

THE MISSIONARY FIELD.

A Happy Labor, Though Not Always Visible in its Results.

Correspondent DESERET NEWS.

LONDON, England, Jan. 24, 1894.

The past twenty months have been the most pleasant part of my life. During this time I have devoted my entire attention to the work of the Lord.

At the same time, we do not find the return of our labor as encouraging as our fathers did some ten years back, when our Gospel mission would convert a hundred millions we can start us to investigate. How thankful we are to a stronger man in his our condition. But when we denote that we have the only true

Gospel, we can find ourselves against a mounting tide. Those who are to be Christians must overcome with the idea that they are members of the true Christian church. They must be true Christians in mind and the institutions and teachings of Christians have been perverted. It is very difficult for the great mass of unbelievers to free themselves from their old traditions and views from the old path which has been so long tried by their forefathers. We find that it requires an honest heart, an independent mind and a firm resolution to embrace an unpopular truth and stand up boldly and right against the mighty current of the persecutions which continually threaten to overwhelm and destroy.

But we are thankful to say that we are finding a few who have integrity and moral courage enough to accept the truth of the Gospel and to stand up for the principles which are so justly called Christianity; and we find that these who are ready and willing to accept all of the Gospel, for the Gospel's sake, and whose character is well known among their respective neighborhoods, are doing in allaying prejudice and setting forth the truth of the Gospel, and we find that a very different matter to make any impression on the world.

are some ten thousand people in the

A Natural Food.

Conditions of the system arise

when ordinary

foods cause to build flesh—

there is urgent

need of arresting waste—assistance must come quickly, from natural food source.

Scott's Emulsion

is a condensation of the life of all foods—it is cod-liver oil reinforced, made easy of digestion, and about as palatable as milk.
