Don't Forget It.

If you are troubled with nervousness, are disheartened, tired of life, feel death or feel out of sorts as the saying is, you may safely conclude that you have the Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint. The liver is very apt to become torpid this season of the year, as poisons arising from stagnant water or decaying vegetation are more numerous and are through inhalation taken into the blood. Unless the liver is strong and active, and furnishes a supply of fresh and pure blood to drive out the impurities, the above mentioned symptoms surely follow, and if not heeded, and in more terrible diseases and death. White's Great Liver Panacea. Its action on the liver is different from any medicine ever compounded. Its cures are truly wonderful. Try it. Price twenty-five cents and seventy-five cents.

If pestered by an eruption use

GREEN'S SULFUR SOAP, the ruling specific for diseases, irritation and abrasions of the skin, and a most salutary beautifier of the complexion. This admirable article is an inexpensive substitute for sulphur baths, and is equally as effective in banishing cutaneous maladies, and relieving the pangs of rheumatism and gout. Redness and roughness, tan, freckles, pimples, and indeed every imperfection of the cuticle is entirely removed by it. It is avouched, by ladies who have used it, to be the most effective means of clarifying and softening the skin that they have ever employed; its health promoting properties are widely recognized by medical men, and evidence in its behalf, emanating from other and equally respectable sources, precludes any doubts as to the genuineness of its claims to public confidence. Clothing and linen from the sick room is disinfected by it, and it prevents contagion when the danger of obnoxious diseases has been incurred by contact. Sores and ulcers, that resist the operation of salves and lotions are healed by it, and it soon relieves the swelling and pain caused by bruises and sprains. The opening of the pores, resulting from the wholesome stimulation of the superficial blood vessels that it produces, is the effect best calculated to keep the circulation when overtaxed, and carry off those offensive granulations which disfigure the cuticle and render existence a state of martyrdom while they remain. Eruptions, ailments that statements will not cure, are entirely eradicated by GREEN'S SULFUR SOAP. It cures Hile's Hair and Whisker Dye, Black or Brown, d w

What Might Have Been.

Almost every day during the Centennial, a host of spectators might have been seen, standing in the Main Building in which Benson's Caprine Plaster was exhibited, discussing its merits and superiority over other remedies. The plaster might have been heard of in the remotest corners of the world, and the reputation it would have gained in the most distant lands, and in the most remote corners of the globe, might have been known to the remotest corners of the globe. Benson's Caprine Plaster is the only plaster that will cure every kind of skin disease, and it is the only plaster that will cure every kind of skin disease. Benson's Caprine Plaster is the only plaster that will cure every kind of skin disease, and it is the only plaster that will cure every kind of skin disease.

BENSON'S CAPRINE PLASTER

was invented to overcome the great objection ever found in the old style of porous plaster, that of slow action in bringing relief. Benson's Caprine Plaster relieves pain at once and cures quickly. It is a plaster of great strength and adhesive power, and it is the only plaster that will cure every kind of skin disease, and it is the only plaster that will cure every kind of skin disease.

Thermometer.—To-day, 11 o'clock

p. m., the thermometer noted 73 degrees F. in the shade. Clear.

Weather Change.—Our three days' drizzle has concluded, the clouds have rolled away, and once more the cheering sun makes nature smile, with warmth and beauty.

Asphaltum.—The east side of Main street is coming to the front with good pavements. An asphaltum walk is now being laid before the premises of Messrs. Barratt Brothers.

Kanosh.—Our old friend, the Indian chief Kanosh, is up from the south. He called on us to-day and reported everything in his settlement, Corn Creek, Millard County, as flourishing.

Becher.—The best seats for Becher's lecture on Tuesday evening, are nearly all taken. The public seem to think that the learned gentleman's effort will not be a "waste and burden" to this society, anyhow.

Pianos.—Persons wishing to purchase a piano, will do well to read the letter which appears in tonight's issue, from Mr. D. O. Calder, dealer in musical merchandise of all kinds, and then call on him, at his establishment on Main Street. He offers great inducements to buyers.

Mass Meeting.—The meeting in the City Hall, yesterday afternoon, adjourned without transacting any particular business, on account of the small assembling of people. Tomorrow, at 5 p. m., is the time to which it adjourned, and we sincerely hope that the public will show more interest in the subject than their absence yesterday indicated.

Wedded.—Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Stanley H. Clawson, son of H. B. Clawson, Esq., and Miss Marie Jones, daughter of the late N. V. Jones, Esq., were united in the bonds of wedlock, Counselor D. R. Wells performing the ceremony.

