WHAT IS TO BE DONE?

ALTHOUGH the amendments made to the school law at the last session of the Legislature have been published, and reference to them has been twice made in the NEWS, there are a few School Trustees—very few, however, we are happy to say—who are still under the impression that the date for the election of School Trustees in each District is the first Monday in June. We take one more opportunity of stating that the time has been changed to the second Monday in July.

In consequence of the passage of that singular legislative production known as the Edmunds bill, considerable doubt exists in regard to the right of the School Trustees to officiate at the election on the second Monday in July. This is quite pardonable, for lawyers of repute differ materially as to the construction of the bill and its intent and effect. But we will offer some suggestions to the School Trustees on the best course to pursue under existing circumstances, which we believe to be the safest policy and calculated to promote the general welfare.

Taking the ground that all the duties belonging to the "registration and election offices of every description in the Territory of Utah," are taken from the officers heretofore required to perform them, and that the School Trustees are the officers who, under the territorial statute, should conduct the elections at school meetings canvass the votes and issue the certificates, there is no one in the Territory at present who is authorized to manage the machinery of such elections. For, although the Edmunds bill, after declaring certain offices "vacant," provides the manner in which they may be refilled, the officers to attend to the work have not been appointed, and the inference is, admitting the premises here laid down, that NO election for school trustees can be legally held. The people may meet, they may organize their meetings, they may transact necessary school business, they may deposit their ballots for school trustees; but no one is authorized to receive and count the votes, officially declare the result, or issue a certificate of election. All this, of course, is predicated on the validity of that part of the law of Congress to which we have referred, a point which we shall not now attempt to dispute.

What then is to be done? Some people have jumped to the conclusion that no annual school meeting can be legally held this year; others to the position that the trustees whose term expires this year will hold over till another election can be legally held. Both grounds are incorrect. In the first place there is nothing to prevent the annual school meeting provided for in the Act of 1880 and amended in the Act of 1882. On the contrary, the law requires the annual meeting to be held, on the second Monday in July, when the account of all moneys received and how expended by the trustees must be "reported to the voters of the district." At the same time the compensation of trustees or either of them can be fixed by a majority vote. At that meeting the School Trustees for the ensuing term should be elected, if it were not for the law of Congress that interferes with the election machinery. But the Act which temporarily stops its motion, does not interfere with the meeting where it should be in operation.

In the second place, the school meeting being held, the report of the trustees having been made and such other business transacted as previously and duly announced, but no election having taken place, the office of the School Trustee whose term has expired becomes vacant. This is provided for in the Act of 1882, as follows:

"Section 13 of said Act [the School Act of 1880] is hereby amended by adding thereto the following: 'In case of a failure to elect a trustee at the annual meeting for that purpose, or a trustee-elect failing to qualify within twenty days after being duly elected, the office shall be declared vacant, and may be filled as provided in this section.'"

It will be seen, then, that the Trustees whose term expires this year, cannot "hold over," as is usual with many officers, "until their successors are elected and qualified." Their office is to be "declared vacant," and to be filled as provided in section 13, law of 1880, which is as follows:

"A majority of the Trustees shall have power to transact business, and in case of a vacancy in any school district by death, resignation or otherwise, the remaining Trustees shall immediately appoint a suitable person to fill such vacancy until the next election for Trustees."

The policy we advise, then, is this: Let the annual school meetings be called, and held on the second Monday in July. These are meetings of the registered voters. If no other business than the consideration of the reports and compensation of trustees is considered, no others than the registered voters need be present. If a tax is to be assessed, or school property is to be sold, the resident taxpayers must be duly called by regular notice. Such meetings, in our opinion, should be specially called for the purpose designed, because the regular business of the annual meeting is for "the registered voters," and meetings for assessment of taxes and sale of school property are for "the resident taxpayers."

As soon as the annual meeting is over, no election having taken place, let the remaining Trustees meet, place on record the facts that no election was held in consequence of the effect of the law of Congress, and that the office has become and is vacant; appoint a suitable person to fill the vacancy; record the appointment and issue a certificate thereof to the new Trustee, who shall qualify, within twenty days, "by taking and subscribing an oath of office, and give bonds to the county in which he resides, in such sums and with such sureties as the Probate Judge of the County, or the Justice of the Peace for the precinct may approve, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office." The bonds and oath must be filed with the County Clerk.

This course will be safe because it is undoubtedly legal. Supposing that the Edmund's Bill is all wrong, unconstitutional and void—we do not affirm this, although we are perfectly satisfied as to the invalidity of some portions thereof—by holding the school election doubt would be cast upon the legality of the new Trustees' position, and room would be given for trouble and litigation. By adopting the policy here marked out no difficulty can legally arise, and the machinery of our school system will be kept in running order without friction and without cessation.

THE DELEGATES TO WASHINGTON.

THE Convention which adjourned on Wednesday made a good selection of Delegates to Washington, to present the Constitution of the State of Utah and the Memorial of the citizens of the United States in the Territory of Utah, asking for admission into the Union as a free and sovereign State. Those gentlemen are all representative citizens, well known in the community and able to advocate the cause of Utah intelligently.

It has been an open question for some time whether it would be wisest to make application at once for statehood or wait until the next session of the present Congress. That question has been decided by the Convention after weighing all the reasons on either side. It has been determined to "strike the iron while it is hot," and take steps at once to lay our claims and wishes before the Congress of the United States.

