THE GREAT COUNTRY PAPER OF THE WEST

Is issued Mondays and Thursdays and contains all the cream of the Daily and Saturday News

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Miss Victoria May is ill with pneumonia in the Keogh-Wright hospital. The Sunday School Primary unit is meeting this afternoon, in the First Methodist church.

A number of persons who drew prizes at the Salt Lake estate excursion have failed to call for them, a list of such prizes will be published, and if not called for in 30 days, they will be otherwise disposed of.

Roy Anderson of 151 South Sixth West street, and Carl Holmer of Murray, two boys aged 12, were picked up on the streets of Ogden yesterday, having wandered from home, and were sent back to this city.

E. H. Elmer and wife of Silver City, Utah, are specially delighted at the advent of Mrs. Elmer's father, G. C. Elmer of this city, had stated that he would give $1,000 to his first grandson, and the grandson is now here.

The Retail Clerks' association met last night, and chose those officers for the following year: President, J. W. Alford; vice president, J. Harvey; secretary and treasurer, A. H. Nevis; guard, William Barnes. Mr. Nevis was elected delegate to the annual convention to be held in June next.

The local Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Second division, 108, G. L. A., will give their annual ball next Tuesday night, in Christensen's hall. The committee of arrangements are: Mrs. E. Sherman, Mrs. G. A. Wadsworth, Mrs. G. Gaine, A. Hatch, C. E. Sherman, L. A. Yates and L. W. Kester.

Mrs. Ella S. Hillis died from asthma yesterday afternoon, after suffering from the disease for the last 10 years. The funeral will be held from Hark's undertaking parlors at 3 p. m. tomorrow. A sister, Mrs. W. L. Goodsell of this city, and two sisters in the east survive her.

Miss Lella Hard, a graduate of St. Mark's hospital school for nurses, has been appointed on the staff of the L. B. hospital, which is now in Butter on a visit with her parents, but will return to this city shortly. She is sister of Lieut. Carl Hard of the "Thirty-fifth U. S. Infantry, and vice deputy chief of detectives in Manila.

L. C. Ranshoff's business was taken charge of yesterday afternoon by E. J. Mead, who will dispose of the stock of men's wear for the benefit of Mr. Ranshoff's creditors. The stock is valued at $2,000, and the fixtures at $1,000, while the liabilities are about $3,500. It is said that the creditors may sustain no loss.

The number of the University Chronicle just off the press is decidedly an ambitious effort. Cartoons dealing amusingly with campus life predominate. An alumni department makes a special appeal to former students to take the college magazine and keep in touch with the undergraduate life of their former alma mater.

The Ribby Ranch company filed articles of incorporation yesterday, with the county clerk. The capital stock is $100,000, valued at $1 per share, and the incorporators are Seth T. Williams, Joseph E. Frank, L. and Seth P. Ribby of this city. The company will carry on a general ranch, stock, irrigation and land improvement business.

The Daughters of the Confederacy will give a reception on the evening of Feb. 23 next, in the parlors of the Kenyon hotel, in honor of the newly elected officers of the Salt Lake chapter. The committee of arrangements are Mrs. Frederick C. Looftourou, Mrs. J. Reynolds, Mrs. Clara B. Leigh, Mrs. Jacob Ince, Mrs. William C. Hall and Mrs. Kate Bridwell-Anderson.

The Utah Women's Press club will meet in the Women's Exponent office tomorrow evening, where the following program will be observed: "Current Events," Mrs. Maria Francis; "Patrol to Poem," Dr. J. W. Alford; "The Washington," Mrs. M. J. Brown; "The Friendship of Lafayette and Washington," Mrs. Emil Maeser; "The Story of Betty Ross and the First Flag," Mrs. Lucie Y. Gates.

The Real Estate association has appointed W. J. Halloran, S. B. Tuttle and J. P. Stringer as a committee to act with the Commercial club in arranging for a suitable observance of the opening of the Sun Pedro canal. Messrs. W. P. Darling, A. W. Smith, and F. F. Morningstar have been appointed a committee to consider the improvement of a number of local streets most frequently used by drivers and automobile owners and owners of driving horses are invited to co-operate.

George W. Barratt, son of Captain I. M. Barratt of this city, won the first prize for black and white illustrations at the New York School of Art. The fact that this is Mr. Barratt's second year at the school and his competitors numbered students of the third and fourth year, testifies that his work was very meritorious. The subsequent young Barratt's picture is a girl standing behind the scenes upon the theatrical boards. She is surrounded by old trunks, boxes, scenery and stage property, and the picture has elicited much favorable criticism and comment.

Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Co. has on deposit over three and one half million dollars. If you have not an account, open one at once. Officers: J. F. Smith, President; George M. Cannon, Cashier.

COMMOION ON WEST TEMPLE ST.

Editor Wanted Idea and After Much Bodily Pain "Help" Came to Rescue.

HE HAD USED UP EVERYTHING.

"Choy" and "Old Grouch" and the Part They Played in Bringing It All About.

"HELP!"

The pedestrian on West Temple street paused and listened. All was silent save the rattle of the typewriters on the top-floor and the occasional creak of the "grape-vin" special pencil and then proceeded to write the word HIERARCHY with his eyes shut and with the left hand in a fashion that bore mute testimony to much practice.

A glare of light hung over the alley. "Palook, it was a dream; I am getting nervous," mumbled the pedestrian, as he buttoned his coat closer and continued on his way home.

