CAPTURE FORMER PRISON INMATE

"Portland Whitey" to Be Brought Back to Boise from Nebraska.

IDAHO GIRL IS ARRESTED

Found Littering in Spokane Saloon Attired in Man's Clothes— Other Newsy Items.

Special Correspondence.

BOISE, Idaho, March 12.—The authorities at Grand Island, Neb., have captured A. E. Love, alias "Portland Whitey," who escaped from the Idaho state penitentiary nearly two years ago, which resulted in the dismissal of four guards.

The means employed by Love in making his escape were very simple, but perhaps all the more effective on that account. While the prisoners were all at supper on the evening of July 29, 1906, Love got up from the table and went out into the yard, and it is supposed that he went directly to the stone cutter's shed, secured a long plank and by its aid scaled the wall and made away. His absence was not discovered until the morning after his escape. His absence was not noted when the prisoners were counted in their cells, nor by the night guards who made their rounds at regular intervals. Love had constructed a dummy and placed it in his bed, which deceived the night watchmen in their count.

Love was a 15-year prisoner, sentenced from Shoshone county on a charge of burglary in the first degree. The building he broke into contained the postoffice.

DRESSED LIKE MAN.

A dispatch to the Statesman from Spokane states that an Idaho girl, resident of Weymouth, by the name of Emma Carson, age 18 years, has been arrested at Tekoa, Washington, for appearing in man's attire. When taken by the officers of the law she was wearing a suit of clothes, a hat and a pair of overalls, dark coat and slouch hat.

IMPORTANT CASE ARGUED.

An important case was argued in the federal court on Tuesday, in which the Oregon Railway and Navigation company appeared against A. A. Crane. The foundation of the litigation is a rival transportation interests between the O. R. & N. and the Crane Navigation company. It appears that the bone of contention is what may be designated riparian rights along the water front at Harrison on Lake Coeur d'Alene. This state, the Crane Navigation company, is denying a landing to the steam boat company, thus forcing passengers to continue their route by rail. The Crane company is holding the train at Harrison and continue by boat, its tourists and other passengers are usually in the habit of doing. The railroad company claims that its right of way along the water front covers all that margin of land between high and low water marks, and that Mr. Crane who has constructed wharfs on this land is a trespasser.

WORKMAN KILLED.

Chris Woerner, an employee on the Capitol building, was instantly killed last week while engaged in operating the machinery of the electric rock saw and planer. The accident happened at about 8 o'clock in the morning, but was not discovered until after 10. He was one of the night workmen left to run the machinery. The manner in which he met death is thought to have been through his hand catching in the large propelling wheel, dashing his head against the machinery in such a manner as to cause instant death. His head was badly cut, and his nose broken.

The deceased was 61 years of age and leaves a large family, one of his daughters being the wife of D. F. Murphy, the building contractor. The dead man came from Minnesota.

PRESIDENTIAL BOOM FOR CLEVELAND'S MAYOR.

This is the season when presidential boomers are as thick as leaves in Valhalla.

The latest addition to the list is that of Tom L. Johnson, mayor of Cleveland. Thousands of his admirers over all the country and especially in the middle west believe that the fighting mayor is entitled to a place in the round-up of presidential possibilities.

They say that his successful fight for three-cent fares and his aggressive advocacy of other popular municipal reforms have kept him closer to the people than any of the candidates who are now hoping that the Democratic lightning may strike them next July.

In further support of their contention the Johnson shouters point to his remarkable strength as a votegetter, which has been demonstrated decisively in four bitterly contested mayoralty elections.
