An Explanation.

In October, 1883, a vicious assault was committed in the Seventeenth Ward. As to those hand perpetrated it was at the time enveloped in mystery. Some of the people living in the neighborhood suspected that it was done by Richard Matthews. It was proved at the time, however, beyond a doubt, that he was entirely innocent, and the New York Times then stated: "The ground for the suspicion against an innocent man was that he had been ill for some time, causing his brain to be seriously affected, and some of the neighbors stated that while in that condition he had been given explanations of great person and at judgment upon people, condemning some of them to death. These statements also appeared in this journal at the time, in connection with the narrative of the assault. In conversation with Brother Matthews recently he stated that he had felt that an injury had been done him by those assertions, especially those alleging that he had ever condemned any one to death. Even at this late day, in our anxiety to avoid making the New York Times a national medium of doing an injustice, we will say here that persons who made the statements to the person who at that time acted as reporter for this paper, having since given explanations that make it perfectly clear that that part of the report which placed Brother Matthews in the light of a dangerous person was incorrect. In other words, that he had not, even while suffering from his brain trouble, given any explanations, ever condemned anybody to death. That the statements should have been given publicly beyond the circle in which they originated is a matter of regret.

Eugene Campbell, convicted of adultery, is to be sentenced on the first day of the next term of court.

Yesterday Nels C. Anderson pleaded not guilty to a charge of unlawful cohabitation, and sentence was set for May 20.

Prove Pickings.

Nina Anderson, alleged plural wife of Andrew Engstrom, of Lehi, was arrested on a warrant yesterday and placed under bonds of $300 as a witness.

The D. & R. G. Western people are increasing their list of switches, main track, warehouses along the line, etc. This is regarded in certain quarters as an indication of a sale or transfer of some kind, and is being watched with interest.

The fact that Dodge and Palmer are heading this way, seems to give color to the belief that there is something in the wind.

Friday afternoon, James A. Johnson and Andrew Peterson, both of whom had previously applied in the District Court for divorces and were denied, were arrested soon after leaving the District Court and taken before Commissioner Harrison for a charge of unlawful cohabitation, waived examination and were placed under $1,000 bonds.

Last Sunday afternoon, while the people were engaged in religious services, John Thorngren, Dr. Thorngren's clerk, was busy selling his first Sabbath under the new license ordinance, and it is under this license that Thorngren was arrested. He has not only violated the ordinance, but is without a license, but is also guilty of selling on Sunday, which is against the ordinance. He is to have a hearing today, when it is expected he will plead guilty. Dr. Thorngren happens to be out of town.

Alfred Turner, of Lehi, was before United States Commissioner Hilgert yesterday on a charge of unlawful cohabitation and was held in bonds of $1,000.

Jos. P. Shelley was before Commissioner Hills, May 9, on the charge of constructing a United States office while in the custody of the city. He waived examination and was held in bonds of $1,000.—Provo Enquirer, May 10.

A Successful Concert.

There is said to be no loss without some gain. Brother W. H. Foster's loss in having his shop burned resulted in demonstrating the fact that he has a host of friends in the community, for a very large house was present last night on the occasion of his benefit concert. The programme was a fine one and the rendition of it was excellent. In point of artistic merit, the concert gives a high rating. Among its best features were the singing of Mr. Easton, Mrs. Pugsley and Mr. Thomas. The choir displayed fine training and sang remarkably well under the leadership of Prof. Becsley, and the orchestra, led by Prof. Weihe, did excellent work. Mr. Young was twice recalled after rendering a humorous reading, and Prof. Heine's performance on the violin was greeted with great enthusiasm. In answer to a recall he gave some imitations which created immense delight. Mr. Dunbar sang "Stannie Snow" very finely and was encored. Prof. Heine's rendition for the party they took in making the concert the grand success which it was.

Going North.

This evening the talented Heine family leave this city, traveling northward. They will give concerts in Bonanza, Farmington and Kayville, and also in some of the towns in Cache County. The entertainment given by this family is chaste and pleasing in every respect. Prof. Heine, who is blind, seems, by his very misfortune in this regard, to have been endowed with a wonderful talent for music. Of the violin he is a master, though he plays a number of other instruments with the skill and taste of an artist.

Madame Heine is an organist and pianist of excellent ability, and Miss Evelyn sings and recites very acceptably. The family is the course of the travels in Utah, have found many friends whose good wishes will go with them wherever their lot may be cast. Leaving Utah, they will go to Montana and Oregon. Further than this we believe their route is not laid out.

IN THE NORTH.

Occurrences in and Around Cache Valley.

Members of the county court visited Bear River on Friday last to look up a place for the new bridge which they contemplate putting in, but as yet they have formed no decision regarding the location.

On Monday evening a little girl of John Hanson's, a stevedore, who lives on the island, had her hand badly cut. A little boy staying at the house was sent to cut some wood and chopped the child's hand. Dr. Ormsby attended to the wound and the little one is getting along reasonably well.

On Monday night a daring burglary was committed at Soda Springs. The building occupied by the post office and the Idaho Cattle Company, was entered by thieves. Mr. Crane's loss is estimated to be about $500, and the amount of money in the building was about $200 in stamps. A diligent search was made for the burglar, but with no success.

