Details of Powder Explosion Near
Douglas, Ariz., Which Killed
Eight Men.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL AT MESA

Over Remains of Victor Shill, Samuel
Steele and Will Sanders, All
Men of Family.

Special Correspondence.

Mesa, Maricopa Co., Arizona, Nov. 22.—The bodies of Victor Shill, Samuel Steele, and Will Sanders were brought home to Mesa Sunday, Nov. 18, and a triple funeral was held at 2 p. m. in the tabernacle. The services were presided over by Bishop Hyrum W. Davis, and the music was furnished by the Mesa ward choir.

There were present on the stand the stake presidency and most of the officers of the stake, and many friends of the deceased.

The three caskets were covered with a bank of flowers—silent, yet beautiful witnesses of the great respect the people had for deceased and the great sympathy they felt for the bereaved.

Surrounding the coffins were gathered the fathers and mothers, wives and children, and brothers and sisters and relatives. The entire building was packed, and many were unable to enter the building.

The services were sad and impressive. Elders L. R. Lewis, Isaac Rogers, Benjamin Nobles, President J. T. Lesueur and Bishop Davis were the speakers, and all spoke in high terms of respect of the deceased, and offered words of comfort and sympathy for the bereaved.

At the conclusion of the services, the funeral procession, about the largest ever seen in Mesa, went to the Mesa cemetery, where the bodies were consigned to mother earth.

Victor Shill leaves a wife and three children; Will Sanders leaves a wife and one child, while Sam Steele leaves a wife and four children.

The details of the sad affair as given by Orson Shill, brother of Victor Shill, who was within 60 feet of the spot where the explosion took place and looking in that direction at the time, and who knows more about it than any other man living, are as follows:

"The explosion occurred at the Lee line stone quarry, about nine miles east of Douglas, A. T. The quarry belongs to the Copper Queen company, but is operated under contract by T. Hines. Victor Shill had been foreman of the works for a couple of years, and I was his assistant. There were about 50 men on the job at the time of the tragedy, most of them working along the face of the quarry. The quarry is located on the side of a mesa, and has been worked back about 800 feet, leaving a bluff about 60 feet high, with a face of about 150 yards. This particular hole had been sunk 24 feet and complete the afternoon before and at 6 p. m. was sprung, ready to receive the powder in the morning, as was the custom there. The surface of the hole was broken up considerably from the concussion, and it was not until 8:30 o'clock the next morning that it was cleared ready for the powder. I had visited the hole where Sam Steele the powder man, who loaded all of the big holes, was at work cleaning it, at 7:30 a. m., and reported the condition to my brother Victor and about 8 a. m. he went up also, and remained there until the hole was ready to receive the powder about 8:30, when he came down into the quarry and after putting some men to work he motioned me that he was going back up. I noticed them at work from time to time loading the hole with powder, until the last of the 40 pounds of Judson powder was in the hole. My brother was sitting facing me, with his feet on either side of the hole. Will Sanders was sitting on his left on a box, and I saw Sam Steele pick up the wooden tamping rod and insert it in the hole, to see if the powder had run to the bottom, when the explosion took place. I was standing about 60 feet to the right of them. I saw a puff of dust from the hole and then I was in darkness from the dust that arose. Boulders and rocks flew all around me but I was not touched. In a few moments the dust cleared away and I saw what had happened. The entire face of the bluff for 25 feet opposite the hole had been blown away and fell to the bottom of the quarry, burying five Mexicans working there. Will Sanders was lying at the base of the quarry about 70 feet from where he had been sitting, and was not yet dead, but died at 10 o'clock that night. I sent his body to camp, but the men to work digging out the Mexicans, phoned to Douglas for help and then went in search of the remains of my brother and Sam Steele.

I found the larger part of my brother's body about 500 feet back up the hill from where he was sitting, while his feet were blown 500 feet in the opposite direction. He was literally blown to pieces, as was Sam Steele. The parts were gathered up and about 11 o'clock the coroner's jury, doctors and help arrived and took possession of the bodies. The families of all three men were brought into Douglas and the bodies shipped to Mesa.

VICTIM OF DIPHTHERIA.

Miss Adeline Bond Ill Only From Thursday to Sunday.

