

HARRIMAN TALKS OF HIS ROADS

Absolutely Necessary for the Union Pacific to Secure Control of Central Pacific.

HIS COMBINE IS NOT SELFISH.

Wants Westerners to Understand This —Holds Timber Lands for Benefit of Future Generations.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 4.—E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, stopped over here long enough tonight to deliver a stirring talk to the National Irrigation congress in which he told how he came to take control of the Union Pacific, and of the attitude of his organizations in the matter of irrigation and forestry. Mr. Harriman and Gov. Chamberlain of Oregon, president of the congress, engaged in a mild debate, the railroad magnate getting up to reply to the remarks of Oregon's chief executive.

Harriman said that when he suggested to his associates east of the Mississippi that they take hold of the Union Pacific, they regarded him as being almost out of his senses and asked what he was going to do with the great desert to be traversed. "I told them of the possibility of irrigation," said Harriman, "but they replied that would come in another generation, not in ours. I had to go alone and perhaps some of them now regret that I did not use more force and persuasion to have them go along with me." Harriman then said that his organizations controlled much timber land in Oregon, but that it was not being sold or the timber cut, but is being saved for future generations.

Harriman referred to the work done in improving the Union Pacific and said it was necessary to secure control of the Central Pacific and improve it likewise, otherwise traffic would be choked up at Oregon. He closed by saying he hoped the people of the west would not consider his organization selfish and added that everything possible was being done to develop the west.

After Harriman resumed his seat Gov. Chamberlain, referring to the Oregon forest lands and their preservation, said the people wanted something done for the present generation and not for the future.

"I do not want to get into a discussion with Mr. Harriman, but I would like to know how many acres of the original grant have been sold by the railroad at a price in excess of that fixed by the grant. I do not think companies should be permitted to hold such large grants. I would like to see Mr. Harriman build into Oregon and live in it," he said.

Harriman, replying, said there was little inducement to build into a country which was so thinly populated. He referred to Oregon as a very fine state, but called attention to the fact that shoveling of snow would be required for several months out of the year. He, however, promised that when times became better and the need of great organization was re-established, he would build a road into Oregon whether it paid or not. The incident then closed.

THE HAGUE CONGRESS.

Committee Considering Rights and Duties of Neutrals Finishes Work.

The Hague, Sept. 4.—The committee on land warfare, which has been considering the rights and duties of neutrals, finished its labors today. Baron Marschall von Bieberstein (Germany) announced that he could not accept the French amendment which would place in the territory of belligerent countries, and in the hands of the belligerents, the right to use neutral material and transport. This proposal was adopted.

M. Neillhoff, president of the conference, announced that Queen Wilhelmina had decided to leave the Hall of Knights at the disposal of the conference.

The opening of the Netherlands parliament will take place this year in some other building.

ORDER OF EASTERN STAR.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4.—The twelfth triennial convention of the general grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star opened a three days' meeting in the East Side Masonic temple today. Over 300 delegates, representing every state in the Union with the exception of Delaware, are present.

The revision of the constitution is one of the most important matters to be considered. Mrs. Ella S. Washburn of Racine, Wis., is in line for the highest office and will be elected Friday.

ANTWERP RIOTS.

Men Who Participated in Disorders
Led by a Woman.

Antwerp, Sept. 4.—The militia controlled the situation here today, though the rioters attacked a number of freight cars in which strike breakers were riding.

About 3,000 of the locked out dock laborers, porters and men in sympathy with the locked-out laborers, held a meeting during the day and adopted a resolution setting forth that they were not responsible for yesterday's disorders.

Twenty rioters were wounded last night by the sabres or revolvers of the police.

The men who took part in the recent disorders here have largely been led by women.

TWO NAVAL CADETS.

Think They Should Not Be Dismissed
Where Others Have Been Demerited.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Two of the Annapolis naval cadets suspended and recommended for dismissal by Capt. Badger, the commandant, have answered the order of the acting secretary of the navy to show cause why the dismissal shall not be enforced. The letters were from Clarence R. Riner of Wyoming and A. G. Salt of Indiana, both fourth-class men last year, and not promoted this year. They were found guilty of "fraternizing" having, it was charged, stolen away without leave to see women attached to a theatrical company. The only defense is that they think a sentence of dismissal is unjust when other cadets have merely been demerited for the same offense. The other two cadets recommended for dismissal left the practice ship at Bath, Me., after having been refused shore leave.

