

FAREWELL SONG.

COMPOSED AND SUNG BY H. MAIBEN, AT THE ELDERS' PIC-NIC PARTY, SEPT. 26, 1860.

The time draws near when we must part
From some of those we hold most dear,
For they are call'd upon to start
On missions to some other sphere;
Yet knowing this we will not grieve,
But while with hope our bosoms swell,
We'll cheer their hearts before they leave,
And, blessing them, we'll say, "Farewell!"

When far away from Deseret,
Amidst the world our brethren roam,
No doubt they'll long some news to get
From this our dear, our mountain home;
And we likewise shall wish to know
Whate'er of good they have to tell;
So shall our thoughts pass to and fro,
Though, for a time, we say "Farewell!"

We bless you now with all the power
We by the priesthood can bestow,
And say that from this very hour
You shall in strength and knowledge grow.
Then go ye forth with all your might,
The gospel preach, its blessings tell;
Be sure to keep your armor bright;
You have our faith; fear not, "Farewell!"

Be valiant in the cause of Truth,
And God will bless your efforts pure,
And every Saint, both ag'd and youth,
Will strive your friendship to secure;
The light of life will in you burn,
And every adverse power dispel,
And you'll be lov'd when you return
Much more than when we said, "Farewell!"

CLIPPINGS.

—A schoolmaster in New London, Conn., has sued a pupil named Gordon for damages for an assault, and recovered a verdict of $200.

—A lawyer at White Sulphur Springs, Va., who had been on a spree, drank two bottles of Cologne and died. His memory is undoubtedly fragrant.

—A private company is said to have been formed in London by some leading houses in the linen trade for the promotion of the cultivation of flax in India, more especially in the Punjab.

—There is a village near Lynn, in which the manufacture of bogus jewelry is carried on to a great extent. One company is making ear-drops of a composition called oreide, which will sell for gold, but is not worth so much as brass. The other company is manufacturing gold chains out of German silver, brass or oreide.

—Two blacksmiths in Brooklyn, N. Y., had a duel with sledge hammers the other day and both were fatally injured.

—A good many years ago a Massachusetts man was elected to the office of Lieutenant Governor. When the fact of his election was announced, he was called upon for a speech. He proceeded to acknowledge the honor in very handsome terms, and added that he had no doubt he should make a good Lieutenant Governor as that was the office he had always held in his own house!

—At Milan, a sum of money had been bequeathed to be distributed to the best work of charity, and the testamentary executors could think of no better course than to send the money to Garibaldi in favor of the insurrection in Sicily and Naples.

—John Roach, a pugilist, who was to have fought next week in Vermont for $1,000, with a Boston hitite, was arrested in New York a few weeks since on the complaint of his mother, Catherine Roach, who objects to the contemplated "mill," and compelled him to furnish bail to keep the peace and not to leave the State to engage in a fight for the space of a year.

—The Philadelphia Inquirer thinks it would be an interesting subject for investigation to discover who are servants in the United States. Every man signs "obdt svt," but a real servant who is contented to be a servant it is impossible to find either in hotels, dwelling houses or elsewhere.

—At the Philadelphia U. S. Mint, three millions of gold dollars are now being melted and recoined into double eagles, in pursuance of an order to that effect from the Secretary of the Treasury.

—Salutes were fired and bells rung at sunrise, noon and sunset, on Sept. 17th, in commemoration of the 230th Anniversary of the Settlement of Boston.

—A drunken painter fell from a church steeple in Troy, N. Y., and was picked up mangled and dead.

—That wild young buck Sir Robert Peel has sold all his horses and means to appear on the turf no more. He once won a purse of $15,000 but has usually been unfortunate.

—A young man, who recently murdered his mother, two brothers, and his sweetheart, at Walworth, England, was executed on the 4th inst.

—The libraries in New York are closed in summer, during the same time the church doors are locked. No reading or preaching during dog days.

—The campaign medal manufacturers at Waterbury, Ct., are making 76,000 a day of the various candidates.

—A Wisconsin boy has made a clock, entirely of pine, except the cogs, which are hickory, and the only tool he used was a jack knife. Besides doing the ordinary duties of a clock, it denotes the day of the week and month.

—Mrs. Garland, wife of Gen. Garland, of the U. S. Army, dropped dead in the streets of Saratoga recently while walking with her daughter. She had been in her usual health previously.

—The two classes that rule France at the present moment are the soldiers and the aristocracy of wealth, and Louis Napoleon is a favorite with both—with the first, because he has led them to victory in the field; and with the second, because his strong arm is the best protection of the rights of property.

—It costs a million of dollars per day to maintain the government of France—that is, about $9 a year for each person in the Empire. The interest on the national debt is $120,000,000 annually. The army and navy came in for $93,000,000. Such a government ought to be very good.

—The Huntsman's Echo, published at Wood River, complains of the too frequent visits of Buffalo in that locality, and speaks of damage done by those visitors. The Echo, seemingly, has no terrors for those wild beasts.

