

ADULTERATED WITH ANALINE.

Inspector Heiner Finds That Canned Goods Contain Deleterious Ingredients.

HOME PRODUCT IS INCLUDED.

Chemist Harms Turns on the Searchlight of Investigation With Very Startling Results.

State Food Inspector Heiner is after the dealers of adulterated foods and today is bringing them into court to answer for their misdeeds. The particular article of adulterated food he is at this time making a fight on is the ketchup or catsup, and Chemist Harms submitted late yesterday the results of his analyses of 11 bottles purchased by Mr. Heiner in the various local markets. The samples all contained deleterious adulterants, notably aniline dyes and benzoic acid, with iodine, and even the Utah manufactured articles were found to be "as bad as the rest." Aniline dye is not a healthy article of diet. There is one citizen of Salt Lake who years ago worked in an eastern color factory and got his nasal septum as the result of inhaling the dust from these dyes as he weighed them out in the stockroom for the color makers. These dyes are the most potent a corrosive poison, and if the dust from them will inflame and destroy the mucous membrane of the nasal passages, the effects of the dye itself upon the lining of the digestive organs may be imagined.

HOW ANALYSES ARE MADE. Anilines are manufactured by costly processes of refining from crude coal tar. Technically, a dye made from the chemical bug, or vegetable dyes might be used without detriment if dyes are not used, but these harmless dyes are not strong enough to conceal the deleterious effects of the ketchup, and the aniline article must be resorted to. Chemist Harms, with two tablespoons full of the ketchup was able to dye two large pieces of wool, in strong and fast colors. Benzoic acid is used as a preservative, and is anything but conducive to digestion. The penalty for violation of the food laws is a fine of from $10 to $100, and the inspector proposes to make it warm for the marketmen who persist in handling adulterated articles of food, and an effort will be made to run such articles out of the market. That home manufacturers should be found guilty of putting up this class of foods will occasion some surprise. The analyses of the chemist as given by Mr. Heiner are as follows:

Forget Your Stomach and You'll Have a Santa Claus Face.

HOW TO DO IT.

If there is one thing more than all others that will give a man a forlorn and friendless appearance and make him morbid and "cranky" and disagreeable, that thing is dyspepsia. It makes one fretful, his friends become weary and irritable, and he is so wrapped up in his own misery that he is inconsiderate of every one else. He is a constant source of trouble to himself and to those around him. He is a good fellow and a man among men.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are beyond question the most effective and popular remedy ever offered to the sufferers of this terrible disease. The thousands and thousands of cures they have brought about and the enormous increase of their sales fully attest the truth of this statement.

They are, above all, a natural remedy. They possess exactly the same properties that the gastric juice and other digestive fluids of the stomach possess and they actually do the digestive work of the stomach and enable that organ to rest and recuperate and become sound and well. They act in a mild, natural manner and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They prevent any fermentation of the food which causes sour stomach. In fact, under their influence the subject forgets that he has a stomach and his resulting cheerfulness presents a great contrast to his former dejection.

Millions of boxes of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold annually and they are but in the dawn of their popularity. Every mail brings letters of thanks-giving from grateful ones who have been cured of this terrible disease. The following is one of hundreds received each week:

Mr. J. R. Hoag of Wynmore, Neb., writes: "For six years I have been troubled with dyspepsia. Last fall I became very much alarmed at the symptoms of heart trouble and came to believe there was a sympathetic relation between the two diseases, or the cause of the heart disturbance was hit upon by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for half for three boxes which lasted me a month and I can eat any kind of food I want and have a good, vigorous appetite. Although I am 77 years old, I now feel perfectly well and without being requested by anyone I make this statement as a compliment to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box."

EIGHT REASONS

why Scott's Emulsion is an ideal food-medicine.

