The Indians of the lowlands have been driven from their wigwams and many have reached Toppenish, hungry and penniless. A number of white families along the Toppenish river are families along the Toppenish river are now surrounded by water and cannot be reached as there are no boats. Reports of drowning of people have been received all day but cannot be verified. It is thought several families of missing Indians are drowned. It is rumored that a mail carrier named Miller and a man named Johnson were on the Toppenish bridge when it went down. Both are missing.

Losses in the Yakima valley are estimated as follows:

The flume of the electric plant at Electron was washed out and both Tacoma and Seattle had to resort to steam to plants for the operation of their street car and electric light plants. A scarcity of fuel intensified the situation. The interurban electric line between Tacoma and Seattle suffered beavily in washouts and slides line between Tacoma and Seattle suf-fered heavily in washouts and slides and will not be able to resume for feveral days. Industries along the Puyallup river in Tacoma were put out of business for a few days. At the city of Puyallup the water system was cut out by the main pipe heing dis-connected on a bridge over the Stuck river. Numerous wagon and railroad river. Numerous wagon and railroad bridges are out. Hundreds of North-ern Pacific passengers are being cared for here, transfers are made by steam-er between Tacoma and Seattle, a railroad bridge over the Stuck river being ashed away. Many trains are stalled east of the Cascades. Fifteen hundred feet of trestle went out at Olequa on the Cowlitz river between Tacoma and Port-land. Efforts are being made to se-cure steamer transfer between Olequa and Castle Rock, but the Cowlitz river is a raging torrent and many of the stanchest Columbia river steamers could not be chartered to attempt the service. Passengers will not be sent forward unless it is absolutely safe.

of coal into Seattle last night. Milk trains are resumed from Auburn and Kent to Seattle, and from Sumner to Tacoma. The Northern Pacific is re-ceiving freight for the Grays Harbot country, and hopes to get a train through to the coal mines at Wilkeson today. Much of the damage in King and Pierce counties has been caused by the White river, which has changed its the White river, which has changed its course, and is now pouring into the Stuck river, flooding a wide stretch of fertile land. Two Japanese gardeners on the Tacoma tide flats are believed to have been drowned. That is the only loss of life in this vicinity.

WATERS RECEDING.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 17.—All through-out the western part of Washington the waters of the most disastrous flood in four years are rapidly subsiding and danger from further losses over. Railroads, both steam and electric, tel-ephone and telegraph companies are making strenuous efforts to bring order out of chaos which the flood has caused but it will be several weeks before things are adjusted to their former

As yet it is too early to make possible a complete estimate of the damage, but it is conservatively estimated as amounting to fully $1,000,000 in King county alone. It is probable that five deaths is the limit of fatalities in King county. The destitute are being cared for by friends and there is no necessity for any action on the part of the state toward relief. With the exception of a few spur lines no trains are moving so far, but it is hoped to have some sort of a service in operation within a device. of a service in operation within a day

THAW'S DEFENSE.

Will Plend Justification for Killing Stanford White.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 16.—"Harry Kendall Thaw will stand on the plea of justification, when arraigned in the New York courts for the killing of Stanford White. His attorneys will make no attempt whatever to prove him to have been insane when he shot and killed the New York architect in Madison Square Garden."

This positive statement was made by

This positive statement was made by Detective Roger O'Mara today. Mr. O'Mara has had charge of the entire detective work for the defense in the Thaw-White tragedy.

O'Mara, it is understood, has secured some evidence regarding the actions of Stanford White toward Mrs. Harry K. Thaw which it is hoped will go toward helping prove justification for the young Pittsburg millionaire. O'Mara seems more than confident that Thaw will not be convicted of murder.

Second Section of No. 3 Plunges Into Train Ahead at Lehi This Morning.

PASSENGERS SLIGHTLY HURT.

Brakeman and Fireman in Rear-end Collision Sustain Broken Bones -Pullman Stood the Crash.

The second section of Rio Grande No. 3 ran into the first section this morning at 3 o'clock at Lehi with disastrous results to the rolling stock. Fortunately no one was killed although several passengers sustained cuts and bruises and a brakeman and fireman received a broken shoulder and a broken rib respectively.

Owing to the fact that the claim agent went right through to Ogder with the passe, gers and had not re-ported to Sait Lake headquarters up to 2 p. m., the names of the injured were not known here with the exception of the brakeman, Walter I. Mapes, who resides at Ogden. He is reported to be badly hurt.

One of the passengers in the rear sleeper sustained a scalp wound, another a cut on the forehead and a third other a cut on the forehead and a third a black eye and contusions.

The accident occurred on a curve south of Lehi station. Ahead of the two westbound trains was a freight endeavoring to make the switch. The first section of No. 3, which was six hours late, was proceeding slowly so as to allow the train ahead to get into the clear. At this functure the second secclear. At this juncture the second s tion came bowling along at 35 miles an hour and smashed into the real Pullman, a through Rock Island sleep-er named Richton. Passengers assert that there was no flagman out neither were there any torpedoes or flares on the track to warn the approaching train. Until Supt. Geiger concludes his investigation.however, no official report placing the blame ever, no official report placing the blame will be forthcoming.

One passenger who was on the first section stated this morning that the engineer of the second section apparently saw the tail lights of the train too late. He applied the emergency brake and in so doing the engine in some fashion became detached from the tender. The engine forged shead and struck the rear sleeper and the next instant the train and tender followed. During the second impact the lowed. During the second impact the tender was pinched so that it mount-ed to the roof of the baggage car. The engine was a bad wreck and plowed its way a dozen feet into the Pullman its way a dozen feet into the Pullman ere it stopped. The front end of the baggage car was stove in while the diner and a tourist car were badly mattled and knocked out of commission or the time being. These cars were left at Lehi and after Dr. Noyes of American Fork had attended to the injured the trains were brought on to Salt Lake at 8 a.m.

on to Salt Lake at 8 a, m.

The fact that all the passengers were lying in their berths asleep in the rear cars of the train that was struck was the only thing that averted struck was the only thing that averted loss of life. As it is most of the passengers acquired an assortment of bumps on their heads where their caputs struck the berth partitions with intervening pillows.

Had there been a light tourist car instead of a heavy Pullman at the rear of the train there would have been a different story to tell.
