

CORRESPONDENCE.

PRIMARY MEETING.

Ediot Deseret News:

The fourth annual Primary Association of Mill Creek convened in the Mill Creek Ward Assembly Hall May 26th, 1885. Mrs. Mary McAllister presiding. There was a large attendance of children, and quite a number of parents present.

"Joseph Smith's First Prayer" was sung by the children, after which prayer was offered by Brother W. Hill. Singing followed and then the reading of minutes of the previous annual meeting and yearly reports of the four Primaries, the latter showing great interest taken by the little ones. Questions pertaining to the birth of our Savior were asked by Minnie Fuller and Cecelia Samuels, and answered in concert by the children.

The programme of each Primary was well rendered, consisting of songs, dialogues, recitations, etc., after which remarks encouraging the little ones always to be truthful and gain a knowledge of the Gospel that would fit them for the great work they would shortly have to perform, were made by Sisters E. C. Clawson, E. R. S. Smith, E. B. Wells and Lydia Wells, of Salt Lake City, Bishop J. C. Hamilton and Counselor J. F. Snedaker.

Sister Ann Morgan was chosen as Counselor to M. A. Birch, of the Fourth Primary, and Lizzie White as Secretary.

Tables were spread in the vestry, where the parents and children partook of the bounties of the earth. A happy day was spent, and will be long remembered by those who were present.

The benediction was pronounced by Counselor Jens Hansen.

BELL WAITE, Secretary.

PINE VALLEY, Washington Co., Utah, May 30th, 1885.

Ediot Deseret News:

After several interesting meetings, and under the direction of President Jacob Gates, the Seventies of Parowan were set in order and some ordained into the 69th Quorum of Seventies. We drove to six miles, and held meeting in this small place of 18 families—a beautiful location with plenty of good land, but only a limited supply of water. There are thousands of acres of unoccupied land in this valley, which may yet be cultivated on the dry farming principle. No doubt but Rye will mature on it without irrigation.

Bishop Henry Lunt kindly conveyed us to where we became the recipients of his usual hospitality, held meeting and arranged the Seventies, ordaining some.

On the 27th we visited the Seventies, looked over the settlement, and in the evening gave a lecture on the history of Gibraltar, which was largely attended as was also one at Parowan previously.

The Co-operative Sheep Herd of Cedar is doing, as it has always done, excellently. There are in the herd at the present time 7,600 head, with 2,800 lambs already, and a good prospect for 3,500 altogether. They expect to shear 41,800 pounds of wool. At this season of the year they divide the herd into ten parts, but in the winter have only three herds. The surrounding country is admirably adapted for sheep raising, and the business is being made a financial success.

There is also a co-operative store carrying about $7,000 worth of stock, which has connected with it a grist mill that cost $10,000, but is now listed in the stock books at $5,000; also a very creditable tannery, the capital stock of which is 1,200, with leather and hides worth about $1,500. Some of the leather, which is of a superior quality, is manufactured into boots and shoes and sold in the store. The tanner was emigrated by the company from Switzerland.

The new meeting house has taken a renewed start, and the walls, which are of brick burned in the vicinity, are looming up, and bid fair for an early completion. The building is 41x88 ft., including the tower, which is to be 90 feet high, and there is to be a gallery in the interior.

Several new brick buildings of good dimensions have recently been erected in Cedar, and other preparations show thrift and life under the energetic Bishop Lunt, who first settled here in 1851.

The presidents of the 63d Quorum of Seventies met us at Brother George Perry's, where we looked over one of the most delightful gardens this side of Salt Lake City, with evergreens, flowers in every variety, and hothouse plants—a credit to any thriving country town.

Cedar City furnished a good outfit with a spanking span of blacks which conveyed us 30 miles over the Iron Mountains, through Iron City, whose millions of tons of ore await utilization, and landed us in in which isolated town in the midst of the mountains we held an excellent meeting.

Pinto, by the courtesy of Bishop's counselor, Neil Foreyth, conveyed us over into fifteen miles where we held two meetings in the two-story frame meeting house.

During nine days we have held twelve meetings and ordained about 70 of the brethren. Thus the work of the Lord is rolling on, while all are talking of Utah.

Pine Valley is a very beautiful town, surrounded with mountains covered with cedar and pine, well watered but rather frosty, and the place is occupied by a cheerful happy people.