Last evening, a happy company of friends assembled at the residence of the bride's mother, in the 15th Ward, and paid their respects to the newly married couple.

We join with their many friends in wishing them all the joy and happiness to be secured in living up to the happy privileges of pure and congenial matrimony.

Juvenile Instructor.—Number 17 of the Juvenile Instructor is before us, filled, as usual, with valuable information. Its illustrated articles are, "Bethlehem," an account of our Savior's birthplace, and "Sewards," an interesting description of ocean vegetation. Besides, it contains "Bethlehem," "Franklin's Visit to his Mother," "Catholics," "A Word to 'Wild Boys,'" "Credulity and Unbelief," "Editorial Thoughts," "The Sorrows of Grief," "Travels in India," "Feats of the Blind," "Advice to the Young," "Joseph Smith the Prophet," "The Holy Scriptures," Correspondence, Original Poetry, etc. Keep it in your families; it is worth its weight in gold for the young.

Missionary Labors.—We have had the privilege of perusing another interesting communication dated Aug. 15, from the pen of Elder Royal B. Young, now laboring in Middlebrooke-Town, Yorkshire, England.

The tide of persecution that had beset the efforts of the Elders in that locality, was increasing in vehemence. On a recent occasion, a party of them, including Elder H. W. Nelsbitt, who was on a visit from Liverpool, were attacked by a mob led on by Methodist preachers and "Bible Christians," who convulsed with, and encouraged the most disreputable characters of the city, in deeds of violence and persecution. Elder Nelsbitt was knocked down upon his hands and knees, his hat was knocked off five times, and his coat nearly torn from his back. Others of the Elders were similarly treated, being chased down dark lanes and barely escaping with their lives.

The mob threatened Elder Young that if he ever preached in the town again, they would "knife" him; nevertheless, he has done so since, when he bore a strong testimony to the truth, in the face of his enemies. His closing words have the true ring of the "Mormon" missionary. "I fear neither them nor their threats. I put my trust in Almighty God, and if he is desirous that I should be persecuted for the truth's sake, I can say with Job: 'Though He slay me yet will I put my trust in him.' Many who have heard my voice during the past year will find to their sorrow that the judgments of God will follow my testimony, and many who have heeded us, scoffed at us and stoned us, will yet waver in their own blood."

After this meeting the elders expected considerable trouble, but were agreeably disappointed, being permitted to go home in peace, a thing which had not occurred for a long time.

The constable waited on the landlord of the house, where the elders had been stopping, and told him that in order to satisfy the demands of the mob, the "Mormons" would have to leave, as the law was powerless to quell the disturbance arising from their holding meetings. The landlord told the brethren that they were the best and promptest to pay of any renters he had had, but that the constable, or rather the mob, must be obeyed, or he would be prosecuted for allowing a nuisance. The elders left, after giving him a tract containing the gospel principles, and went in search of another opening. The city contains 80,000 people; the members of the church number 114. Some of the latter have been discharged, from their employment, on account of their religion.

Supervisory Committees.—The names of the supervisory committees for the coming Territorial Fair, commencing October 21, are as follows:

Field crops and forest trees.—A. P. Rockwood.

Vegetables, oils, paints, etc.—John Reading.

Fruit, flowers, medicinal plants, etc.—Geo. B. Wallace.

Sheep and swine.—A. H. H. H.

Cattle.—John Pack.

Horses.—Wm. Thorn.

Poultry, fish and bees.—H. P. Folson.

Minerals, fine arts, ladies' work, sculpture, designing, etc.—A. M. Munser.

Carriages, farming implements, domestic dry goods, clothing, hats, caps and furniture.—Henry Dinwoody.

Machinery, hardware, etc.—Wm. J. Silver.

Leather.—W. H. Howe.

All citizens interested and willing to aid in making the fair a complete success in every feature, will please communicate with the foregoing gentlemen as early as possible, so that ample room and facilities for exhibiting the Territorial products to the best advantage may be provided in time.

Accident.—Dry Farming.—We obtain the following items of news from the Territorial Enquirer of Wednesday:

On Tuesday evening, Solina Carpenter, a young lady living at Kanama, Summit County, attempted to fill a lighted lamp with oil, when it exploded, burning her fearfully on the arm and breast.

