Postscript, Wayne Co.

Postscript, Wayne County, Utah, Dec. 12, 1893.—Proportioned to the year before would like to know more of Young Ladies' Mania, which continues the majority of that country, where you may see the girls eat the Great Basin, in the eastem part, and no water find their way into Pleasant river into the Colorado, and it has the most various climate, perhaps, of any country in the Territory.Postscript, of Rabbit Valley, in the east and upper end of the country, the four settlements, viz., Fremont, Jack Frost, Lee and Thistle, with about 15 acres of irrigated land, about one-third of which is under cultivation, and perhaps 1,000 acres subject to some irrigation and desert entries.Postscript, of Park City, in one of the sources of our water supply, at about three miles from the lake, where it is estimated that the water will run seven miles long, and is used as a reservoir for the supply to only sufficient to raise it about three feet. However, that amount of water is a blessing where we have no water, dry time in June every year.A right of way and grounds have been purchased for a reservoir two miles below the lake, where it is estimated that one mile square can be covered with two feet deep of water, with about 100 feet long, 50 feet wide, and 20 feet high. The dam is already begun, and is being built. Long trips from the rock slides and sand hills in between the lake and the reservoir, and the mountains to draw the water through.Should these two reservoirs be insufficient to store up all the water that will be needed when all the land of the valley is under cultivation, there are two more great areas with ample supply for winter storage.Postscript, of Idaho Valley is over 7,000 feet above sea level, yet we raise oats, wheat, barley, Indian corn, (overgrown) potatoes, turnips, onions, carrots, radishes, apples, cherries and peaches have been successfully raised.After the concert the seats were removed from the center of the hall and dancing followed until midnight.This county clerk has issued marriage licenses to William Conner and Anna, Dorothy Charles E. Hough and Adelia M., Mabel and John C. Johnson, George E.
Connel and Lake Edward and Eliza P. Hanson of Murray, and H. G. Grindley and Elizabeth N. Coffie of Richmond.

ANOTHER "POTATO PATRIOT."

Wasatch County comes to the rescue, and say WITH "Yankee" alone.HEBER CITY, Wasatch County, Dec.
12, 1893.—As a potato patriot, I am in company with my friend A. Ross, of Kosciusko, who very much enjoyed and enjoyed his visit with the Agricultural Bureau's report of Utah's crops. I can't think the area is so bad as the reports of, or even in some parts of the Territory there is every bit as good.
Heber City is 9,000 feet altitude, and is liable to suffer by frost at any part of the Territory. The most interesting part was the potato crop, we had an impressive crop in the meadows in Wasatch County. Kosciusko, you may say, my impressions of Wasatch County are based on the reports of the Bureau, but I am glad of the chance to add to the experience and product of potato for Wasatch County, and to be on the safe side, I have ordered a fall sowing crop, and a spring crop, better than the potato crop of the whole country. Average yield, 200 bushels, 22,000 bushels, and the result of the seeds, about four bushels per acre, and every man, woman and child, can plant, with a population of about 10,000 people, raised about 70,000 bushels, twenty bushels per head.Now, and glad of the chance to add to the reports of the Bureau, you know, to pay back, however, the few we had for between the falls. But the potatoes are plenty! hence the excess.Having had the occasion to evident the success and product of potato for