FIRE AT PUT-IN-BAY.

Put-In-Bay, O., Sept. 4.—The Put-In-Bay house, one of the leading hotels in this island, was today totally destroyed by fire last night, together with most of its contents. Guests were compelled to leave the burning structure hastily and few of them saved their belongings. No one was injured.

JAP SEALERS SET FREE.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 4.—The steamship Yucatan, which was to have brought 30 Japanese sealers from the schooner Kaituma and Nitta Maru to this city for deportation, carried the men instead to Unalakleet, where they were set free under the terms of a treaty between the United States and Japan. The Kaituma Maru was returned to Capt. Kadota and he and his crew were released. The incident was the result of a dispute between the United States and Japan over the sealing of fur seals.

PROMINENT PITTSBURG POLITICIANS ARE INDICTED

Pittsburg, Sept. 4.—A political sensation was caused here today when it became known that the grand jury had indicted four prominent politicians for alleged participation in connection with the election of 1906. The indicted are: Elliott Rodgers, a state senator and former judge of the common pleas; William H. Hoge, member of Allegheny county board of directors; Charles A. Lehigh, police judge; and William H. Hoge, member of Allegheny county board of directors. The indictments charge procuring of false registration and fraudulent voting and conspiracy to defraud the tax receipts. The charges, it is said, are based upon the November election of 1906, when the indicted were alleged to have secured the votes of the colored people by the use of false registration and fraudulent voting.

H. H. TUCKER, JR., RELEASED.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 4.—H. H. Tucker, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the United Oil company, was released here today from the county jail after serving a three-month sentence for contempt, imposed by a federal judge. He was sentenced to jail for refusing on Federal Judge J. Edgar Smith's order to appear in court to answer a petition affecting the company's stock. Tucker appealed to President Roosevelt for a pardon, but it was denied.

MOORS FIGHT DESPERATELY

With Banners Flying, Chanting Verses from the Koran. They Charge the French.

BUT THEY WERE REPULSED.

Submitted to a Fire of Shot and Shell
That Soon Left Ground Covered
With Dead and Dying.

Casa Blanca, Sept. 4.—About 3,000 Moors participated in Monday's fight. The Moors, who were repulsed on all sides, made a most impressive picture, as parbed fantastically, mounted on wild horses and carrying their banners in the front line, they swept down from the hills in splendid formation and charged thunderously to within about 400 yards of the French, who for a moment seemed in danger of being over-run. As the advance of the Moors was checked, the French opened a heavy fire of shot and shell. The regular Algerian forces encountered the first shock of the Moors' assault without yielding a foot from their position they occupied. Gen. Drude quickly deployed his forces to the greatest advantage and the Moors were submitted to a fire of shot and shell which soon left the ground strewn with corpses.

Major Prevost conducted a scouting expedition, which was the actual cause of the battle, the object being to locate the enemy and prepare the way for an extensive offensive movement later. The major advanced about eight miles in southern Algeria, where he met the Moors with scattered bands of Moors, which were easily dispersed. He then gave the orders to return and it was when starting the camp that the force was ambushed by a large number of Moors. Prevost formed his men in hollow squares, with the Algerian cavalry in front. Gen. Drude quickly reinforced Prevost and the engagement immediately developed into a desperate conflict from which the Moors retreated only after their ranks had been decimated by a deadly fire which it was impossible to withstand.

It is estimated that in the engagements of Aug. 28 and Sept. 1, about 1,000 Moors were killed.

SITUATION SERIOUS.

Paris, Sept. 4.—The news of Monday's engagements, which took place near Casa Blanca, has shocked as well as surprised France. The fighting demonstrated that the Moroccan situation is steadily growing more serious and that although France is constantly victorious, the dogged, fanatical resistance of the Moors who appear to be mobilizing in the case of a general offensive, constitute a distant enlargement of the allied forces in order to bring the fighting to an end. The fierce assaults of the Moors are believed to be due to their failure to annihilate the Moors during the early stages of the expedition, a result which France was unable to accomplish on account of the restrictions imposed on her by the Algiers convention.

