The Indian Commission at the Red Cloud Agency—What They Propose to do for Them.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, Neb., S., via Fort Laramie, Wyo., 9.—The Indian Commission, which arrived here on Wednesday, held their first council here yesterday afternoon; about 150 Indians, including Red Cloud, Red Dog, Old-man-afraid-of-his Horses, his son Sitting Bull of the Ogallala Sioux being present. In conversation with members of the commission before the council the Indians expressed joy at their arrival, some of them saying to Dr. Daniels, of the commission, their old agent, "I shall die, my father, if you don't take pity on me." The Indians are in excellent mood for treaty. At the council Billy Garnet, Bill Rowland, Leon Palloldy and Theodore Randall acted as assistant interpreters to Rev. Hinman. Bishop Whipple offered a prayer. Then the following propositions were read by Col. Manypenny, chairman, and interpreted to the Indians:

First—They shall relinquish all claims to that part of their reservation lying west of the 103rd meridian, and that the western boundary of said reservation shall commence at the intersection of the 103d meridian with the northern boundary of Nebraska, then northerly along said meridian to its intersection with the south fork of the Cheyenne River, thence down said stream to its intersection with the north fork, thence up the north fork of the Cheyenne River to said 103d meridian, thence north along said meridian to the south branch of Cannon Ball River, or Clear Creek, thence down said stream to the Missouri River; and also relinquish all claim to all the country outside of the present limits of their reservation, and that article sixteen of the treaty of 1868 is hereby abrogated.

Second.—They shall grant the right of way over said reservation for wagon and other roads from convenient and accessible points on the Missouri river to that portion of the reservation which is to be ceded, not more than three in number, to be designated by the President of the United States, and they shall permit the construction, free, and the unobstructed use of such roads, and free navigation of the Missouri River.

Third.—They shall receive all annuities provided by treaty, and all subsistence supplies which may be provided for them at such points and places on said reservation, and in vicinity of the Missouri River as the President may designate.

Fourth.—And whereas, Congress has provided by law that no appropriation shall be made hereafter for said Indians until some plan shall have been devised which shall look to their becoming self-supporting, and whereas, there is no country within the limits of the present reservation suited for such purpose, and whereas, it is the design of the President of the United States to aid in the fullest manner possible for their progress in civilization, therefore said Indians shall agree to submit themselves to such beneficent plans as the Government may provide for them in the selection of a country suitable for a permanent home where they may live like white men. The President believes the only country where they can hope for permanent improvement is the Indian Territory. Inasmuch as the removal of the Indians to the Missouri river will necessarily be temporary, if they shall agree to go directly to Indian Territory next season, they shall be permitted to remain at the agency until that time, but before such removal from their reservation they may select a delegation of five or more from each band to visit the country proposed for their future home, and thus satisfy themselves as to its desirability.

Fifth.—In consideration of their compliance with the foregoing propositions, submitted by authority of the President and Congress, it is proposed that the Government of the United States shall provide all the necessary aid to assist in the work of civilization, and shall furnish to them schools and teach them mechanical and agricultural arts, as provided for by the treaty, and also shall provide subsistence consisting of a ration for each individual of a pound and half of beef, half a pound of flour, half a pound of corn, and for every hundred rations four pounds of coffee, eight pounds of sugar, three pounds of beans, ten pounds of pork, or their equivalent, or so much of such rations as may be necessary until said Indians are self-supporting; such rations, in all cases, to be given to the head of each separate family; and whenever Government shall have provided schools on their permanent reservation, no children between the ages of six and fourteen years, shall draw rations until they regularly attend school—sick and infirm children excepted—and whenever said Indians are located upon lands suitable for cultivation the rations shall be issued only to the families of those who labor—the aged, sick and infirm excepted—and as an incentive to industrious habits the Commissioner of Indian affairs may provide that they shall be furnished, in payment for their labor, such other articles as are necessary for civilized life. The Government will aid them as far as possible in finding a market for surplus productions, and in finding employment, and shall purchase such surplus as may be required for supplying food to those Indians who are unable to sustain themselves; shall also employ Indians as far as practicable for the performance of Government work upon their reservations.

Sixth—Whenever the head of a family shall in good faith select an allotment of land and engage in the cultivation thereof, the government shall, with his aid, erect a comfortable house thereon, and if said Indians shall remove to such place as may be designated by government as their future home within three years, the government offers to provide the principal chiefs with good dwelling houses. To improve the morals and industrious habits of said Indians, it is agreed that the agent, farmer, carpenter, blacksmith and other artisans employed or permitted to reside within the reservations belonging to the Indians, parties to this treaty, shall be lawfully married and living with their respective families on said reservation, and no person other than an Indian of full blood, whose fitness, morally or otherwise, is not conducive to the welfare of said Indians, shall receive benefit from this or former treaties, and may be expelled from the reservations.

Seventh—The provisions of the treaty, except as herein modified, shall continue in full force and apply to any country which may hereafter be occupied by said Indians as a home, and Congress shall secure to them an orderly government. They shall be subject to the laws of the United States, and each individual shall be protected in his rights of property, person and life.

Eighth—The Indians shall solemnly pledge themselves, individually and collectively, to observe each and all of the stipulations aforesaid; to select allotments of land as soon as possible after the removal to a permanent reservation and use their best efforts to learn to cultivate the same; and they do solemnly pledge themselves that they will, at all times, maintain peace with the government and citizens of the United States, and loyally endeavor to fulfil all obligations assumed by them under this treaty and present agreement, and to this end will, at the request of the President, select so many suitable men from each tribe to co-operate with him in maintaining order and peace on the reservation, as he may deem necessary, who shall receive such compensation as Congress may provide.