We are sorry to record the death of the wife of W. B. Love, of Provo. The lady has been sick for several weeks, but great hopes were entertained that she would recover. On Monday evening she became worse, and about 9 o'clock she passed away. She leaves a family of five small children.

The Territorial Committee of the Independent Party of Idaho met at Oxford on Saturday last. John Donaldson, the chairman, called the committee to order and briefly stated the business of the meeting. George C. Parkinson was secretary. Steps were taken to thoroughly organize the Independent Party in every voting precinct in Bear Lake, Owyhee, Blaine and Cassia counties. The proceedings of the meeting held in Franklin, some time ago, were read and approved, and the resolutions on the test oath were read and unanimously sustained.

Logan received a visit last week from one of the numerous throngs of folks who travel through the country deceiving the ordinary and obtaining from them their hard earned money. This fellow was among the people who sell small cabinets of writing paper, pens, pencils, etc., for 25 cents each. He required the party to pay in advance and promised that the cabinets would be sent to the parties' homes. He said quite a number on these terms and then left, as all individuals of this class do. Other parties. Those who were foolish enough to trust him are now out of their forty-five cents and all they have gained is a little experience, which will no doubt prove of value to them. —Logan Journal.

Artistic Penmanship.

We have had the pleasure of examining a specimen of ornamental penmanship, executed by J. C. Jensen, an employee in the office of the Co-operative Wagon and Implement Company. It is one of the most artistic pieces of work of the kind we have seen in the Territory. It has been done with such precision and skill, that a casual observer would not discern that it had been executed by hand. Mr. Jensen is a penman of decided artistic merit.

Garfield Beach.

There is considerable activity at Garfield beach, preparing for the rush of visitors that is sure to come to that popular bathing resort. A force of thirty carpenters are employed in making the necessary changes and improvements, among which may be mentioned the erection of 108 new bath rooms. There is talk of extending another pier, but that has not yet been decided upon. The improvements that are now being made will greatly increase the accommodations, though it is doubtful if even these will be ample to meet the demand the coming summer.

Last evening a party of ladies and gentlemen went out to the beach by invitation of Hoyt Sherman, Jr. The water was rolling heavily, owing to a strong northwest wind which had been prevailing during the day, but this did not deter members of the party from taking a bath, which was greatly enjoyed.

The different departments at Garfield are in good bands, and the Utah Pacific has made an excellent selection in naming Hoyt Sherman, Jr., to take personal management of the resort.

The bathing trains now do a good business, but the formal opening of the place for the season will not occur till Decoration Day—May 30.

Suicide by Drowning.

The body of Riley Cole was found this morning, May 10, by Weber Scouts, at Riverside, Weber County. It will be remembered that on Monday, the 16th day of April last, said Riley Cole disappeared from his home in Riverside and that fears were entertained that he had drowned himself in the Weber river, tracks having been found, which were supposed to be his, leading to the river. His body was found as stated this morning, lying on a gravel bar. It must have floated there two weeks ago when the water was higher than it is now. The Justice of the Peace was notified and he repaired to the place where the body was lying. The body was lying on its back with the head down stream. There was only about three inches of water where it lay. The face was nearly black from exposure, other wise the body was well preserved. The legs were tied together at the knees with a willow so that he could not use his legs to swim. The place where the remains were found is about four hundred yards down the river from where it was supposed to have been. It was deemed proper to hold an inquest and the jurors having viewed the body and examined it to the conclusion that said Riley Cole deliberately committed suicide by drowning himself in the Weber River.—Ogden Standard.

BEFORE JUDGE ZANE.

Wilson Sentenced One Year. Sweeney Acquitted.

Today, in the Third District Court, the case of grand larceny against Charles Wilson was called for trial. The defense's attorney, Gen. Maxwell, stated that Wilson wanted to change his plea to guilty. He had already been in prison thirteen months, and had also been of some use to the government as a witness. He therefore asked the court to suspend sentence. In reply to the court, Assistant United States Attorney Clark stated that he did not desire to approve Gen. Maxwell's request. There was a clear case of grand larceny against Wilson, and he had been twice tried and convicted when first arrested. It was doubtful if the Court would have given him more than a year, while the time he had been in prison was equivalent to eighteen months. As to his services as a witness, they did not amount to much.

Judge Zane—I don't wish to be understood that this court is a party to any agreement to suspend sentence because a man testifies for the government. It is a bad practice. I have never the testimony given to the other case, in which Wilson is a defendant, and in view of what he testified to there, I don't feel like suspending sentence and will give him at least one year.

Wilson—You have said that I had been in prison for thirteen months. How did you get that horse?

Mr. Wilson—I got it from James Marshall.

Court—You knew it was stolen?

Wilson—Where were you when the horse was stolen?

Wilson—Going to the Colorado, 150 miles from here. I had the horse with me.

Court—You did not intend to return it?

Wilson—I did, to Marshall, for I thought he had stolen it.

Wilson—Yes, sir.

Court—Did Marshall give you the horse?

Wilson—We were both going to use it as a pack horse, but when I got ready to start I could not get it, and told me to take the horse.

In reply to further questions, Wilson said that he had been in the house a rebel spy, he left Memphis, and stayed for a time in the Colorado, and then came to Montana before coming to Utah.

Court—Well, you will be sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of one year.

Mr. Clark stated there was no such agreement as the court referred to, and about letting Wilson off