In the course of an interview tonight Premier Clemenceau pointed out that the scene of the fighting of Monday was in the direction of Timel, and he therefore concluded that the engagements of Sunday had effectively closed out the Arab camp at Taddert.

The premier was loud in his praise of Gen. Drude, who, he said, was to be congratulated on having defeated the most formidable Moorish army that yet has appeared before Casa Blanca. Gen. Drude now has a total of 7,000 men. This is considered ample and is more than he asked for. Gen. Drude is now on the subject of the arms at Mazagan, Premier Clemenceau said that matter was extremely complicated.

The premier said he hoped it would not be necessary to lead natives to settle the affairs, as that was a most serious step. He added that the matter was in the hands of the French government, in which he had the greatest confidence. In conclusion, the premier said:

"I tell you all there is to be known, and for goodness' sake, don't go and say that Gen. Drude has checked the Moors. They have done as they always do."

"They were beaten at every point. They will reform and return to the attack. As Gen. Drude is an old African campaigner, he is thoroughly conversant with their methods and is not to be surprised by them."

The minister of war, Gen. Picquart, has received a telegram from Gen. Drude reporting that eight Frenchmen were killed and 17 were wounded in the engagement of Monday.

M. Regnaud, the French minister at Tangier, left Paris today for Spain, where he will confer with the Spanish officials on the subject of the enlargement of the action and co-operation of Spain and France.

A dispatch was received during the day from Vice-Admiral Philibert at Casa Blanca reporting that a new engagement occurred Tuesday about seven miles south of Casa Blanca.

The French cruiser Gloire participated in the fighting, firing 150 shells at the Moors, who were dispersed and fled to the hills. This engagement followed a forward movement on the part of the French forces. The admiral added that the other ports of Morocco were quiet.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL DIRECTORS' MEETING.

New York, Sept. 4.—Directors of the Illinois Central met today to act on the business brought to a sudden close a week ago. As the by-laws of the company permit a special meeting to be called by two directors, the conclusion was reached in Wall street that the same had been called by Stuyvesant Fish.

Those who attended the meeting were: Messrs. Harahan, Golett, Peabody, Nacikoff, Auchincloss, Vanderbilt, Cutting and Beach. At the offices of the company it was stated that no information regarding the meeting would be given out. Mr. Fish declined to make any statement regarding what had taken place. President Harahan could not be found after the adjournment.

According to a statement given out by the president's secretary after his return to Chicago last week, the resolution offered by Mr. Fish that brought on the crisis, between Fish and Harahan asked for, certain information regarding changes in the company's method of accounting. The resolutions were said to contain charges against the present management, which Mr. Fish desired to have answered. They allege, it is said, that the affairs of the Illinois Central are virtually conducted from 121 Broadway, the office of the Union Pacific.

They likewise contained clauses questioning the legitimacy of certain financial transactions in which the Illinois Central has been engaged. With the adoption of the resolutions today it was understood that some answer would be given to the management and submitted to a meeting of the board of directors, to be held next Wednesday. It is also said that the resolution submitted today, which expressed Mr. Fish's contention and views of the present management of the road in most vigorous terms, although the sting was removed.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Lieut. Col. Elliot W. Halford, pay department, U. S. A., was retired today, having reached the statutory age of 64 years. Col. Halford was attached to headquarters of the department of California at San Francisco, and was one of the most widely known officers in the pay corps of the army. He was private secretary to the late President, Benjamin Harrison from 1889 to 1893.

"It is a fine country, but I doubt if we shall be building east of the mountains for a while. It is in the profitable district to operate a railroad through, on account of the scattered communities and limited means of communication. Guaranteed financial conditions, predicting speedy improvement."

GASOLINE EXPLODES.

And Five Firemen Are Seriously Injured.

New York, Sept. 4.—An explosion of a tank of gasoline in the cellar of a burning building on Havemeyer street, Brooklyn, today seriously injured five firemen. Two of the firemen, John Kennedy and James Smith, probably will die of their injuries. The fire broke out in a tenement house cellar where there was stored a quantity of paint and oil. Firemen who had flooded the cellar with water were rolling out a tank of gasoline when it exploded. Kennedy and Smith were knocked down by the explosion and the burning gasoline spread over the water in the cellar and engulfed five other firemen. They were finally rescued from the flames.