It was rather astonishing to leave Pine Valley on the 31st, and, after a drive of less than three hours' duration, take dinner on green peas and new potatoes, and see the small grain headed out, while the people of Pine Valley were planting their potatoes, the earlier ones just up and frost bitten, and the wheat just nicely up and beginning to stool out. So goes Dixie life.

I am happy to say that, although suffering some pain from my recent bruises, I am fast recovering.

NORTHERN ITEMS.

PARK VALLEY,
Box Elder County,
June 3d, 1885.

Ediot Deseret News:

Thinking a few lines from this remote northwestern settlement may prove interesting to some of your readers, I pen you a short sketch about matters here.

The crops are looking very fair, considering the dryness of the season, in consequence of which most people are busy irrigating, and scarcely expect so plentiful a harvest as last year.

A plot of land for a townsite has recently been surveyed, and some city lots laid off, upon which there is a good prospect of building being commenced this summer. It is, I believe, the intention of some to use brick and others adobe, which materials, I think, will shortly supersede the primitive logs entirely, as both articles are being produced in the valley.

The congregating of the people on city lots will be of great social and religious advantage. The inhabitants at present are much scattered, some having to drive several miles to meeting, and very few living nearer the meeting house than half a mile.

On Tuesday last we had a visit from our Stake Sunday School Superintendent and other friends from Brigham City, on which occasion our Sunday School, numbering about sixty scholars and teachers, was organized; Brother W. H. Godfrey, who has for some time officiated in that capacity, being sustained as superintendent, with Bros. W. H. Meacham and Charles E. L. Jackson as assistants, the latter also being appointed secretary, with Sister Mary J. Coleman as assistant.

Our Sunday school meetings and Y. M. and Y. L. M. I. A. are well attended; indeed, we are fain to sing "Give us room that we may dwell," and hope in the near future to have a larger and more commodious meeting house.

The Saints here feel to admire and sympathize with the brethren who are suffering for righteousness sake; while they have nothing but pity mingled with contempt for those who "bow the knee to Baal." It is about time for Americans to quit boasting about freedom and liberty, as the reports of the recent trials (?) of our brethren must call a blush of shame to mantle the cheek of every honest-hearted citizen, "Mormon" or Gentile. For my own part, the comparison between the administration of justice in this and in my own country makes me prouder than ever that I am able to subscribe myself,

WORK ON THE MANTI TEMPLE.

ENCOURAGEMENT OVER THE RESULT OF THE CRUSADE—PROSPECTIVE COMPLETION OF THE MANTI TEMPLE—COST THUS FAR.

MANTI, June 7th, 1885.

Ediot Deseret News:

I must say, after mature reflection relative to the work of the

that I am very thankful for the good that is being accomplished by our bitter enemies; not that they desire to do us any good, or deserve any credit, but through the kind overruling providence of our Heavenly Father, everything that transpires in the persecution of our brethren adds prestige and strength to the work of God, and shows to the world that the Latter-day Saints occupy a higher plane than their persecutors do. The day is not far in advance of us when the world will be compelled to acknowledge the superior morals of the Saints and the divinity of the system and organization that has brought to pass this condition of things.

THE MANTI TEMPLE

is progressing not so very rapidly, but satisfactorily. The first story is ready for the plasterers and they have been putting on the first coat during the last week. The second story is nearly ready for them also. It is thought that the Temple proper can be got ready for use one year from this fall, if the people of the Temple district will furnish the necessary means. The Stake President, C. Petersen, has recently made a tour of some of the adjoining Stakes and it has been estimated that if the head of each family throughout the Temple district contribute $25 during the present year, and one-quarter of that amount in cash, there will be sufficient, with the aid that will come from other sources, to finish the house.

From April, 1884, to April, 1885, Sanpete Stake has paid $22,000; Trustee-in-Trust, $74,000; all other Stakes, $16,000; making a total for the year of $112,000. The Temple report made at the Stake Conference, held at Ephraim Saturday and Sunday, 16th and 17th of May, this year, showed that the Trustee-in-Trust had paid $301,872; Temple district, 352,312; total amount paid, in from April, 1877, to April, 1885, $663,184.

The Saints, generally, have signified their willingness to meet the last request made to get the house of the Lord ready for dedication.

Your brother, W. G.
