

MEETING OF THE PEDAGOGUES

Interesting Program of Utah State Teachers' Association.

ASSEMBLES HERE MONDAY

High Annual Convention—A Big Attendance of Teachers is Anticipated—Five Days' Session.

The program for the State Teachers' Association has been completed. It outlines the work of the convention for the five days beginning on Monday next. That it will be a notable and profitable gathering is not a single educator doubts. Regarding the dissatisfaction of the Oregon teachers there is the greatest regret on the part of representatives of education from other portions of the state, and it is quite generally felt that the function city teachers will be the ones if they remain away. It is the hope of all that they will see their way clear to attend the various sessions. The full program is as follows: Monday afternoon, University of Utah. 7 p. m.—Meeting of the secondary school and college sections. Tuesday morning, University of Utah. 10 a. m.—Parents' meeting. Lecture: "The Educational Forces of the Home and the School, and the Influence of the Kindergarten on Higher Education," by Dr. James L. Hughes. Tuesday afternoon, Assembly Hall. 8 o'clock—School board meeting. 9 o'clock—Meeting of all visiting teachers for the purpose of announcing plans for the city, and for transacting other necessary business.

SOME OF THE THINGS AT THE FAIR

WITH THE FISH

An instructive exhibit that is one of the star features. "Oh, look at that sweet little trout with whiskers." The lady made a pardonable mistake, for how was she to know that it was a catfish in the aquarium. "Oh, that is nothing," said George Pugsley who in Game and Fish Warden Sharp's absence has charge of an interesting exhibit that forms such an attraction to the layman at the fair. Then he administered corporal punishment to a big pugacious rainbow trout that was savagely chasing another around the tank and hitting him in spots that hurt. This old fellow had a visitor from the other tank adjacent this morning in the form of a black spot trout, and the way he chased him around was terrific. Then a lady came along and said "Reginald, look at that sweet trout and the dear little baby, how affectionate they seem to be."

The man with a mind piscatorial cast, of the contents of the tanks in the tank the east entrance to the exposition building is at least instructive. He may there learn from the attendant in charge that the little gold fish in the first tank have a nice clean paper wafer for breakfast every morning, while the more bluish trout neighbors are fed on pieces of juley lettuce. Even the old sluggish carp who takes up so much room and gets himself generally disliked on account of his sluggish temperament wakes up and makes things exceedingly strenuous and interesting for his fellows, the much maligned sucker and the blue gill. Mr. Sharp left the hatchery here at this exhibit may be seen the pretty little sun fish with his study scales and his retiring disposition. He is said, however, to taste as good as he looks, while as an aquarium pet he has no peer, even if he would give to be heavier than one pound, but when it comes to real edible fish the mountain herring is essentially the king. Down at the fair there are now being sold, Mr. Sharp left the hatchery with about 60 good specimens, but owing to their delicate constitutions they have nearly all since turned up dead. The fact that the fish in this fish tank is decidedly oily he is considered a great delicacy than a trout, but he will not keep fresh long enough to satisfy the epicures. These fellows grow to a size in weight.

In this tank is also a German brown trout who has been banished from the presence of his kind on account of his peculiar tendencies. It appears that the trout was placed in with about 200 of his kind the next morning so says Mr. Pugsley, there were only 100 left and he is considered a great delicacy than a trout, but he will not keep fresh long enough to satisfy the epicures. These fellows grow to a size in weight.

Further along in another tank is to be seen a chub that is the specimen of Aquarion Row. He weighs 1 1/2 pounds and is still in his teens. An adjacent is a sulky landlock salmon who evidently does not like his surroundings, in fact his species is said to be at all well in Utah streams. He is decidedly not as lively as the tank full of rainbow trout next door. These fellows apparently are born fighters the way they bully each other and the way they protect themselves. It is the aspect of the placid black trout, his fellows who seem to be so tame with all the world and ask for nothing more than plenty of fresh water and their meals ready.

Another tank contains apparently some thousand native black fly that have traveled considerably considering their size, having been transported to the fair from Panamint lake during the summer of their infantile career at a mortality loss of but 5 per cent. A foot of water speaks volumes for the efficiency of the same and fish commissioner.

The morphotype at the shrine of Isaac when his much to be thanked for. It is said that this department has planted this season so far 2,000,000 native black fly, which grows to sport in the lake in the next season in weight in the year; 300,000 rainbow trout, with their varieties in correspondingly large numbers. At this rate, providing the same laws lived up to, the creeks and streams of Utah should be veritable black fly hunting grounds for the angler to the south of a full creek.

