

MAMMOTH LOSES ITS MINING SUIT

Supreme Court Now Affirms the Judgment of the Lower Tribunal.

BEFORE COURT FOR YEARS.

From This No Appeal Can Be Taken. There Being No Federal Question Involved.

In its appeal from the judgment of the Third District court which awarded damages in the sum of $151,059.34 for the wrongful extraction of ore from the lode of the Grand Central Mining company, the Mammoth Mining company, last its final issue today in the famous mining suit which has been before the courts for years. The supreme court affirmed the judgment in an opinion handed down by Chief Justice B. N. Tamm, and concurred in by his associates.

From this judgment no appeal can be taken, there being no federal question involved. It is said to be believed that this judgment will affect the stock of both companies, the mining and the mineral.

The appeal was brought to the supreme court on an assignment of errors. It was contended by the Mammoth Mining company that the Third District court erred in trying the issues of the lode within and under the surface of the lode, and in another question involved in the case in the United States supreme court which was dismissed on account of lack of jurisdiction.

APPEAL ATTACKED.

The Mammoth Mining company also attacked the validity of an appeal which it took itself to the supreme court of the state and then carried to the supreme court of the United States. The company contends that the judgment of which the appeal was made was not final and therefore not appealable.

The supreme court overruled the errors and held that the judgment of the Third District court was correct. The original action was brought to decide the ownership of a vein of ore which intersected several mining claims owned by the two companies. The lode of the first mining claim was in the Mammoth Mining claim, and the lode of the second mining claim was in the Grand Central Mining claim. The plaintiff claimed the lode of the first mining claim and the defendant claimed the lode of the second mining claim. The supreme court held that the lode of the first mining claim was in the Mammoth Mining claim and the lode of the second mining claim was in the Grand Central Mining claim.

TWO SUITS TRANSFERRED.

Two suits against the Utah Copper company were transferred from the Third District court to the Federal court on Saturday afternoon. Both of them are damage suits. One is against the Utah Copper company and the other is against the Utah Copper company and the Utah Copper company.

SEES FOR VALUE OF TRUCK.

Mrs. Belle Browning of Ashburn, Pa., filed suit Saturday against the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad company to recover $250 for the loss of a truck. It is alleged that Mrs. Browning delivered her truck to the railroad company for storage and the railroad company failed to return it.

CONTRACTORS ARE SUE.

George Canning entered a suit Saturday in the Third District court against John McMillan and George Gray, contractors, to recover $2,363 for the alleged failure to complete the work on an apartment building within the time specified in the contract.

SUES ON MINING DEED.

H. C. Edwards, an attorney filed suit this morning in the Third District court against L. D. Ray for $1,000 and interest at 8 per cent from Jan. 1, 1907 to 1908, he says that Ray sold to him shares in the Humboldt Consolidated Mining company valued at $1,000 for which Ray has never paid. Ray assigned his claim to him, he says, for a valuable consideration.

BIG GLASSWARE SHIPMENT.

The Salt Lake custom house is in receipt of a shipment of glassware for use in the laboratories of the state university, from Germany, also, a consignment from Norway for the Utah Smelter Supply company. The latter was received last night. The duty on the glassware is 12 1/2 per cent. But for the timely discovery of this fact by collector Thompson at the arrival of the invoice, the company would have paid the old duty of 25 per cent. The large and increasing amount of importing being done by individuals, one prominent citizen has been bringing in quantities of candy.

THIRTY-ONE CASES SET FOR NEXT TERM

Man Farris, Member of Willard Mack Company, Charged With Forgery, Escapes Trial.

Judge T. D. Lewis this morning set 31 criminal cases for the next term of court. Three cases were dismissed, which have been before the court for a year or more. They were R. D. Gammon, charged with embezzlement by the Third District agency; Mark F. Hohen, charged with forgery by the Third District agency; and Alan Farris, charged with forgery by Willard Mack, the actor. Among those set for trial was the case of R. H. Malone, charged with assault with intent to murder Nels Paulson. His case will be heard on Oct. 19.

