"The idea was conceived by Billy New-man during the early days of the Horton law in New York. Newman ran the old polo A. C. at 155th street and Eighth avenue. He gave bouts every Saturday night, and the price of admission was placed at 50 cents. The idea was a big success, and two other local clubs soon fell in line. These were the Pelican and Greenwood clubs in South Brooklyn, Newman matched unknown youngsters in the preliminary bouts, usually hinted to the preliminary bouts. Usually hinted to the rounds, and if they displayed good form they got a chance to appear in the fellar scraps, which were for twenty and twenty-five rounds. It is a Great Handicap in All Businees and Social Relations

The man who looks as if he had lost his last friend is in no danger of being crushed by the jam of new ones unless he "cheers up." People are not going out of their way nowadays to associate with the man of mournful and melan-choly appearance. They are afraid he will tell them his troubles and they will tell them has troubles and they steer clear of him as they all have plen-ty of their own.

Oakland, Cal., Dec. 15.-In one of the fercest and best fought battles ever seen in Oakland, Billy Woods of Los Angeles knocked Tommy Reiliy of Seat-tle out in the sixth round before the Se-uoia Athietic club. The only time that Reilly had any the best of the fight was in the middle of the first round and the first of the fourth. Relly was floored from one to six times in every round, in the last round he was knocked down just as fast as he got up, until the final blow, a right to the jaw, put him down and out. Woods fought a cool, calculating battle from first to last and was easily best. By defeating Reilly, Woods gains the middleweight championship of the Pacific coast. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the dyspeptic's certain relief. They do the work that his stomach is unable to do, and by relieving that organ of its bur-dens, permit it to regain its health and strength and again become active and useful in its functions. They contain all the essential ingredients that enter into the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they actually take up the work and do it just as a healthy, sound stomach would. sound stomach would. The principal component parts are aseptic pepsin, mait diastase and other ingredients with like proper-ties that do the work regardless of the condition of the stomach. There is no unratural or violent disturbance of the digestive organs as the result of their action. In fact, the existence of the stomach is entirely forgotten as soon as they have had time to begin their operations. They also possess very curative and heating properties and assist the stomach in getting well, while relieving it of its work. They perform the duties of both nurse and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and there is very little danger of any druggist trying to sell you something else in its place that is "just as good." They are so well established and have done so much good in the world that their name has become a household word; so the usual warning, "Accept no substitute," is unnecessary in the case of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

or hemosphoridias live and develop in the blood. Here they pass through, however, only on a sexual development. If these micro organisms in the human blood are sucked up by a certain group of misquitoes, then they pass through in the stomach in the mosquito their sexual development and are ready after a certain length of time to infect other people when transferred to their blood by the bite of the infected mosquito.

"The hodies found in scarlet fever re-semble the different stages of the sexual development of the malarial organism, but do not live in the blood. Instead, they live in the epithelial cells of the skin and tongue, between these cells and in the superficial lymph vessels and spaces of the corium. Like the malartal parasites, they multiply by forming egmenting bodies or rosettes. These osettes are about one-third larger than the malarial rosettes, and the number of segments would seem to be about twice as many. Whether sexual devel-opment occurs as with the malarial mi-cro organism could not be determined." The importance of finding these bod-ies in scarlet fever. Dr. Mallory said, lies in the fact that up to the present time absolutely nothing has been known in regard to the cause of the disease.