Diphtheria claimed a victim yesterday, in the person of Miss Adeline Bond, a student of the L. D. S. university. The young lady was ill from Thursday to Sunday, when death came as a result of the malignant disease. The deceased was in her seventeenth year, having been born at Henderson, Mo., Oct. 29, 1889. Her parents are Neff A. and Emily H. Bond, and she, with two brothers and two sisters, of the deceased, survive.

Miss Bond was a bright and intelligent young lady, very studious, and had passed successfully through the public schools, and had started on a high school course, when her life was suddenly terminated. Miss Bond had many friends, and her death is deeply deplored. The remains were privately interred in the City cemetery this forenoon.

ALVIN C. OWEN DEAD.

Found on Street in Comatose Condition—Death Followed Quickly.

Alvin C. Owen, a waiter by trade, residing at 214 E. street, was found early Sunday morning lying on the sidewalk near Eagle Gate in a semiconscious condition. He was at once removed to the emergency hospital where he died within an hour. Mr. Owen had been suffering with a complication of diseases for some time past. He had been in bed for the last week but felt strong enough to go down town. He left home about 2 o'clock. This was the last seen of him alive by his relatives. He attempted to work in one of the downtown restaurants and was on his way home from work when found about 1 o'clock Sunday morning. He had long been an active worker in both the Twentieth ward and tabernacle. He had a large host of friends who will greatly miss him. Funeral services will be held in the Twentieth ward meetinghouse at 1 o'clock Tuesday. He leaves three little girls, a mother, two brothers and two sisters to mourn his demise.

POLICE WANT KENNEDY.

How Grifter Worked Bunco Game in Idaho Towns.

J. D. Kennedy, supposedly of Rexburg, Ida., is wanted by the local department of police. Kennedy came here recently from Idaho, where he had represented himself as a merchant and business man of considerable means. It was in Rexburg where he obtained some money and clothing by this means, and then in Sugar City, where he collected three trunks of clothing. He did this by representing himself to the Beau Brummels that he was a Rexburg dye and cleaning company agent. He agreed to take the suits and return them in two days, cleaned and good as new. The two days were passed some two weeks ago, yet he has failed to put in his appearance. The society functions have been postponed awaiting his most desired appearance. From Rexburg he came to Ogden and Salt Lake. The Junction City was considered too slow for him and he passed up. He registered at the Kenyon, where he could be frequently seen lounging about. He remained here for nearly a week. The second day he cashed a check for $125 at the hotel, another of $35 at the Victoria cafe, and a third of $50 at a Victoria alley dive. About the time the bogus checks were due to return, he left the city and has not been seen since, notwithstanding he made his presence felt while here and has left a large following behind, who deeply mourn his unexpected departure.

HON. J. H. SMITH RETURNS TO CITY

He Attended Transmississippi
Congress Held Last Week.

GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

Distinguished Men Were Present and Subjects of Vital Importance Considered.

Hon. John Henry Smith was one of the Salt Lakeers who returned from Kansas City last night, where he went to attend the Transmississippi congress, held last week. Mr. Smith says that it was an altogether uncommon gathering and that the session promises to become memorable. Some very distinguished men were present from all parts of the country, and subjects of very vital importance were ably considered. Mr. Smith felicitates himself on the fact that he was one of the first to congratulate William J. Bryan after the latter had delivered what the Salt Lakeers said was designated as a most wonderful and entrancing address. The vast audience was held spellbound under the magic eloquence of the gifted Nebraskan, some of whose views were rejected by the committee, but adopted by the convention itself.

Mr. Smith is of the opinion that a vast amount of good was accomplished by the congress, and that its benefits will be felt in many lines of industrial and commercial life.

SKATING RINK NOTES.

Auditorium.—The Auditorium Skating rink, on Richards street, will have a grand opening tonight. Tuesday night there will appear at that place the highest priced skating team in the world, Tyler and Berton. Everything is auspicious for a large crowd and an interesting evening's sport when the doors are thrown open this evening.

Wassett.—Charles Watkins won his match race from Matthews at the Wassett rink in 3:56. Matthews took the lead at the crack of the pistol. The hold when the midge with a remarkable burst of speed passed him and crossed the tape a winner by two feet.

