CRITICAL ANALYSIS.

UNIVERSITY OF DESERET, Salt Lake City, June 8th, 1887.

By carefully examining DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder with the microscope and with chemical reagents, I find that it is free from Alum, Starch, Flour, Bone Ash, Ammonia and White Earth; and that it consists essentially of Cream of Tartar and Bi-Carbonate of Soda.

The Baking Powder examined I purchased at Barnes & Davis, in this city.

EVENING NEWS.

Tuesday. March 27, 1888.

FROM THE FOUR WINDS.

It's a great thing to have an indulgent husband, provided he dosen't indulge too frequently.

A correspondent inquires if the reason that so many corporations are on their uppers nowadays is because they have no soles.

It is noticeable that the woman with a high hat is not only on her high-heeled shoes, but generally sits on her high-heeled bustle.

We don't know whether to believe the story that Mr. Howells replied to a person who asked for a list of the best 100 books: "I have not written 100 books."

An amateur actor has been shot in in Mississippi. We are not in favor of shooting amateur actors. Imprisonment for life is a punishment severe enough.

A question that is attacking quite as much attention in some localities just now as the tariff is: Do all the messenger boys come originally from Philadelphia?"

They are talking about a maple sugar exchange in Vermont. As though there hadn't been an exchange of that kind in active operation ever since kissing was introduced in the state.

A prominent Chicago artist is busy on a new work in still life. The real title is not yet made public, but Chicago people are mostly of the opinion that it is to be "A Picture of St. Louis.

A serious accident occurred in an uptown house the other night by a misplaced switch. The owner's husband stepped upon it and ran a hairpin into his foot to the depth of an inch.

It is hoped that the man who predicted that we were going to have a warm winter hasn't a bushel of coal in his bin, and is snowed up 100 miles from a coal yard

Sympathizing friend (to widow whose husband was blown to pieces by nitro-glycerin-)—In what part of the oil country did your husband die, Mrs. Driller? Widow (sadly)—Poor John died pretty much all over.

"As a man grows older," remarked Litescull, "his brain shrinks and becomes smaller." "Great land of She, Litescull!" exclaimed his friend: "you don't mean to tell me you're 400 years old!"

Stranger (to boy)—Boy, can you direct me to the nearest bank? Boy—I kin for 25 cents. Stranger—Twenty five cents! Isn't that rather high pay? Boy—Yes, but it's bank directors what gits high pay.

All the men engaged in the Arkansas and Texas train robberies for the last two years are now under arrest, but so far not a single railroad official engaged in robbing passengers of their lives has felt the touch of the handcuffs.

In the gloaming: He, with emotion—Now, dearest, that you have accepted my proposal, let us seal it with a kiss She, in a business tone—What's the use? Your bid has been accepted and there's no need of sealed proposals.

A young lady, visiting for the first time in the country, was alarmed at the approach of a cow. She was too frightened to run, and, shaking her parasol at the animal, she said in a very stern tone: "Lie down, sir! lie down!"

Husband—Why have you discharged the servant? Wife—Because she claimed to have had ten years experience in doing housework. Husband—Well, wasn't that in her favor? Wife—No; I didn't want any one so particular as that to boss me.

Waiter (to customer)—Ain't the soup all right, sah? Customer, dubiously—Ye-es, it tastes all right; but I'm a barber, and I wish you would ask the chief if he doesn't want a bottle of my Egyptian Tonsorial Elixir; it prevents the hair from falling out.

Young lady—Will you please give me a small bottle of eyther? Omaha drug clerk—Of what, miss? "Of eyther, please." "Eyther? eyther? I do not think we have it in the store." "O, yes, I'm sure you have. It is sometimes called eether by ignorant people."

There is a common impression that the fastest thing of which our senses take cognizance of is a flash of lightning. This is a mistake, as anybody knows who has ever seen a red necktie, a spotted shirt-collar, and a loudly striped twelve-dollar suit of clothes.

I heard a good story the other day on a freshman in one of our New England colleges. On being asked by his professor by whom and on what occasion the term "Eureka" was first used, he replied: "By Demosthenes, when he sat down on the pin for which he was hunting."

Miss De Society—Oh, mother, such news! The Olafams have lost all their money and their head dishwasher has fallen heir to a fortune. Mrs. De Society—How fortunate we heard of it in time. When we call at the Olafam residence this afternoon we must remember to go around by the back door.

New Arrival (in New York)—I was told to come here, sir, for information about getting naturalized. New York Official—Happy to meet you, sir; hope you had a pleasant passage. What can I do for you? "I wish to know how long a man must be in this country before he can vote." "Um—er—which ticket?"

Mrs. Briggs—Now that your son has returned from college do you feel repaid for your outlay for his education? Did he take any prize? Mrs. Squiggs—Oh, yes, mum; yes indeed. He got a medal for what he calls sprinting and he must be high up in mathematics, for he says he learned four new curves.

"You needn't order me around, sir," said the washerwoman. "I'm not the hired girl. It's Bridget's place to look after the milk. I'm the laundry lady." "That doesn't scare me," said the man. "I'm the milk gentleman and I'm the P. W. G. R. K of the U. O. G. G. and Most Eminent Past G. W. of the Ancient Order of M. X. Q. Z, and I want somebody to take this milk." "Yes, sir," said the washerwoman meekly, as she went to find a crock.

LICKING THE EDITOR.

JOURNALISTIC TAFFY CLAIMS THE MAN OF MUSCLE.

A tall man, with an ugly scowl on his face and a bad look in his eye, stalked into a newspaper office less than a week ago, and his every motion conveyed the impression that he had made up his mind to annihilate some one. In his big hand he carried a copy of the paper published from that office, and in stentorian tones he demanded to see the sporting editor. That gentleman was at his desk, though he never would have acknowledged his identity had he not been pointed out by one of his co-workers.

"I kin lick the man that wrote this here notice," shouted the ugly man, bringing his fist down upon the desk to show how hard he could hit.

There was no difference of opinion on this point. His prowess was conceded, and for the sake of peace it would have been admitted without debate that he could "lick" the whole staff. The paragraph had reference to a somewhat obscure prize fighter and spoke of him as a "second-class man." It was the pugilist who called and he was prepared to wipe out the insult. He amused himself and terrified the writer of the paragraph for a few minutes by raving wildly of the vengeance he was about to take, when it occurred to the sporting editor that he might call diplomacy to his aid.

"Look here," he said, "you haven't been insulted. Now, tell me, do you really think you are as good a man as Sullivan?"

"Well, no," replied the prize fighter, dropping his lower jaw.

"I thought you were a sensible man. Don't you see Sullivan is considered to be the only first-class fighter, and as you admit you are not so good as he, don't you see that you must belong to the second-class? And when I say you are a good second-class man I put you on a level with all who are not in the first-class. If I had said you were a third, or a fourth, or a fifth-class man you would have every reason to be angry."

The explanation did seem plausible, and it opened up a conversation in which the same line of thought was carried out; and when the prize fighter left the office he carried with him the conviction that the paragraph at which he took offense was in reality quite complimentary to him.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.
