

Third District Court.

Chief Justice Kinney having disposed of all the cases on the docket of the Third District Court, which was commenced on Monday the 11th inst., adjourned the same without day, on Saturday last. As previously stated, about forty cases were erased from the docket at once, in consequence of there having been no legal service; the balance, some sixty in number, were either adjudicated or withdrawn.

The expedition with which the Judge disposed of matters, the impartiality of his rulings and the justness of his decisions in all cases submitted to him, are spoken of with much favor by those who were in attendance upon the Court.

We were in the court room several times during the week, and were much pleased with the dignity and good order maintained there by the Court and its officers; even the attorneys seemed strongly impressed with the idea that they were in the presence of a judge who understood his business, and that they were not practising in a mock court.

Many of the suits determined were brought by non-residents of the Territory, originating in the late mercantile operations connected with the Utah expedition; and transcripts of the judgments obtained, will, in all probability, in more than one instance, have to be filed in some court, when the defendants or their property may be found before they will be finally cancelled.

We understand that, on discharging the Pettit jurors, the Court paid them a high compliment for their punctuality and promptness in their attendance upon the Court and the correctness of all their findings, not having in any instance rendered an illegal verdict.

Adjourned Session of Supreme Court.

A session of the Supreme Court will be held at the Court House in this city, on Saturday next, pursuant to adjournment, as we are informed. There will not, as understood, be much, if any, business for the consideration of the court; but rumor says that the time for holding court, in the Third District for United States business, will be changed from the third Monday in April to sometime next autumn, and, if so, there will be no United States District Court held on the 15th day of April next in this District, as previously announced. One cause assigned for the charge is, that there are no funds on hand to defray the expenses that would be incurred in holding said court, and another, that Judge Kinney will shortly return to Nebraska to be absent till fall.

A LITTLE TOO LATE.—Hon. Wm. H. Hooper, in a letter to President Young, announces that among the last official acts of Mr. Buchanan, he extended his pardoning power to David McKenzie who was illegally convicted and sentenced to the Penitentiary during the sitting of Judge Eckles' court at Nephi, in August 1859. What motive actuated him in granting a pardon at that late hour after having delayed so long, with a full knowledge of the facts before him, which were set forth in the petition asking for his release from illegal confinement, which petition was forwarded to him nearly one year ago, we are not advised. At all events he was so slow to hear, that his pardoning act was of no avail: the Supreme court having set Mr. McKenzie at liberty long ago, on hearing the case upon a writ of error. The proceedings in the matter were declared illegal and void.

THEATRICAL.—The Social Hall has been once more fitted up for theatrical performances and the Deseret Dramatic Association commenced giving scenic entertainments there on Saturday evening last. We understand it is the intention of the Association to continue performances every Wednesday and Saturday evening, for several weeks. This evening, the popular comedy "The Man with Many Friends" is to be performed.

TABERNAACLE.

On Sunday Morning, March 17, President Brigham preached from the text "The rebuke of a friend is better than the kisses of an enemy."

President H. C. Kimball followed on the subject of practical religion.

In the afternoon, Elder Gilbert Clements spoke upon the history of the reformation of the 16th century, and other subjects.

CLIPPINGS.

—It is reported that Napoleon III. appeared among the skaters on the Lake in the Bois de Boulogne this past winter. He was soon recognized by some men wearing blouses, who raised the cry of "Here is the Emperor: vive l'Empereur." The cry attracted universal attention, and everybody ran and everybody cheered. The Emperor continued to skate, apparently delighted at the enthusiastic reception he met with. The people appeared to feel that a great compliment was paid to them by the confidence with which the Emperor, unattended, mixed among them. The Emperor, seeing a child in a sledge, pushed forward by a nursery-maid, took the place of the servant and drove the sledge. Having amused himself for about half an hour, more like a schoolboy enjoying a holiday than an Emperor, he left as quietly as he came.

—When Lord Clyde, the pacificator of India, who has served with distinction in every great battle in which the British have been engaged since Corunna, was installed as a peer in the House of Lords, besides the hero being a Campbell, the lord bishop of Bangor, who read prayers, was a Campbell; the lord chancellor, who presided on the woolsack, was a Campbell; and the new peer was introduced as the Duke of Argyll, now lord privy seal, and chief of the clan.

—The Archbishop of Freiburg, in Baden, has at the request of the Government, interdicted the clergy from making collections in private houses of St. Peter's Pence.

—A traveler in Guiana lately saw a large pyramid of serpents. Thousands of them were heaped pyramidally, shooting forth their hideous heads, presenting their enormous darts and fiery eyes. It is thought that they thus combine defensively against the great serpent of cayman.

—There are in France upwards of three hundred beet root sugar factories, producing more than 40,000 tons annually, while the noncrystallized matter extracted from lees and dregs furnishes enormous quantities of sweetening matter to breweries, and also to the wine doctors of Cete and the Gironde.

—From the French Post office returns for 1860, it appears that on an average every inhabitant of France writes eight letters per annum. In England, the average is twenty-four, just three times the number; it is less in Scotland; still less in Ireland, where the Post-office does not pay its own expenses.

—It is a curious circumstance, that during the 350 years the Palace of the Tuileries has been a royal dwelling no French Sovereign has died within its walls. In connection with this fact, another may be mentioned. Ever since 1588, every French Sovereign who has made the Tuileries his abode has been compelled, at some time or other, to quit the shelter of its roof.

—It is stated that a revival of religion of great power, is progressing among the Catholic population near Vesoul, in France. In two or three villages nearly 1,000 persons have abandoned Popery and embraced evangelical Protestantism.

