

WOOL SEASON IN MONTANA OPENS

Reported That There Will be 30,000,000 Pounds Moved.

UTAH IS NOW CLEANED UP.

Nearly 100,000 Pounds Left in the State—There is, However, 2,500,000 Pounds Still in Idaho.

The wool season opened in Montana on Monday, J. A. Foley, commercial agent for the Illinois Central here, returned from the Billings and Great Falls districts this morning and reports that the season opened very slowly with the buyers holding off apparently, so that there is not much wool moving. It is estimated that the output of wool from Montana this season will reach about 30,000,000 pounds, nearly all of which he will up to the average of past years. The wool season, as far as Utah is concerned, is practically over. Railroad men report that there is not 100,000 pounds left in the state. In Idaho, also, the season is drawing to a close with about 2,500,000 pounds yet to be shipped east.

TRANSFER COMPLETE.

Every Agent on Salt Lake Route Checked Out and In.

The special train bearing the San Pedro and Oregon Short Line representatives returned at 2 o'clock this morning from its run to California and back. Chief Clerk Murphy of the traffic department of the Salt Lake Route reports that they had a splendid run and found all the agents along the line waiting for the special. At each station, the delivery of the new tickets, stationery and office material took but little time. The last official act of Traveling Auditor Craig as a member of the auditing department occurred on this trip, when he checked out the agents. Not a single agent declined to work for the new road, and all the men went on working just as though the change had never transpired. Master Mechanic Tollett reports to commence work on repainting the rolling stock turned over in the near future when the cars will be repainted and the sign of the arrow affixed. The legend that will adorn the cars will be, as previously noted, "The Salt Lake Route."

Annals Are Still Good.

Circular No. 8, issued from the office of the general manager of the Salt Lake Route, announces that annual and time passes of Oregon Short Line issue, will be honored for passage up to and including July 31, 1903, on lines operated by the Utah division south of Salt Lake City.

Circulars Issued.

A circular was issued by Assistant General Manager E. E. Calvin of the Oregon Short Line yesterday announcing the extension of the jurisdiction of Supt. G. H. Olmstead of the Utah division to the Utah division with headquarters at Pocatello. Mr. Olmstead also issued a circular naming H. V. Platt, trainmaster of the same division with office in Salt Lake.

Rock Island Officials Here.

Three Frisco and Rock Island officials arrived in Salt Lake this morning in order to look over the local situation. When seen they stated that there was no significance to be attached to their visit. The party included G. W. Martin, general western agent of the Frisco at Denver; L. E. Kimball, assistant general freight agent of the Rock Island at Denver; and H. H. Embury, general freight agent for the same road at Kansas City. They are now quartered at the Knottford.

FEDERAL COURT CASES.

William T. Harris has entered suit in the United States district court for $500 damages for personal injuries against the Consolidated Mercantile Gold mines. The petition claims that the complainant was working in the company's mines on March 19, 1902, when some timbers and a portion of the walls of the shaft fell upon him inflicting serious and permanent injuries to his head and left leg. The leg in particular has been troublesome ever since and frequent operations have been necessary. The accident is alleged to have been due to carelessness and negligence in failing to maintain timbers in the shaft in a safe condition. John Green of Peterson has filed petition in bankruptcy in the federal court. His debts are set forth as being $322.11, with assets amounting to $1,640, all of which is claimed to be exempt.

AMUSEMENTS.

The theater at the Salt Palace had an excellent attendance last night, the turnout being the largest which has been seen since the "Little Chaperon" run. A special bill will be arranged for next week.

Norris & Rowe's big shows will appear in Salt Lake July 17 and 18 under their enormous tents, which will be located on Fourth South street near Main. Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. Norris & Rowe's shows are nearly double the size of last season and many new features have been added, including one of the most prominent troupes of acrobats in the country. Fargo, Duke and Dutchess, the dwarf elephants have been taught many new acts which are wonderful and the educated ape is appearing in new and novel feats of skill.

That the organ recital at the Tabernacle tomorrow afternoon, at 2:15 will be up to the usual high standard of those regularly given, is shown by the program Prof. McMillan has prepared for the occasion. The full program is as follows:

A GOODLY LAND.

Fine Fruit, Big Harvest Outlook and Material Prosperity on Big Horn.

