

VARSITY AND SOLDIERS PLAY

Practice Game on at the Fort This Afternoon—Christians Train.

STUDENTS HARD AT WORK.

In short Time Coach Holmes Hopes To Have Them in Perfect Condition—Aggies Are Busy.

The Varsity boys, the Soldiers at Fort Douglas, the Y. M. C. A. eleven and the Aggies at Logan are now doing it daily starts with the pigskin and it is not long before all the teams will be in shape to enter the field of battle. Nearly every day sees the busily on each eleven out for hard work.

Yesterday afternoon, beginning at 5 o'clock, Capt. Fred Smith had the Y. M. C. A. aggregation down to Fourth and State on the vacant lot, and there was a large crowd of players and many spectators, and for an hour the boys made the dirt fly. Capt. Smith gave the men a code of signals and then proceeded to put them through the test. All the men displayed great speed and accuracy considering it was their first practice.

The Christians have no games booked for the present, but Manager Margeris has several propositions under consideration.

This afternoon at Fort Douglas, the Varsity boys and the Soldiers eleven are indulging in a practice game for mutual good. Neither team will make any attempt to run up large scores as the game is merely to get a line on the boys to do individually and collectively. The Varsity boys are beginning to show good form already and Coach Holmes hopes to have them in fighting trim in a short time.

The line up that will go against the boys in blue is announced as follows:

Beaton, fullback; Wade, quarterback; Dugan, left halfback; Crandall and Larson, right halfback; Robbins, center; Stevens, right guard; Pratt, left guard; Carlson, right tackle; Walcott, left tackle; Kingsbury, right end; Johnson, left end. The substitutes will be Mason, Franksworth, Nelson, McIntyre, Knudsen and James.

They are all good men and Coach Holmes expects to accomplish wonders with them. At Logan all is enthusiasm so far as football is concerned. There was a running meeting held at the college yesterday during which many happy speeches were made and many snappy songs were sung. The value of good physical training and proper athletic deportment was touched upon by all the speakers. Under the direction of Assistant Director Milton the following songs were practiced:

OUR DIRECTOR.

With the goal before you,
White and blue,
Now all together,
Smash them and break through;
'Gainst the men from Logan,
Naught can they do,
Three cheers for A. C.
For A. C. U.

CLORY, HALLELUJAH.

Make the blue and white unto the place
It held of yore,
While the husky farmer lads are piling
Up the score,
The sky is blue with promise and our
Rivals blue and sore,
For this is Aggie's day,
Clory, glory, hallelujah, etc.

GENERAL GRANT.

How well I remember the days of
Eighty-nine,
When the footfalls were red in the sun,
And when folks shook their heads and
In solemn words they said
They knew that it couldn't be done;
But the college it grew, and the students
Gathered, too,
Just the same you've ever seen;
From the new brick tower to the freshman of an hour.
We're proud of the whole machine.

CHORUS.

We're proud of the whole machine,
(Till) By Gosh!!!
We're proud of the whole machine,
II.

How well I remember the days of Noughty-one,
When football's flew in the air;
We knew less of them than we did of
sugar beets,
And we were judged by his hair;
We've learned since then, and we've
surely got the men;
It is only our grass that's green,
That smashes right through—it's the only thing to do;
We're proud of the whole machine.

cure is sure, without harmful results to the system. Many a home is now happy by the use of Golden Specific. "My husband got into a habit of taking a drink with the boys on his way home," says Mrs. Harry Burnside. "After a while he came home drunk frequently. He soon lost his position and I had to make a living for both of us and the little children. At times he tried to sober up, but the habit was too strong for him and then he drank harder than ever. I heard of Golden Specific and sent for a free package. The treatment cured him. I put it in his coffee and he never knew it at all. He regained his old position and now we are happy in our little home again. I hope you will send Golden Specific to every woman that has suffered as I have, and save her loved ones from the drunkard's grave."

Send your name and address to Dr. J. W. Barnes, 3811 Glen Building, Cincinnati, Ohio, and he will mail you a free package of Golden Specific in a plain wrapper, accompanied by full directions how to use it. Enough of the remedy is sent in each free package to give you an opportunity to witness its marvelous effect on those who are slaves to drink.

Do not delay. You cannot tell what may happen to the man who drinks, and you would never forgive yourself for waiting.

a civil marriage was also agreed upon for their satisfaction.

When Carter and his wife walked into the mayor's office and asked to see Mayor Knight, the fighter was as much embarrassed as though he had not been through the ceremony once before. He and Mrs. Carter were accompanied by "Kid" McPartland and R. Silverberg. A crowd collected in the hall and the door windows were obscured by curious onlookers as soon as the word of marriage and the identity of the principals was passed around the building. Mayor Knight was out and Alderman Harp was called upon to tie the knot.