—At Frankfort, Germany, two suicides were committed lately, on the Sunday, from the same cause—losses at play; and in the same way—the discharge of pistols at the head.

—A Handloom Weaver of Dunfermline, Scotland, has invented a machine for weaving Brussels and velvet pile carpets and table covers, which, it is predicted, will cause a revolution in these branches of manufacture. Such products have heretofore been slowly made by hand.

—The "Correspondence de Rome" gives the following statistical details for the year 1860: There are in Rome 54 parish churches, 37,708 families, 34 Bishops, 1,417 Priests, 2,390 Monks and religious men, 2,031 Nuns, 886 pupils of seminaries or colleges, 884 inmates of the Apostolic palaces, 213 infidels and heretics. There were 26,293 men, 87,856 women; total 114,149. The number of births in 1860 was 5,907, or one birth to every 23 inhabitants. The number of deaths was 6,764, or one to every 29 inhabitants; the number of marriages was 1,428. There were also 4,468 Jews in Rome in 1860.

—An apple tree on the farm of Joseph Benson, of Hollis, Maine, blossomed five times during the past season, and four crops of apples were gathered from it.

—The indebtedness of the several European governments is stated as follows: Great Britain, $300,000,000; France, $1,700,000,000; Russia, $1,500,000,000; Austria, $1,450,000,000; Spain, $135,000,000; Holland, $450,000,000; Sardinia, $175,000,000; Belgium, $125,000,000; Denmark, $115,000,000; all others, 500,000,000; total, $10,965,000,000.

—A well-dressed man was lately brought before the Tribunal of Correctional Police of Paris, charged with stealing the Angora cat of a neighbor and serving it up for supper as "jugged hare." The lady gave her testimony with much emotion, and the culprit, who tried to make it appear that it was all a joke, was fined thirty francs.

—The largest tree in Massachusetts is said to be an elm, situated upon the Hubbard farm, in North Andover, Mass. It is one hundred and ten feet in height, and its branches spread one hundred feet in width. Its girth, at six feet from the ground, measures twenty-two and a half feet.

—A gentleman residing in Fort Wayne, whose duties required him to be absent from his home much of his time, came home unexpectedly one evening not long since. His wife told him there was no light in the room, and requested him to retire without one, which he did. After retiring he felt unwell, and determined to apply a remedy at once, arose, dressed, and went out to the druggists. Putting his hand in his pocket to get some change wherewith to pay for the medicine he had purchased, he drew out a handful of gold! He tried the other pocket with the same result, and counting the contents of the two pockets he was pluss $400! The pants were not his. When he again reached home everything was quiet, and the pants he had taken off a few minutes before, were gone.

—A very poor old woman, 93 years of age, and very decrepit, got out of bed at Philadelphia, to warm herself at the smouldering embers, one cold night in the winter; she was found in the morning by her daughter, burned to death.

—Among the recent donations to the Essex institute, in Salem, Mass., were some fragments of bones and coffins dug from the graves of the witches, on Gallows Hill, which were opened a few years ago.

—Within a few months Indiana has had four Governors. Gov. Willard's death made way for Lieut. Gov. Hammond, and Gov. Lane's resignation for Lieut. Gov. Morton.

—A. B. Beale, an old man, blew his brains out recently, at Raymond, Miss., out of grief on account of political troubles.

—The military force of Pennsylvania as reported, is 355,000 men, of whom 19,000 are uniformed volunteers. The arms of the State are 22,030 muskets, 4,706 rifles, 2,809 cavalry swords and sabres, 3,146 pistols, and 69 six pounder bronze cannon.

—A little boy named Roth was skating at Burlington, Iowa, last winter and mistook a open place for a clear piece of ice, and thus unconsciously slid into the water. He swam to the other side of the opening and called to his companion to hand him a pole, but when it was reached to him his fingers were so cold he could not hold it, but sank. This was the second son his parents have lost in a similar manner, and they have no more.

—Peppermint, as an article of commerce, is largely grown in Lake county, Ohio. Last year, over $4,000 was brought to the producers of this article, and in Plainville, the oil was worth $12 1-2 per gallon.

—A knavish hack driver, at Chicago, having to drive an old lady about a mile, to the house of her friend, persuaded her that it was four miles, as he had to take a circuit to avoid a broken bridge. Driving her about the city an hour, he set her down at the house of her friend, who being informed of the charge he had made, got him to carry the luggage into a dark room, locked him in, and kept him there till he had refunded $2 50, slipping the cash under the door.

—The Vanity Fair says the memorable words of Old Hickory: "The Union, it Must and Shall be Preserved!" have been proven literally true, for in spite of all appearances, the Union is certainly in a fine Pickle!

—Diphtheria has recently committed fearful ravages in the neighborhood of Somerset and Chesterville, Me. Whole families of children have been swept off, and grown up persons have not escaped.

—Statistics of the Roman Catholic Church, from 1808, prove its steady progress in the United States. During the last year, the foundations of 36 new churches were commenced. In 1818, there were only 68 priests, 80 churches, and 2 bishops in the United States. In 1860, there were 2,235 priests, 49 bishops, and 2,380 churches.

—It is said that there are now 36 living of the 586 who mustered into service from New Orleans in December, 1814, and formed part of Jackson's force on the plain of Chalmette on the memorable 8th of January, 1815.

—At Montreal, C. E. they had a snow shoe walking match, last winter, walking five miles, inside of 55 minutes.
