Enlistments Are Few-Fifty soldier, having served their term of enlistment were honorably discharged at Fort Doughes Saturday. A few re-enlisted, but most of the men left to yisit home and friends while still others wen east to join regiments at other posts. In connection with present emistment totes, it is pointed out there is a low enhancement rate because of the lack of attractions for those who join the army. Insufficient rations, small pay typannical sergeants, and a number of other causes are ascribed by the in-spector general of the army. He sug-gests remedies for these and other faults now being found by the private soldier, who is after all the big por-tion of the nation's bodyguard.