1. It is partly pre-digested and therefore passes quickly into the blood.
2. It imposes no tax upon the stomach or other digestive organs.
3. It does not cause fermentation such as usually results from ordinary food when the stomach is weak.
4. Its action is mild and even, insuring the greatest nourishment with the least effort.
5. Its quality is always uniform.
6. It feeds and strengthens the bones, blood, nerves and tissues.
7. It is one of the greatest flesh producers known to medical science.
8. It is palatable and agreeable to the taste and easily taken.

WHAT THE PUPILS KNOW.

High School Seniors Give Their Views On the Art of Teaching.

Prof. George A. Eaton, principal of the Westside High school, has received a letter from Prof. Brock of the Clark university, Worcester, Mass., requesting that each member of the senior class of the high school write a composition dealing with the following points:

- 1-What a high school ought to do for me.
- 2-What I want a high school for.
- 3-What I want my high school to do for me.
- 4-Describe some sympathetic teacher you have had or the reverse (do not mention name, only give sex).
- 5-Some points in which I have not been understood.
- 6-Why going to high school pays, or the reverse.
- 7-Why so many boys and girls drop out of high school.
- 8-Useless studies in the high school.
- 9-Most popular study in the high school, and why?
- 9-What my parents think of the high school.
- 10-Some improvement in the high school which I would suggest.

In accordance with the request Prof. Eaton submitted the matter to the students referred to, with the result that yesterday the questions given in the compositions, which were immediately forwarded to Prof. Brock. Needless to say some of the articles roundly scored the present methods of teaching and offered suggestions which were both interesting and unique.

The Clark university was founded by Jonas G. Clark, a rich philanthropist, about seven years ago, and is said to be one of the most richly endowed universities in the United States. It is a school for pedagogy alone where only post-graduate work is done, all work being carried on from the individual point of view. It is in pursuance of this policy that the questions given have been sent out. Heretofore views have generally, if not always, been obtained from the teacher's point of view, and this is somewhat of an important digression from the old policy. This is the only school of its nature in the country. G. Stanley Hall, who has a national reputation as an educator of the highest rank, has been at the head of the school since its organization. Prof. Brock, formerly of the Princeton, and an authority on pedagogy, is at the head of the investigating committee.

SHOCKLEY WAS THERE.

Confessed Murderer Had Been a Waiter At the Oxford, in Idaho.

John Shockley, who confessed to the murder of two street car men at Salt Lake City, and his pal, Bert Prothro, were residents of Idaho Falls just previous to their escape in the safety car, having come here from Dillon. Shockley was employed as a waiter for Doc Thompson in the Oxford cafe and was seemingly a good fellow. Prothro was also generally known, having for a time held a position with the Wright Mercantile company. Both were let out of work on the same day and left for Salt Lake together. Here Shockley held up a street car at the point of a gun and as the conductor and motorman resisted, both were shot, one being killed outright.

Prothro gave information to the police which led to his partner's arrest and final confession. Of the $2,000 reward offered for his capture, $1,000 will go to each victim's family, the remaining $200 to Prothro—Idaho Falls Times.

BIG COAL OUTPUT.

Mines in Carbon County Are Now Turning Out Much Fuel.

The Sunnyside mines are having the greatest output in their history, with a full force of men earning from $3 to $4 per day. Diggers are being turned away and sent to the other camps of the company, 35 men having been sent from Sunnyside since Friday. At Castle Gate there are nearly 200 men at work, and a few more will make the

RICE STILL LOCKED UP.

Concludes to Remain in Jail and Not Disclose Name of His "Friend."

Glenison E. Rice, who is charged with having forged the name of S. W. Darling of Nevada to a check for $1,500, has thus far been unable to furnish a bond, and is still in the county jail. He strongly maintains that he received the check from A. B. White, who is considered a notorious person by the officers. White's whereabouts, however, is quite as mysterious as the manner in which Rice could have secured a copy of Darling's signature.

Rice belongs to the Eagles and Woodmen of the World and will make efforts to have these orders furnish his bail. He will plead to the charge of forgery before Judge Ditch tomorrow morning.

CHOKED IT TO DEATH.

Novel Means Employed by St. George Boys of Dispatching Wolf.

