LOCAL BRIEFS.

Rabbi L. G. Reynolds will speak this evening in the Jewish Temple on Responsibility.

Herbert J. Foulger was thrown from his buggy last evening on Seventh South street, suffering bad bruises, but breaking no bones.

Annual class day is being held this afternoon, on the state university campus, with contests for the trophy cup offered by Prof. Byron Cummings.

The Salt Lake Theatre Social club will give its first social and entertainment in Federation of Labor hall this evening, with a literary and musical program.

Will B. Guthrie of the R. M. B. Telephone company has been named as chief clerk of the Utah division. Mr. Guthrie was formerly chief clerk of the Walker House.

There will be revival services at the Nazarene mission on State street, where Rev. L. G. Martin will speak. The services will continue next Sunday, and through the week.

Rev. F. L. Arnold, who fell from a step ladder recently and broke his arm, is recovering, thanks to a strong constitution. He is a very old man, and fears were entertained for his recovery in consequence.

Miss Eva Shendke of 124 West Fourth South street, died yesterday, from brain fever, after a long illness, and was buried in the city cemetery.

The Deseret News acknowledges the receipt of two boxes of luscious oranges sent from the growers in Southern California belonging to Hon. James Jack of this city. Mr. Jack visits his California possessions once a year and never fails to remember his Utah friends in some pleasant manner.

Shipment number five, amounting to 20 Webster dictionaries, has now been exhausted, and all patrons of the "News" who are entitled to the book, are asked to exercise patience until shipment number six, also 200 copies, arrives. It has been on the road 10 days, and is due soon.

The Salt Lake Brick company is sending into the Salt Lake market daily 20,000 bricks, and the management says that the shipments would be found to haul the brick away, Buell, or Milwaukee brick, are being made now more than ever before, as they give a house front a very attractive appearance.

Capt. and Mrs. H. D. Styer and W. B. Styer, the captain's father, arrived yesterday from San Francisco, and are visiting in Salt Lake. The Styers, the parents of Mr. Styer, are on Fourth street. Mr. W. B. Styer continues east to Philadelphia shortly, but the captain and his family will remain in this city for the present.

The rectal given by Miss Gratin Flinders at the Congregational church last night for her pupil, Miss Irma Watson, was a highly successful affair, the debutante acquitting herself with ease and the rest of the program furnished by Mrs. Martha Boyle King and Miss Edna Cohn being most enjoyable. The public has learned to look forward to Miss Flinders' recitals with exceptional interest and is never disappointed.

An unknown man stole the telephone instrument last night, from Matthew Rump's saloon, 81 East First South street, and started up Commercial street with it under his arm. He was detected and chased given, when he threw the telephone into an area, and escaped. The instrument was recovered by the police for the theft, beyond the cutting of the wires. It is the first instance on record, it is claimed, of a telephone being stolen.

Edward McGuffin will present a committee of five to effect a permanent organization of local Irishmen, to carry on the work that brought Mr. Devlin here, the crystallizing of sentiment in this part of the United States that may help the efforts of the Irish people in securing independent home rule. All members contributed will be sent to Ireland. Mr. Devlin was urged to return to this city for a public meeting, but it is necessary for him to return home, and he must hurry east.

WOULD SUSPEND THE ORDINANCES

Effort by Sheets Men Last Night Fails Significantly.

RESOLUTION BY THOMAS.

Fernstrom Gives Shoup a Few Points on Law-Black's Ordinance Laid on the Table.

A resolution was introduced by Thomas at the adjourned session of the city council last night which had for its ultimate purpose the suspension of two city ordinances for a period of 90 days, so that it would not be necessary to have the payrolls of the police department certified to by the chief or any official of the department and also doing away with the approval of applications for liquor licenses by the chief of police during the suspension of the ordinance. The resolution, which follows in full, was defeated by the anti-Sheets faction:

"Resolved, Owing to the contention as to whether George A. Sheets was or was not confirmed as chief of police of Salt Lake City, and the refusal of a majority of this council to recognize any act of George A. Sheets as chief of police, which has resulted in the police force of Salt Lake City not receiving their pay for March and the non-issuance of a large number of licenses to liquor dealers, therefore be it

Resolved, That the ordinance passed June 29, 1935, and approved June 29, 1935, wherein it is required that the payroll of the police department of this city must be certified to by the chief of police before payment can be made upon same, and section 6 of an ordinance passed Dec. 15, 1932, and approved by the mayor Dec. 15, 1932, wherein it is required that all applications for liquor licenses be approved and endorsed by the chief of police of this city, be and are hereby suspended for the period of 90 days, or such less time as may be required to have the question as to whether George A. Sheets is or is not chief of police of Salt Lake City passed upon by the courts.