—Two mammoth cedar trees have recently been discovered near Esquimalt, on Vancouver's Island. One of these monarchs of the forest measures 13 feet in diameter, or about 52 feet in circumference; the other, 15 feet, and about 56 in circumference; with a height of about 260 feet.

—South Carolina votes for President by Electors like other States, and elects them on the same day (Nov. 6,) but by her Legislature. All the other States elect by the People.

—A Troy paper says a Massachusetts lady—Mrs. Wright—was recently robbed of $6000 worth of diamonds and jewelry at Saratoga, by an "elegantly dressed" woman, a boarder, and an assumed fashionable belle.

—An exchange says that, the Garden of Eden might have been located in Kansas. The Bible plainly says that the rivers of Paradise arose from one source, and flowing out of the garden, divided into four great rivers, running in different directions. Nowhere but in the South part of Kansas is such a thing known on the earth.

—A verdant up country genius, while inspecting the navy yard at Kittery, Maine, lately came across three loaded cannons which are kept to sound an alarm in case of fire or accident. The percussion locks exciting his curiosity, he pulled the trigger, when bang went the gun, blowing the fellow's vest half off and scaring him tremendously. He concluded that he had "seen the elephant," and at once started for home.

—There is a young lady in Brooklyn, N. Y., so refined in her language that she never uses the word "blackguard," but substitutes "African sentinel."

—At Vaugeray on the Rhone a young woman aged nineteen took the prize at a plowing match with oxen. She is a good girl and supports her widowed mother on their farm.

—The Russian "nobs" are very reckless with their money. They gamble and "go" it awfully. That's the reason the landed estates of the Moscow and St. Petersburg princes are mortgaged so—to the amount of $368,000,000, says an English paper.

—Manchester, England, is the greatest manufacturing city in the world. Its steam force amounts to 1,200,000 horse power, consuming 20,000 tons of coal every 24 hours, or 9,390,000 in the year.

—At a colored camp meeting in West Stockbridge on Sunday, Sept. 23, a terrible fight ensued between a party of Irishmen and the negroes. Clubs, stones and guns were freely used, and several were fearfully, if not fatally, injured.

—Glass was broken in 2,300 houses, in Leipsic, by hail, on the 27th ult.

—John C. Pelton, the first pedagogue in California, and superintendent of public schools in San Francisco at present, is on a visit to New England.

—A gentleman in Burlington, Vt., has invented a simple and effective method of ventilating rooms. It is attached to the stove pipe, and takes the air from the bottom of the room, thus preventing the waste of fuel often occasioned by other modes of ventilation, and, as it is claimed, carrying off the impure air and noxious gasses.

—There is now a continuous chain of railroads from Bangor, Maine, to New Orleans, composed of eighteen independent roads, costing in the aggregate for 2,344 miles of road $2,394,084, or nearly one tenth of the whole railway system in the United States.

—An English paper tells a story of a bald-headed gentleman who has realized a beautiful crop of down, which bids fair to become hair, if it continues to grow, from the application of Plaster of Paris, for the purpose of taking a cast of his features. The artist, a well-known maker of busts, vouches for the fact.

—There was a small explosion in the Boston Post Office on Saturday, occasioned by the stamping of a letter, in which one of the famous "burglar's alarms" was enclosed. The envelope was torn to pieces, and the clerks thought of infernal machines, but the damage was confined to the letter.

—The Times' Paris correspondent remarks that the demand of the French government for satisfaction from Naples on account of the recent outrage on the French Ambassador, cannot be viewed otherwise than as a lift to Garibaldi and the revolutionists.

—A sow of the Berkshire and California cross, belonging to Mr. Leary, of Stockton, brought forth a litter of twenty-three pigs, a day or two ago.

—A correspondent of an Eastern paper, writing from Denver city, Kansas, says: that eleven twelfths of those reposing in the "city of the dead," near that place, came to their end by violence.

—The Supreme Court of Mississippi has affirmed the validity of the law making it penal for retailers to sell liquor to a drunken man, and declaring that the owner of the establishment is responsible for the acts of his barkeeper on his behalf.

—At the time the Japanese were in this country, another Japanese embassy was entertained in St. Petersburg. A letter from that city announces the arrival of an embassy from the Tycoon, with presents to the Emperor of Russia.

—A curious literary novelty in England is the production of the Bible which is indexed after the fashion of the Post Office Directory—that is, on the fore edge—so that the desired spot can be opened at once.

—A white man has been found in Cherokee county, Ga., 136 years of age.

Save your Paper Rags.

The inhabitants of Utah are requested to gather up and save their worn out wagon covers, and every description of cotton and linen rags for paper making, and deliver them, from time to time, to the Bishops of the several Wards, or the 'News' and 'Mountaineer' Offices or their agents, for which, when clean, they will be allowed five cents a pound. The rags can be sufficiently cleansed in pure water, without soap.

It is expected that, in a few months, all who wish can receive paper in exchange for rags.
