

THE MECHANISM OF EXCHANGE.

How Clearings Between Different Cities and Countries are Effected.

DRAFTS AND CHECKS ARE THE MEDIUM.

Bank Charges May Vary for Draft Between Cities and the Par of Exchange Varies Between Different Countries.

When the "Money" is sent from one place to another, it is not sent in the form of gold or silver, but in the form of drafts and checks. These are the medium of exchange between different cities and countries. They are the drafts and checks which are sent from one place to another, and which are then cashed at the place to which they are sent.

WHAT IS EXCHANGE?

Exchange is the process by which one place sends money to another place. It is the process by which one place sends money to another place, and which is then cashed at the place to which it is sent.