Elliot Snow and Eddy Terry, two 15-year-old lads, are deserving credit for their courage, whether their judgment be to be commended or not. Last week they claimed the bounty of $5, offered by the county and state for the destruction of gray wolves, and then sold the pelt to the local furrier for $3, making a total of $5, which the lucky capture netted them.

But it is the novel means they employed to kill the brute, that is the most remarkable. They were trapping near Terry's ranch, down on the Beaver dams, and the wolf, which is of the variety that usually comes across its tracks and followed it until the wolf was sighted. They were on horseback, and giving chase, succeeded in lassoing it. At first it hung back and tried to free itself from the rope. Failing in this it began to head up too willingly and they shot it two or three times with a pistol they had with them. One ball entered its spine, near the hips, disabling it to hind legs, but it still showed fight, and having exhausted its ammunition, they dismounted and seized the animal by the throat, finally succeeded in choking it to death. —Dixie Advocate.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

Memorial Meeting in Honor of Mrs. Eliza R. Snow Smith.

Tomorrow afternoon the Relief society of the Sixteenth ward will hold a memorial meeting in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Zion's gifted poetess, Eliza R. Snow Smith. An excellent program has been prepared consisting of songs by Miss Millie Williams, Mrs. Elizabeth Gillespie, Mrs. Artemesia S. Young, and Mrs. William D. Phillips. There will also be a sketch of the life of Mrs. Smith by Mrs. E. D. Roundy, with several other interesting numbers. A general invitation is extended.

WORRY.

A Sure Starter For Ill Health.

Useless worrying (a form of nervousness) is indirectly the result (through the nerves) of improper feeding. A furniture man of Memphis says: "About a year ago I was afflicted with nervous spells, would worry so over trivial things."

"His advice was: 'Go to some provision store and get a box of Postum, drink it in place of coffee and as you are confined to your desk to a great extent try and get out in the open air as much as possible.' I followed his instructions regarding the Postum."

"At that time my weight was 142 and I was taking all kinds of drugs and medicines to brace me up but I failed; today I weigh 165 and all of my old troubles are gone, and all the credit is due to having followed the wise physician's advice and out of the coffee I used Postum in place of coffee."

"I now consider my health perfect. I am willing to go before a notary public and testify that it was all due to my having used Postum in place of coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason for quitting the drug-drink coffee, and there's a reason for drinking Postum. Trial 19 days proves them all.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

(Do you remember?)

Great Britain took the first step towards peace in the Sudan by sending General Gordon to meet the heads of all the tribes and assure them that he came to restore their liberty—but the slave traffic would have to cease.

Near Gloucester, Mass., the fishing schooner Knutsford was lost with 14 men. This was one day after the loss of the Paul Jones (109 lives) near Bedford, Mass.

The hot debate on the Fitz John Porter bill continued in the senate. Slocum accused Cutcherson of attacking General Grant's military record and wild excitement followed.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

Annie K. Smoot, mother of Senator Reed Smoot, died at Provo.

Dr. Smolizanski delivered his noted lecture in this city on Ibsen, the Norwegian dramatist.

Fish Commissioner Musser received 200,000 lake trout eggs for Utah lake. The Knights of Labor threatened to attempt to enjoin Secretary John G. Carlisle from issuing $50,000,000 government bonds.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY.

It was reported that John F. Weston had been elected to succeed General Eagan in the commissary general's department.

In the Utah senatorial contest, McCune gained four votes, giving him 18 as against 14 for King.

Clementine De Vere and her company appeared in grand opera at the Salt Lake Theater.

Amusements.

"Ghosts" held the boards at the Salt Lake Theater again last night. As on the opening night the audience was a most attentive one, though not as large as the production deserved. A matinee is in progress this afternoon, and the attendance notwithstanding the heavy storm is very good. The engagement closes tonight, with prospects for the best patronage it has received in this city.