One step, two, and then, unmistakably this time, the cry floated out through the transom on the second floor.

"HELP!" Once more it was repeated. It was not the cry of one in bodily pain or mental distress. It was more like the clamor of Stossel for ammunition. Could the yap have been reduced to cold print it might have been termed a stereotyped wall.

It was getting interesting. Just as the pedestrian reached the doorway of the stately form of Old Grouch emerged from his "office" at the rear of the hall. The stately form of Old Grouch swung open the door of the business office and the little form of Choy emerged from the front office. Choy, dressed in his patent leather with a bias air and a silk handkerchief, patted his hair, fixed a carnation daintily in his buttonhole and leisurely followed with the dignity commensurate with the position of assistant business manager. All three met at the door which bore the legend "Editor."

The nose of Old Grouch glowed angrily in the dimly-lighted hall, bringing into relief the pale faces of his companions. They paused and held their breath—old Grouch, for his was 100 strong.

Once more the wall arose. "Help!" "Yats de madder," wailed Choy, "you do not know what get life subscriptions to get out of here."

Old Grouch breathed heavily, and the door swung back on its hinges as the broken lock fell to the floor with the sound of a heavy editorial coming down the copy chute. "Oh, horrors; see him lying there," shrieked the A. B. M. as he hid his fair young face in a perfumed silk handkerchief.

"What of it?" roared Old Grouch, who by this time had found his voice. "Is he dead or has he been hit for?" It was the work of an instant to raise the window and fan the inert form back to life, while Choy thrust the flask into his pocket and helped himself to a cigar.

The first thing the Editor did on regaining consciousness was to fantasitically arrange his grey curls into a Padonian pompadour and strike an attitude which he copyrighted prior to his appearance in the famous all-star photograph at the Grand theater last fall.

"Help; give me an idea," wailed the Editor, as he cut his eyes around the room and motioned Choy not to step on them. "I have used up everything. My vocabulary has petered out until I have not got a single gem of thought left in my basket to flip at my old-time playmates."

"What you talking about?" sharply interjected Choy, "sife de Mormons hell, when you do not know what get life subscriptions to get out of here?"

"Oh, I am sick of it, why the fellows on the top floor and around Hark's are beginning to say that the Tribune has got Puck and Judge left at the post. To think that a Native Son who once sat in the Senate should come down to writing copy paragraphs for a Boker is a very cork game ain't it. Vy before ter schange at Vells-Fargus park I used to holt cork hams myself. Got it, Himmell, you make me tired."

"Yes, stick to the party of the American home, that's the best layout," interjected the A. B. M. who in the front of the seat posted, to inform the whole United States."

"Kurek! Tintik! Juah! I have it! I have an idea! Clear out of here and give me time to think. The United States, that's it! Say Choy, did you see a next morning the crazy 'HELP' editorial appeared in all the glory of double back, and marked copies were sent back to each member of the senate committee on privileges and elections."

The pedestrian read it at the breakfast table and sighed.

"BOGUS CURRENCY." Counterfeit Silver Certificates in the Hands of a Gang Headed to Salt Lake.

It is said that a number of crooks who are engaged in passing counterfeit $10 silver certificates are headed toward this city, and local bankers are keeping a sharp lookout lest they receive some of the spurious bills. At Pueblo, Colo., more than $1,000 of these notes were passed upon the unsuspecting citizens. The counterfeiters are numbered 2302022 and marked with "D." in imitation of the Buffalo series, but when held up to the light they show black pencil marks, instead of the silk threads which characterize the genuine certificates. So far, the banks in this city have not been taken in by the bogus money sharks, but it is not yet known whether unwary merchants have thus been duped.

Rev. Carlisle P. B. Martin, L.L.D. Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of tubercles, which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge; but a small quantity of Hark's Household Remedy at once dissolves it and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so safe that I can recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." Price, 25c. Sold by Z. C. M. L. Drug Dept.

Word has reached this city that Mrs. Mary Hagan, once a resident here, has been released from the Mount Hope Retreat, near the city of Baltimore. The place mentioned is an asylum for the insane, and Mrs. Hagan has been an inmate therein for a period of 25 years. Her friends say that she has never been insane, but claim that she was placed there by the duplicity and intrigue of her husband, the late Judge Albert Hagan, and that her detention for so long a time was occasioned by the fact that she was not permitted to communicate with her friends on the outside. The whereabouts of Mrs. Hagan's two daughters has not as yet been ascertained, though a friend of the lady, Miss Lawson, is making every endeavor to reunite the unhappy mother with her long lost children.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best Made.

"In my opinion Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best made for colds," says Mrs. Cora Walker of Fortville, California. "There is no doubt about its being the best. No other will cure a cold so quickly. No other is so pleasant and safe to take. These are good reasons why I should use it every time I am sick. The fact is that few people are satisfied with any other after having used this remedy, for sale by all druggists."

TO DRAIN SWAMPS. Residents of West Side Take Steps to Improve Their Property.

It is designed by owners of marsh land west and northwest of the city to provide some means of draining that property, but just what procedure will be followed has not yet been determined upon. A number of the owners met yesterday at the Cullen hotel, expecting to receive the report of a committee named at a previous meeting as to the best plans to be adopted. The report was not forthcoming. It was decided to hold another meeting on Feb. 2, at which time it is hoped definite action will be taken looking to the betterment of a vast acreage that is now practically valueless.