Carter was well and quietly dressed. So also was Mrs. Carter, a pretty young woman of blonde type. Carter bore a trace of his recent battle on his face, but it detracted little from his spruce appearance.

DRIVER'S GOOD NERVE.

Harry Devereux Displays Pluck in The Face of Death.

It was the last day of the first trotting meeting at the new Billings track last fall, and the incident is thus graphically told:

When the second heat of the third race was called, Harry J. Grant drove Frankton into the course. F. J. Hartwell was behind Elliott, Frank G. Jones had Mabel Onward in hand, and H. K. Devereux held the reins over Captor. Mr. Billings' latest purchase. The start was delayed by trouble in getting the horses into position. The horses were just launching upon a terrific gallop, when suddenly there came a suppressed cry from the rail. Captor was running full tilt, maddly down the stretch.

Mr. Devereux sat in his wagon, but no reins led from his hands to the head of the frightened animal. The reins had broken. From the point of starting to the turn is less than a quarter of a mile. With a world-beating horse the distance becomes insupportable. A crowd went up from the grand stand, the rail was thronged with men. Not a word could be heard, and every one of the 5,000 people awaited breathlessly what appeared to be certain death of the gentleman in the wagon.

Captor was headed to the rail. Less than half a minute would bring the impact. Just in front of the grand stand Mr. Devereux carefully lifted both legs over the side of the wagon to the outer rail.

"My God, he's going to jump," was the suppressed cry.

To jump meant either death or terrible injury.

But the driver did not jump. He carefully and quickly climbed to the shafts of the wagon, and before the people could divine his intention, he had leaped to the back of the flying runaway and by a deft movement turned him to the track again. Coolly, and as carefully as though trying to adjust the hairpinning of a delicate watch, he played the game with death. But the danger had not ended. From one extreme Captor was going to the other. The fence at the paddock loomed up before the mad career of the speedy animal and the plucky rider.

All at once Captor raised himself in the air and jumped the fence, carrying the wagon with him.

Every eye sought the spot. No one expected to see the driver in living form, but he had taken advantage of the momentary pause for the jump and rolled from his seat on the horse's back. The wagon went over him like a flash, and Mr. Devereux scrambled to his feet and trotted down the track while 5,000 throats united in the most grateful burst of applause that ever came from a horse-stricken multitude. It was half a shout of exultation, half of prayer.

Captor, tumbling in the paddock, again leaped the fence into the track, leaving the wagon and harness neatly hanging on the pickets, and continued his terrific career up the stretch until he was finally stopped. Save for a shaking up and the straining of his left leg, Mr. Devereux was unhurt. He called for new harness, a new wagon, and the same horse, and again entered the heat, driving out a game finish, to the admiring applause of the spectators.

CANADA TO SEND PLAYERS.

They Will Compete in the Olympian Games of 1904.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Canada will send many players to compete in the Olympian games in 1904 according to Maj. Gordon Strong, chairman of the military committee of the games, who has just returned from the Dominion. Both Lord Minto, the governor general, and Lord Dundonald, general commanding the Canadian militia, said they would attend the games. Among the sports in which Canada will make showing are association football, canoeing, cricketing, hockey, lacrosse and field athletics.

To Change Establishments.

New York, Sept. 25.—There is hardly a doubt, says the Herald, that the locale of several of the existing racing establishments will be very much changed, perhaps within a year. The sale of Morris park, the most magnificent racing enterprise in America, is now an accomplished fact.

Streets may at any time be run through the course at Gravesend, which already is hemmed in by residences.

The general opinion is that the leading race courses of the future will be located further out on Long Island, within a radius of 30 miles, and will be patterned after the English courses.

Magnates in Session.

New York, Sept. 25.—The National league representatives got down to work early today. There were present John T. Brush, who presided; Andrew Freedman and Fred Knowles, New York; A. H. Soden, Boston; Barney Dreyfus and Harry Pulliam, Pittsburg; Harry Von Der Horst, Ned Hamilton and Charles Ebbetts, Brooklyn; Col. John I. Rogers, A. J. Reach, Philadelphia; James H. McGraw, St. Louis; F. De Haas Robison of St. Louis was not at the meeting. The new developments in the American league situation were taken up at once. At the conclusion of the session John T. Brush said:

"We spent the entire session in a general discussion of the situation, and not a single action was taken that would interest the public. As a matter of fact, our hands are tied in certain respects, and we can do nothing in the line of which the public expects."

Mr. Brush admitted that the magnates had discussed the situation regarding New York, but he also admitted that his followers were completely baffled so far as taking any action was concerned.