"Yon Yonson" played to standing room only last night and received the plaudits of the spectators as spontaneously and frequently as in the days of its first presentation in this city years ago. As a long distance sprinter "Yon" is a wonder, and the man who puts his money on him is always satisfied. This afternoon's matinee is a big one and the sale for tonight, when the engagement terminates, is large.

The Salt Lake Theater and Grand will both be dark for the remainder of the week after tonight.

FOUR HORNED SHEEP.

Richfield Owners May Send Animal to The World's Fair at St. Louis.

Richfield has a life sized, full grown curiosity, all wool on the outside and a yard long. It is a full blooded Merino sheep, a wether four years old, slightly larger than the common run. Last year it sheared 12 pounds of wool. The monstrosity consists of four horns, all perfect and exactly the same size. Two of these curve downward, after the usual manner of a back's horns, and the other two stand upright. All four horns are precisely the same length, 15 inches, and the same circumference at the base, nine inches. The sheep is the property of Saul Krocki, a Richfield merchant, and J. E. Griffin, a sheepman of Edgemoor, where the sheep was born and raised. These gentlemen are negotiating with the authorities of the St. Louis fair, where they expect to exhibit the animal. Sheepmen who have seen the wether say there is nothing like it in existence. They have before seen sheep with four horns, but never with such large and perfect horns, invariably heretofore, they have been dwarfed and stunted, both as to their general physique and the unnatural horns.—Mt. Pleasant Pyramid.

IRRIGATION IN IDAHO.

State Engineer Ross Is Down From Boise to Confer With Irrigators.

State Engineer Ross of Idaho is in the city today, to meet Prof. Newell. He is spending his time in conference with Prof. Swendsen of the geological survey. Mr. Ross says that there must be at least $10,000,000 worth of irrigation projects in hand or in view in southern Idaho, involving the complete reclamation of three enormous tracts of land that are at present arid. One of them includes 200,000 acres in the upper Snake valley, and the irrigation of one of these alone means the building up of cities and towns sufficient to add enormously to the wealth of the state. A wide diversity of crops will be grown, but dairy farming will be the principal form of farming industry. Mr. Ross remarked that Idaho might conscientiously plead guilty to the charge of appropriating a fair share of the population of the state of Iowa, and said all such could be well taken care of. But he had a large and emphatic "No" to register when asked if this was not making Idaho more solid-

Was Given Up By THE DOCTORS. Peru-na Saved Her Life.

[It was catarrh of the lungs so common in the winter months.]

MRS. JENNIE DRISCOLL

Miss Jennie Driscoll, 870 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "If people knew how efficient Peru-na was in the cure of catarrh, they would not hesitate to try it. I have all the faith in the world in it as it cured me, and I have never known of a case when the person was not cured in a short time."—Jennie Driscoll.

Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham, Treasurer Daughters of the Confederacy and President Herndon Village Improvement Society, writes the following letter from Herndon, Fairfax Co., Va.:

The Peru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen:—I cannot speak too highly of the value of Peru-na. I believe that I owe my life to its wonderful merits. I suffered with catarrh of the head and lungs in its worst form, until the doctors fairly gave me up, and I despaired of ever getting well again.

"I noticed your advertisement and the splendid testimonials given by the people who had been cured by Peru-na, and determined to try a bottle. I felt little better, but used a second and third bottle and kept on improving slowly. It took six bottles to cure me, but they were worth a King's ransom to me. I talk Peru-na to all my friends and am a true believer in its worth."—Mrs. Col. E. J. Gresham.

A PLAIN TALK

On a Plain Subject in Plain Language.

The coming winter will cause at least one-half of the women to have catarrh, colds, coughs, pneumonia or consumption. Thousands of women will lose their lives and tens of thousands will acquire some chronic ailment from which they will never recover. Unless you take the necessary precautions, the chances are that you (who read this) will be one of the unfortunate ones. Little or no risk need be run if Peru-na is kept in the house and at the first appearance of any symptom of catarrh taken as directed on the bottle.

Peru-na is a safeguard, is a preventive, a specific, is a cure for all cases of catarrh, acute and chronic, coughs, colds, consumption, etc.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.
