THE HENRYS HAVE GOLD.

Report of an Expert who Recently Went In.

Kind of the Principal Prospects and Their Prospects—A Camp Which Confidence Prevails.

Special Correspondence of the News.

EAGLE CITY, Henry Mts., Utah, Oct. 8th, 1885.—Our party arrived at Eagle City safe and in good condition. We have spent ten days in looking over the prospects of the camp, and now on the eve of departure, we are preparing for our trip with our mineral mules up to the last foot we are leaving a camp destined to become famous as a gold producer. There are very few strictly gold producing veins to compare in this part of the world, and from every indication the world has a strong belief that the Henry Mountain district will within a short time take a leading position among them.

As yet, one may say, that property speaking there is but a mine in the camp but there are a great many as fine prospects as can be seen any where in the world. The property on which there is the most development is the Bromide group, consisting of five locations and a placer claim and mill site. The Bromide is owned principally by J. C. Hammer and Benton Cannon of Grass Junction. Mr. Hammer was the first man in the Henrys as a prospector, and knows his business. He located the Bromide some three years ago, and has, with no other bank account than the mine, carried on its development work and erected a small five stamp mill as a prospecting mill. Under these difficulties the Bromide has milled and produced about $1000 from May 15th to October 1st the past summer, a very good showing when the inefficiency of the mill is taken into consideration. The Bromide ore has saved on the plates an average of $25 per ton. There is every prospect of a Boston company taking hold of the property in the spring, and it is expected that they will erect a sufficient plant to handle at least twenty-five tons of ore a day. During the winter development work will be kept up on the Bromide, pushing the lower tunnel, though the mill will be shut down on account of insufficient water capacity and lack of a proper mill building.

There are a great many fine prospects in the Bromide basin among them the Sailor Boy, Chief Joseph and several others owned by Mr. Scott Elliott and others, make a splendid showing under slight development. A mill run of five tons of ore from the Chief was had on the Bromide mill which netted $35 per ton. The most work has been done on the Jewel, which is an extension of the Bromide, and consists of a tunnel some one hundred and fifteen feet long. The claims of T. L. Morris, known as the Ideal and Ideal No. 2, the Tenary and others, which lie near the Bromide group though upon another hill, are all in good ore. A mill run of 30.0 pounds netting $30 $35, and with very little additional work will be in shape to produce several tons of good ore per day.

Doubleday and King have some fine showings in their Black Viola, E. A., Wheelwind, H. W., and Heron claims. The Buena Vista has the most development work and now shows a four-foot vein of good ore, at a depth of forty feet.

Middle Mountain is also coming to the front. Mr. T. L. Morris and others have brought in some rock from the Fairy Bluth and Gold Bug claims, which gave very freely and showed fine prospect. These gentlemen have today shown a number of ores to me from the Fairy Horn in which they have a ten foot face on the surface. Messrs. Dailey, Trimble and Pfeifer are working some good prospects in the Garfield, Crescent and Contact, on Middle Mountain, and each day gives them a better showing.

J. W. Wilson was in Eagle last night and exhibited some fine specimens of gold taken from his placer. He claims that he is doing well and will stay with it.

There are many other claims in the camp which are making good showings but it was not the writer's privilege to visit them.

The needs of the camp are mainly expressed in one word—capital.

It has been the fortune or misfortune of the writer to visit many gold mining camps in the past few years in search of investments and I feel perfectly safe in saying that I have never seen a camp where there was a better opening for as a investment, at low figures, than in the Henrys. There are several properties which with a little energy might easily be made producing mines, and the owners are all men who are open to fair offers on a basis new back. There is need of a custom mill of 20 to 30 stamps. Such a mill could be supplied with ore in a short time and the year to the year. Henry has it that prices are now figuring to the creation of such a plant.

Wages are on a par with other mining camps, supplies are cheap when the location of the camp is taken into consideration.

There are now about 100 men working in the district, most of them prospectors, and among them are many who have handled the pick and pan in many famous camps. Most men know a good thing when they strike it, and they are staying by the camp.

Development work will be pushed all winter on all the principal properties in the camp, and when spring opens there will be an undoubted boom of the most legitimate sort, for the men on the ground are all right and will run them, gilt to the last cent.

Although it is impossible to say that the Henry Mountain ores are entirely free milling, it is true that they are to the extent of at least four fifths, $10 per ton in the pocket, and the total values in copper which easily be saved is considerable.

The Rio Grande Western railroad have already surveyed the line of their road to Eagle City, and Superintendent Bender, the general manager, has made the statement that by the time of use a day he will build his road to here.