STRAW HATS BANISHED.

Wednesday Marks the Passing of Summer Fashions.

The closed season for open street-cars and straw "lids" comes Wednesday, and the man who dares to wear a "strawlid" after that date will be a mark for jests and gibes. The local board of health has issued an order which none may defy with impunity. They have proclaimed Sept. 13 as the date for the end of straw hats, at least for the year 1909 and as a result the windows are bedecked with the "worsted" articles in headpieces. They consist mainly of crash and stiff hats and blue in the former seems to be more in demand. The dealers say that the advance sale for fall styles has been exceptionally brisk. There is little difference in the general make up of hats for this season unless it is in the line of dress creations worn by "society" last year.

MORAN SECURES CONTROL.

Contractor and Associates Acquire Interest in Cement Factory.

The control of the Utah Portland Cement company has passed into the hands of P. J. Moran and a number of prominent Salt Lake capitalists who plan enlarging and improving the plant by the introduction of improved machinery and the use of better fuel. The quarry which are located in Parley's canyon. An interest in the company is still being retained by the English syndicate, who after negotiating the loan nearly a year, at last decided to part with the control. It is said the investment with the improvements contemplated, will involve about $400,000. The new owners will increase the production from its present capacity of 100 barrels per day to 1,200 a day, and in order to do this extensive changes and additions will be necessary. In the reorganization of the company, which will probably be effected this week, when the articles of incorporation of the new company will be filed, P. J. Moran will be president of the company, and it is said that Ledyard Bailey, the present general manager, will be retained in the same position in the new company.

JOHN DERN MAY HEAD THE TICKET

Is Strong Favorite Among the Democrats, Who Hold Mass Convention Tomorrow.

CHAIRMAN KING OPTIMISTIC

Says His Party Stands a Better Show Of Winning This Fall Than Ever.

The opening gun of the political campaign will be fired by the Democrats. A mass convention has been called by Ben T. Lloyd, chairman of the Democratic city committee, to be held at Federation of Labor hall tomorrow evening, at which city and councilman tickets will be placed in the field. Prominent members of the party express their faith in their ability to place a ticket in nomination that will be a winner.

Speculation as to whom the Democrats will name as the head of the ticket seemed to crystallize this morning on that of John Dern, and to many Democrats this is a name to conjure with. "We have no lack of candidates," said a Democrat this morning, "the only trouble is to decide between the good men in the party who shall be our standard bearer."

A well defined movement in the party to endorse the candidacy of John S. Bransford, it is said, was nipped in the bud by the pronouncements of Mayor Bransford himself in a letter to a number of citizens Saturday, in which he declared that he would accept the nomination for mayor at the hands of the so-called "American" party. Since that time the name of Mr. Dern has been considered, among others, as a man who would pull the full strength of the Democratic party in the coming campaign.

"We propose to present a fighting front to the world," said Samuel A. King, chairman of the state Democratic committee. "Our organization has stuck together through thick and thin, and we propose to go in and win. We will beat the Republicans this year easy. Although I have not been active in the city campaign, yet I am satisfied that the Democrats stand a better show to elect their ticket this fall than they ever had."

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Women's Republican club is holding a meeting this afternoon in Unity hall. The meeting convened at 2:30.

The "American" club will hold a meeting Wednesday evening. Music is to be a feature of the evening.

All the employees on the "city" side of the joint building are somewhat "sore" over the involuntary contribution of 10 per cent of the month's pay which they are asked to make for the checks on the 15th. This is one-half of their contribution to the "campaign fund" for the "American" party. The other half will be collected on the 15th. The employees are not happy about the "cold snap" and the increasing cold bills and other incidents accompanying cold weather.

