For this family to mourn is perhaps seeking to overthrow.

first cause to do so. How would you feel if you had a husbandor a father that would lead you from the truth? I would lead you from the truth? I would to God that we would all follow him in his example in our faithfulness, and be as faithful as he was in his life. To his wives, his children, his friends, his brethren and sisters, to this family whom God has selected from the human family to be his some and daughters. I whom God has selected from the human family to be his sons and daughters, I say let us follow his example. He has gone to rest. We can say of him all that can be said of any good man. The Lord selected him and he has been faithful and this has made him a great man; just an you and I can become if we will live faithful to our God and our religion.

A smart rain fell last night and this morning, quite remarkable for the seatiff he chooses; and if he be disposed to crops will not be injured materially.

if he chooses; and if he be disposed to choose the good and refuse the evil. If any man choose the evil he will dwindle, especially if he has been called to the holy priesthood of the Son of God. Such a man will dwindle and falter, stumble and fall; and instead of becoming great and good, he will be lost in forgetful

We pay our last respects unto Brother Kimball. I can say to the congregation we thank you for your attention. We are happy to see you here. It would be a pleasure to us if it would be prudent, and we had time, for you to see the corpse; but it would not be prudent and we have not the time. This, perhaps, will be a matter of regret to many of will secure to yourselves a part in the first resurrection; and I promise you that you will meet him and shake hands with him. But if you do not live so, I can give you no such promise.

Now, my friends, I feel to bless you; and the family, the wives and children of Brother Heber C. Kimball. I bless you in the name of Jesus Christ. Will you receive the blessings which a father, and husband has placed upon your heads? If you live for them you will enjoy them. MEMBERS SWORN.

A great deal could be said concerning Bro. Kimball, whose remains are here. He is not dead. His earthly tabernacle for. What can we say to one another? Live as he has lived; be as faithful as he has been; be as full of good works as his life has manifested to us. If we do so, our end will be peace and joy, and we will fall asleep as peacefully. I held my watch with one hand and fanned him with the other while he breathed his last.