It is understood that the passage of this resolution does not in any way recognize George A. Sheets as chief of police of Salt Lake City, such question being relegated to the courts."

PERNSTROM VS SHOUP.

President Cottrell was of the opinion that the ordinance could not be suspended in such a manner. Assistant City Attorney Shoup gave an opinion to the effect that such action would be perfectly legal, that the city council certainly had the right to suspend an ordinance. Pernstrom took issue with Mr. Shoup as to the legality of the act.

Mr. Shoup argued that the council could amend an ordinance by passing a resolution and that the city auditor could not pay the salaries under such a resolution. He further characterized it as a trap to put Auditor Reiser in the hole.

DAVELER SARCASTIC.

Daveler replied to Pernstrom in a very sarcastic speech in which he said that Pernstrom did not know the difference between carcass and fact, and Thomas urged the passage of the resolution because he said it would be three or four months before the matter would be settled in the court and he thought the policemen should have their pay. Daveler contended that the resolution was useless because a resolution of the council could not be enforced by the city recorder's office and had not been sent to Capt. Burbridge yet. He thought that the resolution herefore passed would settle the matter if carried out. A vote was then taken which resulted in the resolution being defeated.

BLACK'S ORDINANCE.

Another fight came up on the passage of a resolution providing for the repealing of the ordinances requiring the chief of police to certify to the payrolls and to endorse applications for liquor licenses. After considerable argument, the ordinance was laid on the table for an indefinite period, upon motion of Thomas.

SMOKE ORDINANCE PASSED.

Daveler's new smoke ordinance, requiring smoke consumers to be placed on all boilers of 10-horse power or over, was passed by a large vote, and placed the limit at 20-horse power boilers.

"A WISE MORMON."

What a San Francisco Paper Says of President Joseph P. Smith.

Under the above caption the San Francisco News Letter of April 11 says: President Joseph Smith, in addressing the "Mormon" Church, called attention to the fact that property would not last forever, and that now is the time to get out of debt, and connection he advised his co-religionists to follow his example, and to follow the lead of the greatest sense of the learned professions. "If I had millions of money," he said, "I should be ashamed of my children if my boys did not know how to handle a pitchfork and my daughters to cook."

There is a world of sense in his advice. The world of the country is produced by the application of labor to the natural resources, and the more these workers are engaged in converting the gifts of nature into social values, the richer the community. It takes a great many half-baked lawyers and uncertainly equipped physicians to equal the value of a really well-trained mechanic or farmer, who is a thoroughly well-equipped captain of industry. It is worth a string of colleges. If his idea could only be beaten into the minds of our teachers and by them passed on to our children, what a world of good it would do. It is worth a string of colleges. If his idea could only be beaten into the minds of our teachers and by them passed on to our children, what a world of good it would do.

STORM OVER LELICH.

How it Broke in the Methodist Church A Few Days Ago.

The report in the "News" relative to the recent quarterly conference at Liberty Park Methodist church, and the lively experiences incident thereto, is fully borne out in the following caustic comment from the Utah Christian Advocate:

"The third quarterly conference was held last Monday evening. It was held that it would be one which would be a help to the church instead of a hindrance. But boys were knocked to smithereens when Rev. E. E. Mark

SALT LAKE BOY IN PHILIPPINES

Jacob Schultness Writes Interesting Letter From Manila.

CLEAN AND PRETTY AGANA.

Manila Well Policed and Comparatively Free From Crime—Very Little Sickness There.

The following interesting letter dated Manila, P. I., March 8, 1936, and addressed to Elder J. G. Kimball of the First Council of Seventies, is from Jacob Schultness, a young Salt Lake stenographer, who recently passed a very creditable examination for government service in the Philippines, and left for that section shortly after:

"It affords me pleasure to write you that I arrived safely on Feb. 25. We had pleasant weather nearly all the time. No stops were made until we reached Guam. We did not even see the Sandwich Islands, as we were 350 miles distant at the nearest place."

"At Guam, which is a very pretty place, we were permitted to go ashore, and some of the soldiers, of whom over 1,000 were on board the transport, took us to the landing in one of the life boats. The harbor is full of rocks and live there, as there is no regular line of getting on the rocks about a dozen times. We went to Agana, the capital of Guam, five miles away. In one of the wheeled cars, which were pulled by water buffalo. It was an interesting ride, though rough, and is not to be forgotten. Agana has about 6,000 inhabitants, and is very clean. The roads are better than any I have seen, and the city is very clean. The harbor is full of rocks and live there, as there is no regular line of getting on the rocks about a dozen times. We went to Agana, the capital of Guam, five miles away. In one of the wheeled cars, which were pulled by water buffalo. It was an interesting ride, though rough, and is not to be forgotten. Agana has about 6,000 inhabitants, and is very clean. The roads are better than any I have seen, and the city is very clean.