According to James A. Hart of Chicago there is absolutely no chance of peace between the two big leagues this summer. Mr. Hart declared that the situation as to players had been gone over carefully, and that the public would be surprised when they learned how few players would jump their contracts this year on either side.

James C. Kennedy is quoted as saying:

Cure for Asthma and Hay Fever

A Hay Fever sufferer writes: "I have had Hay Fever for 14 years. SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. W. H. H. Bowers and her guest, Mrs. Cunningham of Butte, left on Tuesday evening for the east, where they will spend a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Schumacher will be at home for the winter at the Knutsford.

Mrs. M. S. Lacy of Colorado Springs is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. E. Richards.

Mrs. E. M. Charlton has returned from New York.

The Fort Douglas social club will give a hop tonight.

Prof. and Mrs. Nephri Hodgson were tendered a reception at the residence of Bishop Oliver Hodgson on Tuesday evening, the guests being mostly relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hodgson. Music, dancing and refreshments were the features of entertainment and Prof. Hodgson and his wife added to the evening's enjoyment by their artistic playing of the piano and flute. Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson return to Portland next week.

On Wednesday Miss E. Hopkins of Butte, daughter of C. R. Hopkins, and Alke Young Hopkins, formerly of this city, and Mr. Henry Stackman of Lewiston, Cache county, were married in the Temple, and later an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. H. Mitchell, the relatives and intimate friends being present. The rooms were prettily decorated with flowers and palms, and dainty refreshments were served. The bride wore a gown of white tulle with lace trimmings. She is a granddaughter of Apostle Brigham and Mrs. Katherine Young of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Stackman will go to Lewiston to reside.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Harker and Mr. Preston J. Cannon took place today, the ceremony being performed at 10 o'clock in the Temple and a wedding breakfast being served later at the bride's home, about 25 of the immediate relatives being present. The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion, the parlors in white and green, with asters, palms and smilax used with artistic effect, and the dining room in pink with ribbons drawn from the chandelier to the corners of the room and the table, and a huge bouquet of La France roses with smaller bouquets on either side and smilax strewn about these making a striking picture. The hall was entirely in green. The bride was married in white silk tulle, and at the breakfast wore a handsome gown of green voile with trimmings of applique lace. Her going away gown is a beautiful costume of blue broadcloth. Mr. and Mrs. Cannon leave early this evening for Germany where the groom will fulfill a mission and the bride will study art. The latter is the daughter of Mrs. Hattie Harker, and the groom a son of the late George Q. Cannon and Mrs. Sarah J. Cannon. Both have a host of friends who will extend good wishes.

An elaborate affair of yesterday was the reception given by Mrs. D. C. McLaughlin last night at the Knutsford in honor of Miss Maud Reese Davies. The rooms and halls were beautifully decorated by Huddart with palms, American Beauty roses, asters and smilax, and 200 guests were present during the evening. Receiving with the hostess and guest of honor were Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mrs. Perkins, Judge Henderson and little Isabel McLaughlin. A delightful feature of the evening was the rendition by Miss Davies of vocal numbers consisting of the Aria from "Linda de Chamuniz," "Irish Love Song," "Lang," "St. Mary's," "Lalan," "Three Songs," "Shintz," "Mignon," Guy d'Hardetot. She was beautifully accompanied with the piano by Mrs. Agnes Osborne. During the evening music was furnished by a string orchestra. Punch was served in the rounds from bowls cut in a huge block of ice, and delicious refreshments were served in the east ordinaries. The affair was a most delightful one in all details.

A second enjoyable event of last night was the Browning musicale given at the Ladies' Literary club by Miss Owen McDonald, assisted by well known musicians of the city. Miss McDonald gave an interpretation of "Alfred, Lord Tennyson's" beautiful poem on music, which he declares to be the spirit of all art. Following her interpretation of the poem, songs from the two Browning's poems were sung including Mrs. Browning's "Unlucky" (Caracole), sung by Mrs. Kate Bridgwell-Anderson; Robert Browning's "Wilt Thou Change, Toe" (Harradon), by Miss Edna Dwyer; Robert Browning's "I send My Heart Up to Thee," and "Ah, Love, but a Day" (Beach), by Mrs. Martha Royle King, and "He Oweeth His Beloved Sleep" (Bridge), by Mrs. Anderson. Miss Dwyer, Mr. Peabody and Mr. Critchlow. The entire evening was delightful and a large audience was present to enjoy it.

Miss Maud Reese Davies leaves today for Boston where she will fill an engagement for the winter.

Miss Nora Brown has returned from Portland.

W. Kiersted of Kansas City is in the city, the guest of Bishop Leonard.

Mrs. Rhinehart, who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Osborne, left today for the east.