It is to be hoped that the Delegates will act as a unit in this matter. Whatever private views some of them may have held as to the best time for presenting this matter to the attention of "the powers that be," it is expected that they will act according to the vote and expressed wish of the Convention which represents the people of Utah. The present session is drawing to a close. What is to be done must be done quickly. The departure of the people's representatives ought not to be delayed. Now is the accepted time.

Whatever may be the result, we have no doubt that everything possible will be accomplished by the gentlemen selected to work for the emancipation of the Territory, because they are all men of energy, nerve, talent and stability and of strong personal character and corrections. They will have the support and confidence of the citizens of Utah, from the borders of Idaho to the edge of Arizona. May success attend them.

OUTSPOKEN OPINIONS.

WE clip the following from one of the letters written by Mr. Phil. Robinson to the New York World. It is the closing paragraph of an exceedingly well written article, and is a sample of the courageous manner in which the gifted writer speaks his own convictions in the face of popular vehement opposition:

Polygamy here as I have seen it, is neither unnatural, wicked nor licentious. The demeanor of women here is, as compared with Europe, chastity itself, and the children are just such healthy, pretty, vigorous children as one sees in the country or by the seaside in England—and, in my opinion, nowhere else. Utah-born girls, the offspring of plural wives, have figures that would make New York envious, and they carry themselves with almost Oriental dignity. But remember, Salt Lake City is a city of rustics. They do not affect "gentility" and are careful to explain at every opportunity that the stranger must not be shocked at their homely ways and speech. There is an easiness of manner therefore which is unconventional, but it is only a blockhead who could mistake this natural gayety of the country for any thing other than it is. If he did make that mistake, however, he would very soon be told of it by the young lady herself and shortly after probably by her big brother. There is nothing, then, so far as I have seen, in the manners of Salt Lake City to make me suspect licentiousness, but there is a great deal on the contrary to convince me of a perfect exceptional reserve and self-respect. I know, too, from medical assurance, that the regulations of married life are such as would dismay monogamy, while the children trooping about in the streets give abundant proof in their shapely bodies, ruddy cheeks and high spirits that polygamy is at any rate a most healthy crime.

Liberal Movement in Mexico.

WASHINGTON, 8.—The Mexican minister has received official information from the Department of State, Mexico, to the effect that the Mexican Congress has repealed the export duty on silver coin and silver bullion, which has been in existence ever since the Spanish rule, and which was one of the principal drawbacks to the development of mining industries in that country. Among the several reasons which determined the Mexican Congress to repeal that duty, is the wish to encourage the investment of American capital in Mexican mines. The act takes effect on the 1st of November.

Who will Present Utah's Claims?

In the Senate, Grover called up the Senate bill to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to examine and report to Congress the amount of all claims of the States of Texas, Oregon and Nevada, and the Territories of Washington and Idaho, for money expended and indebtedness assumed by said States and Territories in repelling invasion and suppressing Indian hostilities. The bill passed as amended to include the claims of Nebraska, California and Colorado, the expenses incurring on account of Mexican raids.

OLD FOLK'S EXCURSION.

Before the committee can possibly make arrangements in this city for the reception of the old folks from a distance, the following questions must be answered, from Juab, Utah, Salt Lake, Tooele, Davis and Weber Stakes:

1st.—The names and ages of all over 70 years old who desere to meet with us on the 28th and 29th of June.

2nd.—How many of the above have friends in this city that can make them comfortable, and what ward they live in?

3d.—How many over 70 will require the committee to find places for them?

Before any tickets can be issued, or any necessary arrangements made, the committee would kindly urge upon the Presidents of the above Stakes to have the reports forwarded at least by the 10th of this month.

Owing to the great number expected to be present on the occasion, and the care requisite to avoid accidents, the utmost caution should be exercised by the authorities of each Stake, and no persons be allowed to leave home whose feeble condition would endanger their lives by undertaking such a journey. They should also be able to feed themselves at table, and dress and undress without assistance, unless such have friends here who would take pleasure in waiting upon them.

In behalf of the committee.

During a trial for assault in Arkansas, a club, a rock, a rail, an axhandle, a knife and a shotgun were exhibited as the "instrument with which the deed was done." It was also shown that the assulted man defended himself with a revolver, a scythe, a pitchfork, a chicel, a handsaw, a flail and a cross dog. The jury decided that they'd haven given a dollar apiece to have seen the fight.

A little boy who has been used to receiving his older brother's old toys and old clothes, recently remarked; "Ma, will I have to marry his widow when he dies?"

DIED.

In Toquerville, Kane County, May 30th, 1882, SARAH ANN, wife of James Jackson, aged 50 years and one month. She leaves a husband, six children, and a large circle of friends to mourn her loss, the youngest child being 11 days old.—COM.

In Shoneburg, Kane County, May 29, of milk fever, CHERIZADE, daughter of James and Helen Thaxton, and wife of Alfred Misner, aged 26 years.

She was born in Manti, Sanpete County, and came with her parents south, in 1862. This unexpected bereavement leaves four children, one only nine days old, without a mother's love and watch-care.

Sister Misner was a dutiful daughter, affectionate wife and mother, and lived in the esteem of all who knew her. This affliction is rendered still more severe by the absence of her husband in Arizona. The writer, with others, blessed her just previous to her death, and can but feel her faithful life has secured a resurrection with the just.—[COM.
