BREVITIES.

A North Carolina widow lately took out a marriage license in blank.

Treasurer Spinner has received forty packages of gold leaf from "A Lover of Jesus," with the remark that it belongs to the government.

A lady of Harrisburg, Pa., is languishing in jail because of her appetite for whiskey, and putting her arms around men in the street, without a license. Men must be protected in some way.

A distinguished scholar has lately settled the question between "humble bee" and "bumble bee." Bumble, he says, is the right word, and he derives it from the Greek root Bombos. As applied to the bee, it may be found both in Theocritus and Aristophanes.

A Richmond newspaper having stated by mistake that Secretary Boutwell had purchased, this month, $5,000,000 worth of "bombs," instead of "bonds," the Secretary next morning received a letter from E. King, Jr., asking in good faith what was being paid for bombs in bulk, as he had a large amount on hand.

Teacher.—John, suppose I were to shoot at a tree with five birds on it, and kill three, how many would be left? John.—Three, Teacher.—No, two would be left, you ignoramus. John.—No, there wouldn't be; the three shot would be left; the other two would be fled away.

Professor W. C. Kerr, geologist of the State of North Carolina, promulgates the theory that the Black Mountain of North Carolina was the first dry land of the globe, and the oldest spot of earth in the world. He proposes to erect a monument on it to Adam.

Would you know how to cook potatoes in the best way? Bake them as quickly as possible without burning, leaving them soft clear through, but with a cream-colored skin that is easily peeled off. Press each potato in a cloth so as to crack the skin and allow the steam to escape. That makes them mealy. Then serve immediately.

The American Shoe Tip Company have introduced, this season, a new white metal tip which has the appearance of silver, and is decidedly ornamental. A metal tip adapted to first class shoes has long been needed. This new tip meets this demand, and must come into as general use on the finer grades of children's shoes as the copper tip have on common grades.

An honest rustic went into the shop of a Quaker to buy a hat, for which fifteen shillings was demanded. He offered twelve shillings. "As I live," said the Quaker, "I cannot afford to give it thee at that price." "As you live," exclaimed the countryman; "then live more moderately, and be thankful to you." "Friend," said the Quaker, "thou shalt have the hat for nothing. I have sold hats for twenty years, and my trick was never found out till now."

There is a story of an old hunter who came into Chicago one day, and after wandering about a while, looking at the public buildings and other improvements, got into a chat with one of the inhabitants, in the course of which he mentioned to him that he had once had a chance to buy all the ground that the city was built upon for a pair of old boots. "And why didn't you buy it?" was the very natural question of the interlocutor. "Well, I hadn't the boots just then, was the old man's calm reply."

Patrick saw a bull pawing in a field, and thought what fun it would be to jump over and catch him by the horns, and rub his nose in the dirt. The idea was so funny that he lay down and laughed to think of it. The more he thought of it the funnier it seemed, and he determined to do it. The bull quickly tossed him over the fence again. Somewhat bruised, Pat leisurely picked himself up with the consoling reflection: "Well, it is mighty good thing I had my laugh first."

There is a boy of fifteen years of age in Blackhawk county, Iowa, whose father died three years ago, leaving his widow and son an eighty acre farm, burdened with a $1,000 mortgage. He has taken charge of the farm, paid off the mortgage, purchased a harrow, a sulky plow, a wagon and a set of harness, besides an $80 sewing machine for his mother, and is now out of debt. He is a member of the Cedar Valley Agricultural Society, and attended school three months each winter.

To clean your hair and head, beat up the yolk of an egg; rub it all through the hair; wash and rinse in warm, soft water; dry with a towel as much as possible. Avoid going out before the hair is thoroughly dry, as you will be likely to take cold. Ammonia is also very good to cleanse the hair, and hair brushes. A teaspoonful of liquid ammonia in a pint of warm water is a proper proportion. Add a little soap, wash the hair, and rinse well in clear warm water. When dry, brush ten minutes and dry with some clean, soft oil.

It may be of some value to telegraph operators who have marble-based instruments, and housekeepers who have marble-topped furniture, to know that the common solution of gum arabic is an excellent absorbent, and will remove dirt, etc., from marble. I. Brush the dirt off the marble, then apply the solution with a brush, and a good coat of gum arabic, about the consistency of thick office mullage, expose it to the sun or dry wind, or both. In a short time it will crack and peel off. (If all the gum should not peel off, wash it with clean water and a clean cloth. Of course, if the first application does not have the desired effect, it should be applied again.) 2. Make a paste with soft soap and whiteing. Wash the marble first with it, and then leave a coat of the paste upon it for two or three days. Afterwards wash off with warm (not hot) water and soap.—Scientific American.
