THE POSTOFFICE CHANGE.

On the commencement of the year that the powers that be have ordered a change in the incumbency of the postmastership of Salt Lake City, there are two men who may legitimately expect an expression of public congratulation.

One of these is the retiring official, Mr. Hale, whose administration of affairs here in all respects, while able and satisfactory to the community, did not measure up to the public's expectations in all matters pertaining to his department, leaving little to be desired or to be improved upon by his successor. That a position so delicate as this should have been held by one for more than two years after the retirement of the administration to which he owed his appointment, and with which he is presumably in personal service, is of itself an interesting compliment. In these days of party strife and discord, and it seems, perhaps more recently than ever before, the elasticity and versatility with which his duties have been performed.

The other one to whom congratulations are now due is Mr. Barritt, the appointee to the position. With him in the postoffice, we are sure that there will be no failing off, or fail to be found with, the effective working of the institution. It is in no sense an experiment—he has seen them before, so that his well-known capacity and qualifications for the place, he also brings experience and a thorough familiarity with the requirements of the post.

The Digger extends his wishes to both the gentlemen named, and repeats that while it is always a matter of regret to part with a useful and satisfactory public official, the community has in the present instance the pleasure of knowing that it is getting an equally good and tried one in his place. The incident is therefore one which renders appropriate congratulations all round.

KEEP THE DAIL ROLLING.

In various Sunday schools, church &c, topics of special instruction are the ill effects of the use of tobacco. Impressed with the necessity of the禁煙, the superintendents and teachers look upon themselves as the task of explaining some of the well-worn fallacies in the practice of giving instruction to grade and simple beginners, so that these may be taught of comprehension, even by the smaller children, and in preventing the work by the students expansion. It would be great gain if every teacher in gospel school would make a study of the subject.

This class of work among the young is most commendable. An instance of the following kind is frequently given attention. There were very specimens of the given reading that were sold, which had not been furnished. This was by itself a sufficient reason for the teacher to say, "I don't know where to get any more." This makes the teacher more anxious to teach the young. Hence, to a boy, going to gospel school becomes more difficult in this regard, and this leads him to give up the work.

There are other kinds of work, however, which are better suited to those who are not well fitted to certain. Most boys are naturally inclined to go to industrial education, while forming, repairing, repairing and repairing, and repairing.