Elder Owen Woodruff, to whom the Big Horn country of Wyoming will ever be under obligation, is in from that section and reports conditions as being in a most satisfactory state. It is just three years ago since he piloted a colony of "Mormon" settlers into that region under the direction of the Church authorities. Immediately on their arrival there in the early springtime they commenced to sow and plant. Grain, vegetables and fruit were put into the hitherto unbroken soil and the results have been very good from the first. But one thing particularly has been demonstrated, and that is that it is a good fruit country. Trees that were planted three years ago are now bearing well. In verification of this Mr. Woodruff is displaying some bottled cherries that were raised there this season. They are large and fine appearing and make it clear beyond question that the Big Horn will produce them in great and profitable abundance. Other fruits are doing finely. Then as to vegetables, they thrive particularly well. Watermelons, tomatoes and all the tender varieties of vegetable kind can easily be raised. In fact they grow in great profusion. The grain prospects for this year are very reassuring as are all material resources. The big canal that was taken from the Shoshone river by the "Mormon" colonists at a cost of $116,000 is furnishing all, and more water, than can be used at present. Mr. Woodruff says the country is a good one in every respect. The summer or growing seasons are longer than in Salt Lake and the altitude is 3,800 feet it is a good place for home builders; and for good home builders there is all the room, land, water and welcome necessary.

BURN HOUSES OF DEATH.

Superstitions Utes Will Not Occupy Home in Which Relative Dies.

"The Ute positively refuses to live in a house or tepee in which a person has died, and he promptly burns the house, with all its contents after a death," said Maj. H. P. Myton, former Indian agent at the Uintah reservation, Utah.

I built some 30 houses on the reservation for the Indians and every thing went along nicely until one of the Indians died in one of the houses. The family promptly moved out and that night they burned the house. I tried to cure this superstition in them, but after they had burned three or four houses I gave it up. Thereafter when I heard of a real sick Indian I had him moved into a tent, where the loss by fire would be small.

"Some of the Indians will not burn their houses, but will board them up. One of my clerks was an educated Indian. I thought he had had all of the superstition weeded out of him. His wife died in one of the houses and he promptly boarded it up. No amount of talk, persuasion or ridicule could get him to reopen and live in the house. The Indians are tractable and give little trouble. The old bucks keep the young ones stirred up and thereby prevent them from forging ahead, but they are going forward, slowly but surely. Our Indians are not ostracized for education and civilization like the Sioux, and our Indians, too, will work and seem to enjoy farming. But they still cling to all the superstitions of their ancestors."—Denver Post.

IS IT POLITICAL?

Former Secretary of Ex-Congressman Sutherland Buys Two Newspapers.

A move which is thought by some to be in the interests of Hon. George Sutherland's candidacy for the United States senate, was made in Mandi the other day when N. P. Nelson, former secretary to Mr. Sutherland, leased the Mandi Messenger, the Republican organ of Sanpete county, and purchased from L. A. Lauber the plant of the Mandi Post Press, the Democratic organ of that section. Mr. Nelson will assume charge of the Mechanical department of the paper. The lease of the Messenger begins on Saturday next and extends until Jan. 1905.

HAD HIS NOSE BROKEN.

Grant Thatcher of Los Angeles Team Meets With Misfortune.

Grant Thatcher and Homer Hildebrand of the Los Angeles baseball team arrived in Salt Lake today. Mr. Thatcher had his nose broken on Tuesday during a practice game at Butte and he and his companion came on to Salt Lake to rest up and await the arrival of their team next Monday.

Thatcher was pitching the ball when the man at bat made a vicious swing, the club slipped out of his hands and struck Thatcher in the nose, breaking that member. Thatcher is a specialist looking after his nose and he says he will be ready to break into the game on Tuesday.

In the game this afternoon, Foxor is pitching for the locals and Thompson for Helena, while Bradley is occupying right field in the place of Stoval.

Greeting.

We take this medium of expressing our gratitude to the thousands of people who honored this institution with their presence and patronage during the series of sales known as the ROUND-UP.

The universal scope of the house of Keith O'Brien Company makes it pre-eminently "Everybody's Store."

A season of half-price sales, drawing to the store people in all walks of life, attested the fact.

Planned on an aggressive, extensive scale dependable throughout, the ROUND-UP stands without precedent.

It was the means of acquainting all classes with the reasonable prices and high character of merchandise throughout the different sections—then delighting them with the half-price reliable reductions.

The influence of such a sale is far-reaching—the friends it made—the comment in the homes—the confidence the people have in the store are inestimable assets.

Throughout it was a magnificent event—for the people—for us.