There is now a postoffice and postmaster at Eagle, two stores, a meat office with drugs, etc., and a new large hotel building is nearly completed and will be open in the spring. A school house is to be erected soon, and I predict that before another year rolls by southeastern Utah will have another flourishing mining town to add to Utah's wealth. [illegible] the product of a fertile valley.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE ARNOLD concert at the theater this evening is attracting unusual attention, both on account of the rare program offered and the fact that a number of society people have taken the affair in hand and are urging it to the extremest success. Mr. Arnold will of course be the leading performer, but Miss Winslow, Mr. Haven, Mr. Krone and other local artists will appear.

Kesler Pays the Costs.

In the Third district court in the application for a writ of certiorari in the case of James Hallman vs. W. C. Vilglin et al has been dismissed. This is one matter in which Peter Jensen Kesler was obliged to take second amendment. It was the prisoner upon the payment of Kesler of the costs heretofore incurred.

The Boarders Caper Us.

The case of D. L. Wilson et al vs. Timothy R. Sage, the Deseret Cadet Co. et al was put down by Judge Boreman last evening and went up again today. The plaintiffs asked that the assignment of the Boarders to Sage be declared fraudulent and void as to them, that a receiver be appointed to take charge of all the property and effects of the said Boarders, and that the sheriff be enjoined from paying over any of the money or proceeds of the property in any previous attachment suits, that he be directed to provide for all moneys and property so received from the proceeds of the sale of the effects, and for applying out of the proceeds thereof such judgments as may be rendered in the suit, and the balance subject to the order of court.

Timothy R. Sage was appointed receiver, his bond being fixed at $5,000.

Political Paragraphs.

Democratic primaries will be held in the five municipal wards tomorrow evening, commencing at 7:30.

Wood prim rites will be held throughout the city tomorrow by candidates of all and wagon brokers in Powers and Jake Greenwood.

It is said here will be a meeting of disinterested Democrats in the Wasatch hall tonight for the purpose of nominating a straight party ticket.

In response to the question by a News representative today as to Liquor Legislature Liquor Legislature was really a candidate for nomination from the Fifth precinct on the Liberal ticket, that gentleman declared that he was.

At the meeting of the committee of fifty last evening it was discovered on counting noses that there was not a quorum present. Those who were in attendance arrived at the conclusion that they could take no action in the matter of Mr. Jack's letter and therefore instructed secretary Wells to notify all the members of the committee to attend another meeting at the Walker House parlors, on Friday night next, at 7 o'clock. It is expected that something will be done at that time.

"Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce."

The legal arguments in the Crocker estate case occupied most of yesterday afternoon in the Probate court. Judge Blair, in giving his decision on one of the points raised, said the estate had been before the court for two years now, and he intended to push it to a final settlement without delay. An order was made setting Tuesday, October 13, at 10 o'clock a. m., to hear the petition for an allowance for counsel and extraordinary services of administrators.

Basalt Items.

BASALT, Idaho, Oct. 5.—The threshing season is brought to a close. The crops have not been as well this year as last, but they are jolly and cheerful and uncomplaining. Some few farmers have threshed more wheat than they expected. The people are united with each other in their efforts. Judge Cutt's little daughter Katie has been sick with typhoid fever. At one time her life was despaired of, but by the good nursing of a fond mother she was restored to health. We realize that the hard times are not so severely felt in this our chosen land as elsewhere.

Elders Released.

[Memoriter News.]

Elder James E. Bracken Jr., has been honorably released from his labors as president of the Irish conference, to return home.

Elder Thomas Henderson has been honorably released from his labors as traveling elder in the Irish conference, to return home.

WITHIN OUR GATES.

Peter A. Dooley and J. Ira B. Gordon, both of Tooele city, were arrested here on Sunday, charged with the fine day after the midnight keeper.

John H. Barron, of Z. C. M. I. at this city, has gone east on a trip which will occupy the great Fair. He took the seven train and boarded the cars last evening.

James Haller, of Springville, and John Hutton, of Coalville, are guests of the Mac-manning other, the former having come down to Salt Lake to receive orders during the shady hours of yesterday p. m.

John Williams, of Milford, familiarly known as "Uncle John," was an arrival by last evening's D. & R. G. train from the south. He is still hale, hearty and happy.

D. P. Felt, who is a large swimming in the fountain-pool for the past year, now and elsewhere, is about to retire on the road to the bosom of his family in Nevada. He has lately been connected with the Herald in the same capacity. He is a popular and worthy man and entitled to success.

Councilman Hales has returned from a two weeks sojourn in Chicago, the fair of course absorbing the greater part of the time. He testifies to a wonderment of that of many others as to the extent, grandeur and beauty of the American Works seem to get about as near to it as is possible without personal contact. The councilman is looking and looking well.