Ninth—In order that the government may faithfully fulfil the stipulations contained in this agreement, for the benefit of said Indians, it is mutually agreed that the census shall be taken in December of each year, and the names of each head of a family and adult person be registered. No agreement concurred in by the contracting parties will be binding upon either party until approved by the President and Congress.

At the conclusion of the reading of the propositions Bishop Whipple addressed the Indians at some length, and was followed by Col. A. G. Boone.

The commissioners having announced to Red Cloud that rations for a feast would be issued, Red Cloud asked that it be given them at once, and asked for six beeves, ten pounds of sugar and five pounds of coffee for each of the six bands present. The order was given, and the council ended after the Indians being notified that the commission had no time to lose.

Close of the International Regatta—The Halifax Crew Dissatisfied.

PHILADELPHIA, 9.—The international regatta on the Schuylkill closed by several tub races, and a mile and a half race between two crews from the United States man-of-war Hartford.

The Halifax crew entered a protest against the Thames crew getting the first prize. The honorary committee of the regatta decided under the decision of the umpire. They had no option in the payment of the prizes, but expressed a unanimous opinion that the honors of the international four-oared professional race belongs to the Halifax crew.

Destructive Fire Near the Centennial Buildings.

At half-past four this afternoon a fire broke out in Murphy's oyster saloon, on Elm Avenue, opposite the main exhibition building, and before it could be extinguished communicated to and destroyed property of the value of about $80,000. The flames spread east, west and south, consuming the entire lot of buildings on Elm Avenue, from the Trans continental Hotel to the Ross House, about twenty in all, including several variety shows, beer gardens, restaurants, &c. These structures were all frame, one, two, and three stories high. The fire spread back from Elm to Columbia Avenue, taking in all intervening property, including the New England Hotel, a boarding house and ice cream saloon, and a restaurant, all two-story buildings. The wildest excitement prevailed both in and outside the Centennial grounds. People flocked to the scene of the fire by thousands, and it is estimated that there were at least 60,000 people in the immediate vicinity. The Trans-continental Hotel caught fire on the roof four different times, but the flames were immediately extinguished. So intense was the heat that it scorched the paint on the turn stiles at the entrance of the gates of the exhibition, requiring a stream to be played upon them and upon the southern side of the main exhibition building. A man is in custody on suspicion of having caused the fire. The Ross House was damaged $20,000, and by the destruction of a New England house a loss of $15,000 was sustained. Individual losses range from $1,000 to $6,000.

Re-Union of Californians.

The re-union of Californians, under the auspices of the associated pioneers of the territorial days of California, was celebrated, to-day, at the Pacific Coast Centennial Hall, on the exhibition grounds, and was one of the most enjoyable events of its kind in the annals of the centennial. The day was the twenty-sixth anniversary of the admission of California into the Union. An audience of seven hundred persons, mainly former residents of the Pacific Slope, among whom were many ladies, thronged the fine large hall, which was gaily decorated with the national colors.

The Secretary of the Treasury and the Hawaiian Treaty.

WASHINGTON, 9.—The Secretary of the Treasury, in reply to the attorney of Williams, Blanchard & Co., of San Francisco, who made application for the admission of sugar in bond and cargoes now on the way to that city from the Hawaiian Islands, free of duty, says:

First—That the fifth article of the treaty expressly provides that it shall not take effect until a law to carry it into effect shall have been passed by Congress.

Second—That concurrent action on the part of the two governments is requisite in the establishment of rules, regulations and conditions for the protection of the revenue in carrying out the provisions of the treaty.

Third.—That by the act of Congress to carry into effect the convention on the treaty aforesaid, the President of the United States is authorized on the receipt of satisfactory evidence that the legislature of the Hawaiian Islands has passed the laws on their part, to give full effect to the provisions of the treaty and not before. To issue his proclamation declaring that he has such evidence, and thereupon, from the date of such proclamation, the articles named in the act shall be admitted free of duty. It would seem, therefore, that no power was vested in the President or in the Secretary of the Treasury, either by the Treasury itself or by the act of Congress requisite to carry it into effect, whereby the privileges to be exercised under it can be made to have a relative effect as to the importations of any date prior to the issuing of the President's proclamation. It is, therefore, impracticable for the Department to insert even with the consent of the President of the Hawaiian Government any clause in the regulations to be issued under the treaty which could, in any manner, protect the importations heretofore made, or which may arrive before the proclamation above referred to shall have been issued. It may be added, however, that the importers of merchandise, now in bond, or which may hereafter arrive, desiring to withdraw the same, may do so, and, at the same time preserve any real or supposed rights claimed by them under the said treaty by paying the duties assessed under protest to the collector, and then appeal from his decision to the Secretary of the Treasury.

Rowdy Fight and Loss of Life.

NEW YORK, 9.—A terrible murder was committed this afternoon between Hague and Pearl Streets. It appears that two gangs of young rowdies of that neighborhood have had frequent battles, and to-night both gangs engaged in a fight. One gang, led by a man named McCarthy, getting badly beaten, he rushed into a grocery store, seized a large cheese knife and coming out plunged it into Michael Moore's neck, severing the carotid artery, causing instant death; the murderer escaped.

The Absconding Jeweller.

ST. LOUIS, 9.—Mrs. Meller, mother of E. G. Meller, the absconding jeweller, arrested here on Thursday, made application to Judge Jones, of the criminal court, to-day, for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of her son, with the view of his release from confinement. The writ was issued returnable on Tuesday.

A Family of Swedes Found Dead.