It is given out straight that "Jake" Raleigh, the doughy supervisor of streets under the "American" administration, has flatly refused to "contribute" 20 per cent of his month's wages to the "campaign fund" unless Bransford runs for mayor. The story is that "Jake" is said to have used when he was asked to "juggle up" would not look well in print, but the meaning of his remarks is translated above.

Parley P. Jensen, secretary of the city Republican committee, has gone to Chicago on a business trip. He expects to meet Howard Garrett, his business associate in Chicago, and will return to Salt Lake with him next Saturday.

Looks like McMillan's nominee against Lippman for the "American" nomination for mayor has "gone glimmering!" And after all that elaborate establishment of headquarters next to the "dumb water" attachment at "American" headquarters! It is to weep.

Notwithstanding all rumors members of the Citizens committee deny that and candidates have been urged on. They say that none will be agreed on until the convention meets, which is to be held on the 15th.

MOB FOLLOWS FANATIC.

Paul Goutier Drives Large Street Crowd, Which Police Disperse.

Garbed in a fashion that reached the heights of a crude wooden house, Paul Goutier, a stranger to his town, the strange effect of his startling appearance heightened by the seeming earnestness of his belief and intention, Paul Goutier, or, as he is called, "Henri," the Prophet, religious fanatic, created a scene on the streets yesterday that quickly led to the gathering of a mob of hundreds of the curious and which ended in his being taken to police headquarters. Goutier, or "Henri," was not detained, however, the purpose of the officers having been to disperse the crowd and to disperse the fast increasing crowd attracted by the antics of the evidently delirious man.

With his eyes and Bible Goutier marched through the streets, in barely intelligible words exhorting the people to drop their pleasures, work and all else and follow him. When over a thousand had accepted the invitation to follow, out of the desire to "see the fun," and the street was becoming jammed with a laughing, jeering crowd, Paul Goutier, who had been escorted Goutier to the station, with the crowd still following at his heels. When interrogated it was seen that Goutier was evidently a victim of a mild hallucination, and after the crowd, grown tired of waiting outside the station, had dwindled away, he was allowed to go.

Gaylor, with a companion, John Troxell, had been running in and about the crowd at the entrance to the Grand theater last night, and in their play had jostled against a large man standing on the sidewalk. According to the boys, the man had turned and grabbed young Gaylor by the arm, wheeling him around and with such powerful grip that the boy's arm was broken. The man then disappeared in a crowd. MESSAGERS HAVE A WAR.

Western Union and Independent Shoe The Dove of Peace Away.

The messengers of the Independent Messenger company and the Western Union gave a spectacular reproduction last night of what happens when "Greek meets Greek" when they indulged in a battle royal in front of the telegraph office. Fortunately, the boys had gathered on a Sunday street crowd a few minutes of excitement they were all ready to go back to their work.

The trouble started when Esper Lott, an independent messenger, was worsted in an argument with one of the messengers of the Western Union. The force of the argument contained in the three or four pairs of clenched fists was too much for Lott, until he strengthened his own argument with the entire force of the independent messengers. These swooped down and the united force of the messengers of the Western Union was too much for Lott, until he strengthened his own argument with the entire force of the independent messengers. FUNERAL OF AARON D. THATCHER AT LOGAN

Honored Pioneer and Enterprising Citizen Closes Long and Brilliant Career.

(Special Correspondence.)

LOGAN, Cache Co., Sept. 12.—Aaron D. Thatcher, who died last Wednesday morning at 11:45 a. m. following a long sickness of stomach troubles, and whose funeral was held in the Logan tabernacle at 2 p. m. today, was born.

Many praise him for his wealth but not so with me. For the wonderful ability by which he amassed the great fortune he possessed do I honor him. K. H. Harriman used his riches for doing good as the people in Utah can testify. With all the wealth of the millionaire, who dare say he was as the sight of God greater than Aaron D. Thatcher? I have learned to judge men not by their wealth but by their noble deeds. Deceased was a disciple of the Savior. He would rather save one soul than to own all the railroads in the world. The Prophet Joseph Smith said the greatest work of man was the salvation of the souls of men. I want to say to the family, don't think of him as dead, if there is anything beautiful in the gospel, we will think of him as going home. We Father knows who is best for us.