ASPHALTUM LAND SALES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The secretary of the interior has made public a statement of sales of asphaltum lands in Utah under authority of the act of Congress and the president's proclamation. He has made awards of 78 tracts of mineral lands averaging 40 acres each in Vernal land district, Utah county. The lands sold are situated in the northeast section of the state, near the eastern boundary and in the region of white river, a tributary of Green river. The awards were made to the highest bidders as follows:

Name.	No. Acres.	Price.
Robert W. Walsh, St. Louis	2	$4,000
Patrick R. Quinlan, Syracuse, N. Y.	6	3,758
James L. Bruster, New York	11	18,284
Joseph W. Royer, Chicago	7	279
Ernest Searling, Chicago	13	519
Ira Atkinson, Lansdown, Pa.	9	339
Edgar H. Bowles, Norbert, Pa.	13	3,690
J. Lewis Cline, Chicago	7	280
Maynard Bixby,	10	400

The average price per acre of all lands recommended for sale was $24.89.

ARMY DESERTIONS LAST YEAR 6,258.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Desertion is on the increase in the army. The annual report of the military secretary shows that in the year ended June 30 there were 6,258 deserters, or 7.4 per cent, 160 soldiers in the army. In 1905 the rate of desertion was only 6.8, and for the three years previous to that time the rate of desertion was only 6.1. From 1895 to 1904 the average of desertion was only 4.5 per cent. The rate of desertion in 1905 was highest in the field artillery, 9.2 per cent. The cavalry was next with 7.8 per cent.

White soldiers showed a desertion average of 8.4 per cent, while the negro soldiers showed an average of only 2.3 per cent. Twenty-five per cent of the deserters were in the first three months of the desertion enlistment. Ninety per cent of the deserters were of native birth, and as 89 per cent of the enlisted men in 1905 were of native birth the rate of desertion among natives and foreigners was about the same.

Of the men who deserted in 1905, 813 have been apprehended and 246 surrendered to the military authorities. The number of deserters convicted of desertion, sentenced to confinement and dishonorably discharged was 628.

"The number of desertions," said Gen. Ainsworth, "doubtless will be decreased if the military authorities themselves cease to exercise the leniency with which they have heretofore treated deserters who have been apprehended and returned to military control."

CLIFFORD CAUGHT.

Is Young Man Who Killed His Aged Father.

Portland, Nov. 26.—Edward Clifford, who yesterday shot and killed his aged father, a fisherman living near Glasgow, was captured here early this morning and committed to jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury. It is believed the father and son quarreled over money matters. The son will not talk.

GILLETTE MURDER CASE.

Dr. Douglas Testifies Girl Was Killed
Before Body Fell Into Lake.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Dr. O. A. Douglas went on the witness stand in the Gillette trial here today and testified that Grace Brown was killed by injuries inflicted before her body fell into the big Moose lake, where it was found. Chester Gillette is on trial, charged with having caused the young woman's death. An unusually large crowd was in attendance at the trial today.

Dr. Douglas was one of the physicians who performed the autopsy on Grace Brown's body. He also testified that the tennis racket which Gillette buried, and which the sheriff found was capable of producing the abrasions and other injuries found on the body.

"The condition of the girl's lungs did not indicate drowning," said Dr. Douglas. This latter statement was stricken out.

The lips were swollen, and the tip of the nose was enlarged and discolored. The left center upper tooth was overlapping the right center upper tooth. The left cheek bone was swollen. There were abrasions of the membranes of the lips. There was a blood clot on the brain, but no fracture of the skull.

"In your opinion, what was the cause of death?"

"I should say that death resulted from shock or concussion resulting from blows or injuries to the head before immersion, or if immersion did occur, while there was still life, the chances of restoration were so few that immersion was unnecessary to produce death."

In his cross-examination of Dr. Douglas, Mr. Mills, senior counsel for Gillette, first took up the subject of the girl's eyes.

"You say there was much membrane in them?" asked Mr. Mills.

"Yes."

"Isn't that an indication of drowning usually?"

"It is."

The witness also testified that the swelling of the lips, the enlargement of the tip of the nose and the light red coloring of the lungs were symptoms of drowning.