"I AM A WELL WOMAN ONCE MORE,"

So Say Thousands of Women Who Have Been Cured of Female Weakness By Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Mary Miller, 17 Old Shield Block, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "Peruna is a splendid medicine. I was troubled for five years with frequent headache, dizziness and shooting pains. I grew thin and pale. The doctors tried in vain to benefit me, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I tried Peruna. Eleven bottles made me a well woman once more. I am now enjoying perfect health, my appetite is good, my head clear and I am entirely without pain, thanks to Peruna."—Mrs. Mary Miller.

PERUNA EFFECTS MARVELOUS CURES IN FEMALE DISEASES.

If all the praise that is given Peruna by the women could be gathered into one chorus, what a volume of thanksgiving it would make. Never was a remedy so sincerely praised by so many thousand before, in all the history of medicine.

All those women who drag around and yet not take to the bed, all those women who have weakening drains but who manage to keep on their feet, all those women who ache, tremble and throbb but will not give up and become bed-ridden, all those women who stagger under their burdens with dizzy head and hot flashes, but bravely attend to their household duties as if they were not sick, all of those women whose nerves are on a keen edge, who struggle along with headache and backache, palpitation of the heart, derangement of digestion—all of this vast multitude of women are immediately restored by Peruna. It is very rare, indeed that the cure falls far short of the magical.

The first dose begins to make them feel better. The first day is a revelation to them. This goes on day after day, week after week, until they are entirely emancipated from the thralldom of disease.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, N. Y. City, writes: "It is certainly a pleasure to recommend so reliable a medicine as Peruna. Last year my health was broken down, and it took all my courage and nerve force to drag around. My husband bought a bottle of Peruna for me to try; and I bless the day he did so, for my recovery started from the first dose and before a month had passed I felt like a different woman as I was well and strong."—Mrs. E. E. Richards.

Peruna eradicates the whole system of catarrh. This explains why it so quickly and promptly cures catarrhal complaints so peculiar to the female sex. Peruna seems so admirably adapted to catarrhal troubles of women that it rarely fails to instantly relieve and promptly cure. No sooner does a woman begin to take Peruna than she feels that a cure is in sight. Sometimes it is necessary to take it for weeks and even months, but the good effect becomes apparent at once and gradually continues.

AFTER AN ILLNESS OF YEARS. Wife of Ex-Marshal Phillips Passes to A Needed Rest. Death invaded the home of ex-Marshal William C. Phillips at the family residence in the Twentieth ward at 1:30 this morning, marking as his victim the faithful wife who has shared his joys and sorrows for the past 41 years. For a long time Mrs. Phillips had been afflicted with an illness that reduced her to a condition approaching invalidism. Her suffering was severe, but throughout it all she was brave and uncompromising to a degree that won for her the love and admiration of all who knew her. In every sense she was a woman of domesticated habits and shrank from all unnecessary publicity. Her home was her world and in that she moved and ruled with loving kindness and strict attention to the wants of those to whom she was so devoted. As a wife she was most faithful; as a mother most affectionate; and as a woman most true.

Mrs. Phillips was a native of South Wales and 59 years of age. It was her lot to cross the ocean on the same ship—the George Washington—that bore Captain Phillips, the man destined to be her future husband. The acquaintanceship that had been enjoyed before setting sail for the new world ripened into a devoted affection during the long Atlantic voyage and they were married in Boston on May 4, 1861, soon after landing, and made the trying journey overland to Salt Lake by ox-team. The couple settled here immediately on their arrival and Salt Lake has been their home ever since. Mrs. Phillips was the mother of 13 children, four only of whom, together with the husband, survive her. Her funeral will be held in the Twentieth ward meeting house on Sunday at 12 o'clock noon. Interment will be in the city cemetery.

THIS "CALF" A LITTLE DEER That is, Half One and Half the Other, And Farmers Are Interested. Claremont, N. H., Saturday—A Frank born at the Westfield farm has attracted farmers from all the surrounding towns. The animal is part calf and part deer, the dam being a two-year-old Durham heifer, kept in a pasture frequently visited by a large buck deer. The offspring, when only a few weeks old, was put into an enclosure with an ordinary calf, and immediately there was a commotion, the freak almost killing the calf. It was then put in with a cow, and gave that animal a lively fight. Its antics strongly resemble those of a frightened deer. T. Nelson, the keeper of the farm, be-