President Raymond B. Young concluded the remarks by speaking briefly. His acquaintance with the "Thatcher" family dated back to the year 1838, when he came to Utah with the Mormon pioneers. He had fought the good fight and kept the faith and there will be a crown of life and glory awaiting him. The choir sang "My Father," and benediction was pronounced by Bishop B. M. Lewis.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Anyone knowing the present address of any of the following will confer a favor by informing the "N. B. C." care of the Deseret News, Salt Lake City.

AARON D. THATCHER.

In Springfield, Illinois, April 25, 1836. He was one of the best known men in this part of the state. He is also known throughout the state through his association with his brother Moses, whose death and burial occurred in the year 1885. He was one of the pioneers of the State of Utah, having come here in the year 1847. He lived with the pioneers at the old fort where Salt Lake City now is for two years, and in the year of 1848, when the excitement over the discovery of gold was made in California he was among the party who left for the gold fields. He remained in California for nine years and then returned. Not only was he a pioneer of the state, but also of the city where he lived and died, having come to Logan in the year 1858 and camped on the spot where the Woodruff central school now stands.

Aaron Dunham Thatcher has served in many Utah capacities, having been on three missions, crossed the plains three times to assist in bringing to the Salt Lake valley the Saints who were left behind. At the time of his death he was president of one of the quorums of seventy. He served on the Echo canyon campaign and was also on hand always in the Indian troubles in this valley during its early settlement. In a business way Mr. Thatcher has been a very hard worker, being at the time of his death associated with the Thatcher Bros. bank and Milling and Elevator companies. At one time he was a member of the Logan city council. He leaves a family of a wife and seven children. The children are Aaron D. Jr., Mrs. Olive Nibley, Afton, Ed., Loretta, Louise and Harriet Thatcher.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICE.

At the services this afternoon, many a tribute to the sterling worth of Mr. Thatcher were given by the speakers, who were: Elder Fred W. Hurst of Logan; Robert Thatcher of Wellsville; Bishop C. W. Nibley, Hon. L. R. Martineau, Elder Orson F. Whitney and President Seymour B. Young.

A large congregation was present and the funeral service was large and beautiful. A number of high church officials and life-long companions of the deceased were in attendance. The tabernacle choir furnished sweet and appropriate music throughout the service.

The first speaker was Elder Fred W. Hurst, who told of his travels as a missionary in the California mission in the year of 1862 in company with Aaron D. Thatcher, related some of their thrilling experiences, and of the bravery of the deceased, who throughout these trying circumstances never showed the white feather.

Robert Barker was the next speaker and told of his associations with the deceased in bringing the Saints across the plains. He spoke of the faithfulness of Mr. Thatcher and his presence of mind in times of danger and of the wise counsel he always gave, saying that he was a brave and true man, true to his covenants and a better man to his father than he ever lived.

Bishop C. W. Nibley was the next speaker, who said in part: "The large congregation considering the condition of the weather and roads and the many miles to be traveled to show the love and esteem in which Brother Aaron was held. He was one of the most tender and loving fathers that ever lived. If you were to go to his home he had nothing to show for you. He was a big-hearted man."

"I know that My Heavenly Father knows" was sung by a quartet composed of Pastor George W. Thatcher, Mrs. Linnar, Mrs. Nettie Sloan, and Mr. Winsor.

Hon. L. R. Martineau's brief address was followed by Elder O. F. Whitney of the Council of Twelve, who said that he came here today not only because it was his choice but also as a representative of the presidency and the Council of Twelve who said that he was not intimately acquainted with Aaron Thatcher but knew him as a modest gentleman. From what I have heard today proves to me that he was a first class man. I rejoice to hear the statements that are made of him. Circumstances make some men more prominent than others, but there are just as good in the ranks, perhaps
