WOULD ADVERTISE OGDEN CANYON

Montie B. Gwinn Holds That its Beauties Are Second to None in Country.

FAVORS RESERVOIR PROJECT.

"The Good to be Derived Therefrom
Would Be Incomparably Greater Than the Damage."

Ogden, Aug. 27.—Montie B. Gwinn, chairman of the executive committee of the National Irrigation congress, was in Ogden yesterday afternoon and last evening as the guest of Fred J. Kiesel of this city. Upon his arrival here he was met at the union depot by an automobile and was driven through Ogden canyon to Huntsville. On the way he viewed with interest the site of the proposed reservoir at the head of the canyon, also that part of the Ogden valley which would be affected by the construction of the dam. The party returned to the Oakes, where dinner was served, after which they enjoyed a moonlight drive through the canyon back to town.

Mr. Gwinn was enthusiastic over the beauties of the canyon, which he characterized as being second to none in the country. "There is only one bad feature," he said, "and that is that your canyon has not been properly advertised. I venture to say that there are not five people in Boise who know that there is such a place as Ogden canyon. I for one was of the opinion that it was the Weber canyon along the line of the Union Pacific. Why, if the people knew more about it they would come from all parts of the world to see it. One of the greatest points in its favor is accessibility from the city. I am satisfied that there is nothing like it in the whole United States. The automobile trip I had today was among the most pleasant I ever experienced. The roads are simply out of sight. You should not delay advertising it. I would suggest that you get out souvenir photographs for this purpose."

In speaking of the proposed power dam now under consideration by the Utah Light & Railway company from which conserved waters it is the intention to irrigate 60,000 acres of arid land in the Salt Lake valley, Mr. Gwinn said: "It is one of the most practical things I ever saw and there should be no delay in its completion. Why, look at the Deer Flat reservoir, near Caldwell, now being constructed at an expenditure of $1,200,000, which project will, when completed, cover up 11 square miles of the finest farming land in the world. Here you would not cover up one-half the area and the good to be derived would be so far ahead of the damage done that there would be no comparison. Think of all the land that could be irrigated which is now lying a desert waste."

WHEAT STOLEN FROM FIELD

John Bailey of North Ogden Loses 80 Bushels of Grain.

Ogden, Aug. 27.—John Bailey of North Ogden, had the misfortune Saturday night to have 80 sacks of wheat stolen from his place, and the work was done so carefully that not a track has been found of either the grain or the thief. The wheat was threshed out Saturday and left in sacks in the field ready to be taken to the granary. There was about 900 bushels in all, but the thief was satisfied with carrying away about a tenth of it. It is presumed that someone saw the thresher at work during the day and watched them leave the wheat in the field for the night, and when everything was quiet

GARLAND.

MEETING OF TOWN BOARD.

Licenses Committee Named—Commercial Club's Offer Accepted.

Special Correspondence.

Garland, Boxelder Co., Aug. 23.—A regular meeting of the town board of Garland was held Tuesday evening, Aug. 21. After the regular routine of the meeting had been dispensed with and sundry bills ordered paid, a license committee, consisting of H. H. Hagedorn and T. E. Sechrist, was appointed.

A committee, consisting of W. P. Eaton, Jos. E. Corbett and E. D. Bacon, representing the Garland Commercial club submitted the following proposition for the consideration of the board: That in consideration of the installation of the club furniture in the town building for the joint use of the Garland Commercial club and the town board of Garland, that the latter permit the former the use of its building for the purpose of holding meetings for the transaction of business until such time as either organization desires to make a change, when the agreement would become null and void. The town board readily assented to the proposition as it has not yet purchased furniture to fit up its building which has just recently been completed, and for the further reason that the Commercial club has been so considerate in permitting the town board to hold its meetings in its quarters.

Trustee T. H. Edwards tendered his resignation as chairman of the board of health, which resignation was accepted. Mr. Edwards' duties as superintendent of the Sugar company prevented his longer holding the position. Trustee Joseph Jensen was appointed by unanimous choice to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Edwards.

BOISE READY TO OPEN HER GATES

Preparations Completed for the Reception and Entertainment ment of Guests.

A BIG CROWD TO BE THERE.

Is Certain That the Number of Delegates Will Break All Records in Matter of Attendance.

(Special to the "News.")

Boise, Aug. 27.—The various committees in charge of arrangements and entertainment for the National Irrigation congress have practically completed their work and this week will see Boise ready to receive and care for the thousands of visitors and delegates coming to the congress.

The number of delegates will break all records, and the attendance from the east and middle west will be larger than at any previous session. There are a number of reasons for this. The irrigation congress is the only national gathering to be held west of the Rocky mountains this year, for which the railroads have made special rates. Those who have contemplated a trip to the west have waited to take advantage of the cheap rates given, and the liberal time allowed for seeing the country.

Vice President Fairbanks will arrive at 1 o'clock on the morning of Monday, Sept. 3. Gov. Hanley of Indiana has appointed 94 delegates from among the most prominent citizens of that state, who will comprise the vice president's party, and this has served to attract a great deal of attention to the occasion. It is expected that sufficient delegates and visitors will be brought together at Chicago to make up a special train.

Arrangements have been made at Denver to organize a special train for the delegates arriving from the Missouri river points, Texas and the southern states. Utah and Nevada will furnish enough visitors to complete a train at Salt Lake, and Washington, Oregon and California people will come in the same manner. This will relieve the congested condition of the regular train service and insure comfortable transportation facilities.

A house to house canvass of the city has been made by the committee on accommodations and ample sleeping arrangements have been provided for at very reasonable rates. Rooms will range at 25 cents, 35 cents and 45 cents each person, and the restaurants and hotels will maintain ordinary prices for meals. A number of temporary restaurants will be conducted during the congress, serving home-cooked meals at popular prices.

On Monday evening a public reception will be given in honor of the vice president and other distinguished members of the congress, when all will have an opportunity to meet Idaho's guests of honor.

Four splendid bands will furnish music in all sections of the city, furnishing entertainment for the visitors at the different places where the people will assemble. Attractive entertainments will be provided by the different theaters, affording something to suit the taste of all.

For the entertainment of the delegates to the congress, the Boise symphony orchestra will give a symphony concert, taking place on Wednesday evening, Sept. 5. This organization consists of 50 professional and high-class amateur musicians, under the leadership of Prof. M. Christensen, director and Prof. C. O. Beach, conductor.

cert imator. A classical program will be rendered with Mrs. F. R. Brandt as soloist.

The exposition of the products of irrigation will be the largest feature of the character ever held in an irrigated country. The committee in charge of this feature has been allotted a room for pavilion and decorations, which has enabled it to carry out the very elaborate plans of the exposition. The exposition will be held on Eleventh street, occupying more than two blocks. The street is paved with brick, which will be sprinkled and kept free from dust. The pavilion will arch the street, with booths along the corners and on each side. Green and white decorations will be used in profusion, and 1,000 electric lights will furnish gorgeous illuminations. Fruits, grapes, grasses, sugar beets and other products are coming in car loads, and the most spirited competition will prevail among the exhibitors from the various states for the magnificent sterling silver loving cups to be awarded. The Pacific Molewormers' association will give away cantaloupes to all delegates on a day set apart for this feature.

Sixty of the most prominent men in the United States identified with irrigation and correlated subjects are on the program for addresses.
