THE OPEN SEASON FOR HOLDUPS

Regular Series of Winter Robberies is Now About Due To Commence.

BALL WAS OPENED LAST NIGHT

Three Armed Men Walk Into and "Stick Up" the Wasatch Drug Store.

The regular series of winter holdups and robberies seems to have been started. Last night three armed men entered the Wasatch Drug store, corner of Second South and Third East street, held up the night clerk and robbed the cash register of its contents, amounting to about $20. The work was done in professional style, no unnecessary noise was created, and the job did not take but a few seconds.

Early in the evening three men were observed to make an inspection of the interior of the store from the front window and later one of the men entered and purchased a cake of soap from Mrs. May, wife of the proprietor, L. M. May. It was about two hours later that the robbery occurred.

Wendell Cunningham, the night clerk, was behind the prescription case talking with Arthur Biggers, who had called to see Cunningham. While the young men were engaged in conversation the front door opened and the three men entered. Cunningham started out to the main part of the store, thinking he had a customer, but he was suddenly gazing into the muzzle of an ugly looking revolver.

He did so. One of the other men then walked behind the counter and took all the money from the cash register. The third man was on watch at the door. The robbers then quickly left the place and ran south on the west side of Third East.

While the men were robbing the till, Biggers was sitting near a double-barreled shotgun, but he did not dream robbers were in the place.

Cunningham at once telephoned to the police and within a few minutes Captain Burbridge and detectives were on the scene. They were able to trace the freshly fallen snow but finally lost it. Twenty officers were detailed to round up the robbers and they are still working on the case. The detectives believe they have a clue which will eventually lead to the apprehension of the men.

ROUSE OVER ROOSEVELT.

Resolution Endorsing His Leasing Unoccupied Lands Policy.

Tabled.

Denver, Jan. 25.—The Trans-Missouri Dry Farming congress was organized here this afternoon. Officers for the ensuing year are:

President—Fisher Harris, Salt Lake City.

First Vice President—J. L. Donohue, Denver.

Second Vice President—Arthur Briggs, San Francisco.

Third Vice President—Col. E. J. Bell, Wyoming.

The secretary and treasurer will be selected by executive committee.

Salt Lake was unanimously agreed upon as the next meeting place.

Opposition was developed to one of the resolutions reported, which declared that the congress was "with President Roosevelt in regard to leasing unoccupied lands," and in favor of the Burket bill for that purpose, and it was laid on the table.

The resolutions commended the work of the United States department of agriculture, and urged that demonstration farms be established by the states and nation, and also that the various legislatures and Congress appropriate funds for carrying out experiments in dry farming.

NO TIME CARDS PRINTED.

Railroads no Longer Print Time of Trains Arrival and Departure.

The "News" has been in receipt of a dozen angry inquiries during the past week, both by mail and telephone, as to why it no longer printed the time cards of the several railroads entering Salt Lake. The answer is very simple—the railroads no longer insert their time cards in the newspapers. Publicly, for other reasons, they discontinued this class of advertising on Dec. 31. Since the time the cards were printed, the railroad officials for the information desired, or find it out in whatever way they best could. As many people, especially in the outskirts, don't have telephones, and are in ignorance as to the time the cars are naturally, which is a public inconvenience, which only the railroads can remedy.

RAILROADS MUST PROTECT PATRONS

Three options were handed down by the supreme court yesterday afternoon in which the Southern Pacific company was appellant and in each of them the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. J. M. McCollum, T. M. Mathis and Agnes W. Fitzgerald are the plaintiffs. The first named plaintiff was given judgment against the company in his action for $1,250; the second for $1,000 and the third for $1,950.

They alleged in their complaints that they were coming east on a Southern Pacific train on April 7, 1905, and at Reno they were placed in a car without heat or water and in with a number of drunken foreigners, who made things very unpleasant and embarrassing to them by reason of the boisterous and obscene language used by the men. They asked the conductor to transfer them to another car but he refused to do so. By reason of having to stay in the car they became sick and were frightened and insulted by the conduct of the drunken men and therefore asked the court for damages.

The cases were tried in the district court in this county and resulted in a verdict for plaintiff in each. The company then appealed, but the supreme court holds that the lower court committed no prejudicial error and hence affirmed the judgments. The opinion of the court was written by Justice McKim and concurred in by Chief Justice McCarty and Justice Stuart.
