything serious will result, but it was a very close call. He had a restless night, but seems better today.

Orson Thompson, of Murray, was overcome by the heat at Salt Lake yesterday. He drove in to Salt Lake and boarded the 10:15 train for the lake. He said that he was feeling badly at the time. Later on in the day he was completely overcome and it took some time to revive him.

No. 6 of the Paris Art Portfolio has now arrived and subscribers can be supplied by calling at the "News" office. We again urge our friends to take advantage of this unprecedented offer and remind the public that the 10 cent rate is given only to "News" readers.

Interest due next month, amounting to $31,200 on municipal bonds, was yesterday forwarded by City Treasurer Morris to the Importers and Traders' bank of New York and to Wells, Fargo & Co. of New York. This pays the semi-annual interest on the $50,000 of first bond issue of January, 1891, the $200,000 5 per cent. issue of July, 1892.

At the meeting of the James A. Garfield Ivesum last evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Horace Smith; Vice President, Walter Hurd; Treasurer, Sidney Reeves; Secretary, Harry R. Fulton; Editor, Melrose Spencer; standing committee, Alex. Eberhardt, chairman, Sidney Reeves, Walter Hurd, Librarian, John Henry Buckle.

United States Attorney Whittemore, went to Provo today to show cause why Indian Agent H. P. Myton should not be restrained from interfering with certain persons who have attempted to settle on lands claimed by the government to be within the United States reservation. The action brings up the old question as to the southeastern boundary line of the reservation.

There were eleven Utah soldier boys left Salt Lake last evening for the Presidio and Angel Island. Seven of the number are with the hospital service, and four are for the line. Those for the latter service are James A. Shaw, Charles L. Coates, John Logan and Joseph Brown. Those for the hospital service are Albert H. Pike, of Provo, son of Dr. Pike, Oscar H. Hurd, of Provo, son of Dr. Hurd, and Harry A. Holt and P. P. Christensen, late of battery A, Utah artillery, Arthur G. Collins, Joseph Chapman, Andrew H. Hurd, and Young H. Pike was in charge of the detachment.

The editor of the Clear Lake Review in the last issue of his paper says: "While in Salt Lake this week I looked at the Belgian hares. We seelected one that looked about like ours, which the children have been using for playthings, and priced it. Five hundred dollars, replied the affable salesman. We faintly and when we recovered we picked out one that looked cheap and asked the price. Not for sale at any price, said the salesman and we left satisfied that there was something about the Belgian hare business that we had to learn yet."

It developed at last evening's meeting of the Council committee on laws and streets that a majority of the members were opposed to Hartenstein's ordinance prohibiting the riding of bicycles on sidewalks, and providing for the construction of a path in the center of the prohibited streets for the use of cyclists. Probably two reports will be submitted to the Council next Tuesday evening. The objections to the ordinance were raised by Robertson, Fenstrom and Whittemore, who believe it will be impracticable to construct a pathway in the center of each street in the city.

General Secretary Henry J. McCoy of the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. and daughter, and General Secretary W. M. Danner, president of the Y. M. C. A. and wife, arrived in this city this morning, to remain over Sunday. This afternoon they were escorted to the lake by Major F. A. Grant and P. B. Stephens, and this evening there will be a reception tendered them in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. Mr. Danner will speak at the First Presbyterian church, and Mr. McCoy at the First Congregational church Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. They will both be at the meeting of the association at 4 p. m., and will hold evangelistic services at the First Methodist church at 8 p. m.

ANDREW BRIKEN

STRICKEN DOWN.

Popular Young Business Man Succumbs to an Operation.

WAS A SELF-RELIANT MAN.

His Malady Had Reached a Very Aggravated Stage Before Operation Was Performed.

The death of Andrew C. Briken, which occurred last evening, is news which will create profound grief in many hearts in Salt Lake City and wherever the deceased was known. For the past fifteen days his life has been hanging by a thread, and while those who understood the situation expected to see the cord severed at any moment, it did not rob the catastrophe of the painful shock, and genuine grief that is now being felt.
Ten or twelve days ago Mr. Briken was seized with such a severe pain that he had to take to his bed. Last Sunday the pain left him, and he was thought that he would not be attacked again, but in the evening it returned with added severity, and he lapsed into a delirious state, out of which he passed but once twice before his death. Dr. Beer was summoned, and he at once advised an operation. The sick man seemed to dread it, however, and would not give his consent until his suffering became so intense that he yielded in the hope of obtaining relief. Drs. Pinkerton and Richards were called in and after a consultation all agreed that to operate was the only reasonable course to pursue, and on Thursday evening an operation was performed under the hands of Dr. Beer.

His malady had reached such an aggravated stage, however, that the doctors realized that Andrew Briken's chances for life were few, and although they worked heroically they had fixed his immovable seal on his brow and when the final summer came last evening he yielded up his spirit without a tremor.

He was independent and industrious and largely self-reliant, the chief of success. He was a native of Denmark, having been born in Randrup, on August 16, 1858. He came to Utah in 1870. His first position was that of runner for the Valley House, and 30 man, was a sister of his, who arrived from Chicago today, and his adopted son, on whom he bestowed a father's love and affection.

Mr. Briken identified himself with the "Mormon" Church about two years ago immediately after which he, in company with his wife and adopted son, visited Europe, including England, a pleasant sojourn at his old home. He is survived by his wife, to whom he was always kind and considerate, his father, Peter Briken, who lives at Park City, a sister, Miss Julia Gurd, from Chicago today, and his adopted son, on whom he bestowed a father's love and affection.

According to a wish expressed by him shortly before his death, his body will lie in state until next Tuesday or possibly Thursday, when the funeral will be held.
