DURANT HANGED AT LAST.

A bulletin from San Quentin prison states that at last this (Friday) morning the trap was sprung on Durand, the San Francisco murderer, and that three out of the most remarkable criminal cases of the century. The horrible, ghastly crime of the century, the three attending the crime of which he was convicted, the remarkable and audacious with which he was convicted, the character of the evidence against him, which was purely circumstantial; the astonishing persistence and resource, in legal strategy, of his attorney; and above all his persistence of innocence, coupled with what purported to be a sane and unflinching truth that he was innocent of the crime for which he was hanged.

From the hour of his arrest up to his last on earth, Durand spoke of himself as a martyr to circumstantial evidence, and contended as a sincere Christian of the highest moral rectitude and profoundest religious convictions might well be expected to under like circumstances. His apparent piety did much toward creating doubt as to his guilt, and many people will question whether a great mistake has not been made in his taking off.

But the public officers of California who have had to do with his case are unanimous in their support of the verdict of the jury, and in the opinion that his piety was either simulated, or that it was an attribute of a man who while possessing it, was yet capable of committing a most atrocious crime. It has attracted much attention as a study in mental and moral science, and much disappointment has been expressed by scientific men because his brain is not to be dissected.

The law's delay is ended, its penalty has been inflicted, and the case of Theodore Durand is closed. The case has been said and written, and will soon pass from the public eye. But his parents, who are most worthy people according to all reports, will be objects of sympathy on his account as long as they live.

UTAH LIFE STOCK ASSOCIATION.

It is a good thing for the State that this association has been organized. It is proposed to embrace within it both sheep and cattle men, and all of such class who are interested in the stock industry. There is more or less clashing of interests between these two industries, and it is quite reasonable to believe that this association may be much reduced, if not entirely removed, by the coming together in a friendly and patriotic organization of the representatives of both.

At the present time every litigation involving more or less animosity, is pending between the sheep and cattle men, and it would be a most beneficial thing for the entire state if the two parties could come to an agreement that would fairly and justly entangle the rights and interests of both. One of the objects of the organization is to achieve this result, or at least to facilitate it.

A GRATUITOUS PRECEDENT.

So far as present recollection serves, the State Department of the United States government has never granted itself to anyone a release of wrongs inflicted upon. Later-day faults in foreign countries. Many cases have occurred in which Americans who were wronged in countries with which this government had treaties guaranteeing protection to its subjects, have been grossly mistreated, and in some cases the wrongdoers have been aided and abetted by the State Department in any effort to obtain damages or other satisfaction.

It is a well grounded claim for reparation, and Mr. William Churchill, the United States consul general in Rome, did his duty by insisting that the State Department, prior to the close of President Cleveland's administration, should have taken up the matter, however, and it has been doing it since. Mr. Churchill, accompanied by Mr. Churchill, arrived in Rome on Friday, and he has been doing it since. ITO AND LI HUNG CHANG.

The announcement that Marquis Ito is to leave for the United States, is a most interesting one. The Marquis is a man of great ability and energy, and his departure from Japan is a great loss to that country. He has been a prominent figure in Japanese politics, and his departure is a great loss to that country.

WHICH DOES THE EASTERN BEGIN?

An exchange regards it as a regrettable peculiarity of the human mind that so much uncertainty exists regarding the true beginning of the twentieth century. There is, probably, no newspaper in the country that does not at regular intervals receive a well merited rebuke for "falsely placing the date of the commencement of the century," and some periodicals do it necessary to publish the proper reply to this question every week. In the present case, the date of the commencement of the century is a matter of great importance, and it is necessary to publish the proper reply to this question every week.

STARVING STUDENTS.

President Harnes of the Chicago University has made the startling announcement that the students of that institution are starving. He has made this announcement in a letter to the students, in which he has stated that they are starving and that they need food.

TWO STRAINS OF RACED.

There are two strains of blood among the white inhabitants of South America. One is the strain of the European, and the other is the strain of the African. The European strain is the dominant one, and the African strain is the subordinate one. The two strains are mixed together, and the result is a new race, the mixed race.

A crusade has been started in South America against the evil of intemperance. It is a crusade that is being led by a man of great ability and energy, and it is a crusade that is being led by a man of great ability and energy.

Perhaps the homilies for which he is noted are but the outward manifestation of a strength that is doing on with the ultimate result of his life. He is a man of great ability and energy, and his departure from Japan is a great loss to that country.

The telegraphic columns of the "News" today contain accounts of the execution of five murderers, whose victims were women. The letters of this morning's paper ought not to complain at the extent of the supply.