Mr. W. D. Roberts, of Provo city, has raised this year, an excellent crop of rye, without any artificial irrigation, averaging from 15 to 20 bushels per acre. This grain is favorably adapted to dry bench ground, and would pay to be more extensively cultivated in this territory. We understand Mr. Roberts has a few bushels, which he will dispose of for seed, should anybody wish to sow.

Strange Accident.—From the Ogden Junction we learn of a singular accident which befel Mr. Reese Jones, of Uintah, Weber County. About a month ago while at West Weber, he saw a crane which some one had shot, fall near the house where he was staying at the time, and went to pick it up. When he got near enough to stoop for the bird, the latter made a spring for him and drove its bill into his right eye, causing the ball to bleed itself completely out.

Mr. Jones is a native of Glamorgan-shire, Wales.

Noted Criminals.—Many years ago, a man called George Washington, in a town in the State of Virginia, proved his unworthiness of bearing such a name by breaking into a confectionery shop and stealing some pie, for which offense he was sentenced for five days. Last night, in the Salt Lake police court, Kaiser Wilhelm, for stealing a span of horses and a wagon, was held in $300 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. Napoleon Bonaparte, what are you going to do?

Base Ball.—This afternoon two picked nines, from the banks and mercantile establishments of the city were to meet to quarrel at the national game of contention on Washington Square. The game money will go for the invention of a machine for the extermination of grasshoppers. Look out for broken bones and dodged balls.

Off for Frisco.—Mr. S. W. Bears left for San Francisco yesterday afternoon. He goes on business.

Departure.—Narrow Escape.—

From the Junction of last night, we learn that Mr. Jesse Driver, brother of William Driver the well known druggist, is en route for London, England, on a business trip. He expects to be absent about two months.

Tested yesterday afternoon, while playing around Ketchel & Co's cellar, little Jesse, son of Mr. J. M. Langsdorf, missed his footing and fell in. The excavation has been flooded for several days, and he fell into the deepest place. Luckily a young man named Greenwell, seeing the catastrophe, jumped in and rescued the little fellow, who, but for this timely assistance, must have drowned in a very short time.

Correspondence.

Putting Out to Sea.

170 JAY STREET,

Brooklyn, N. Y.,

August 25th, 1873.

Editors Dear Sirs:

Dear Brethren.—The party from Utah, consisting of Elders John Nicholson, Oley Ellingson, W. D. Major, and Samuel L. Adams, Misses May and Adams and Mrs. Carlson, set sail on the Wyoming at 4 o'clock p. m., yesterday. Their short stay in the city since the morning of the 25th had been an opportunity to rest from the long overland journey, and all were in excellent health and fine spirits. I accompanied them to the vessel, bade them good bye and God speed on the dock, and then remained to see the steamship move majestically from her mooring place towards the open waters of the great Atlantic. The sight was to me very interesting though characterized by the sadness of a painful separation. There were the hearty handshakes of parting friends, the painful separations, faces lit up with bright anticipations, other scenes of joy and sorrow, of sadness or of grief, while others still were bathed in tears.

When at length the gang plank was removed, the last cable connecting the vessel with the pier was cast off, and the engines started, causing the vessel to move slowly onward, her deck was thronged with passengers who were looking and waving handkerchiefs to individuals of the crowd upon the pier, and I thought to myself that at such a moment, even the most skeptical atheist must wish, if not believe, that there is a God, to whom to commend himself, if a passenger, or the dear one who might be thus taking a painful departure.

The scenes of sentimentality which attended the sailing of the vessel, were interspersed with comical and ludicrous incidents. As a portion of our party walked out on the pier to go aboard, a lusty Irish woman, clasping in her arms a couple of large pillows, ran after them, imploring them to buy her pillows, and in a rich brogue loudly dilated on their excellent quality and remarkable cheapness. Another lady of the party was beset by an Irish woman who was selling tin plates, and who followed her up the pier, trying to sell her tin plate. Then there were the news boys, the boot blacks and "water rats," i. e., what thieves, all plying or trying to ply their respective vocations, while keeping a sharp lookout for "cops," i. e., policemen who, in turn, were kept busy in protecting passengers from being run over by drags and express wagons, and their baggage from being stolen. It was a busy scene and a splendid place to study human nature.

The party were assigned to the very best berths in the vessel, and Mr. Gibson, the agent of the Williams and Gulon line, showed them every cabin, and the accommodations were very fine, and all the indications were that the party would have a pleasant voyage.

Your brother in the gospel,

R. F. COMPTON, Jr.

DIED.
