TURNING OVER THE NEW LEAF.

The year begins. I turn a leaf,
All over writ with good resolves;
Each to fulfill will be in chief
My aim while earth its round revolves.
How many a leaf I've turned before,
And tried to make a record true:
Each year a wreck on life's dull shore
Proved much I dared, but little knew.

Ah, bright resolve! How high you bear
The future's hopeful standard on;
How brave you start, how poor you wear!
How soon are hope and courage gone!
You point to deeds of sacrifice,
You shun the path of careless ease:
Lentiles and wooden shoes? Is this
The fare a human soul to please?

What wonder, then, if men do fall,
Where good is ever all austere;
While vice is fair and pleasant all,
And turns the leaf to lead the year?
Yet still once more I turn the leaf,
And mean to walk the better way:
I struggle with old unbelief,
And strive to reach the perfect day.

Why should the road that leads to heaven
Be all one reach of sterile sand?
Why not, just here and there, be given
A rose to deck the dreary land?
But why repine? Others have trod
With sorer feet and heavier sins,
Their painful pathway toward their God—
My pilgrimage anew begins.

Failure and failure, hitherto,
Has time inscribed upon my leaves;
I've wandered many a harvest through,
And never yet have gathered sheaves;
Yet once again the leaf I turn,
Hope against hope for one success,
One merit mark at least to earn,
One sunbeam in the wilderness.

BREVITIES.

The third river in Scotland is the Forth.

The vices of the rich and great are mistaken for errors, and those of the poor and lowly for crimes.

At a doll's fair in Chester, England, 2,700 wax and china beauties were exhibited.

How can the woman who neglects her husband's shirt front be the wife of his bosom?

Victor Hugo is now charged with stealing some of his best things; but no one could expect a man like him to steal a poor thing.

The Newark papers tell of a man who was "dangerously stabbed in the Twelfth Ward." That blow must have struck him "right where he lived."—Ex.

"Montgomery Adams Brown, you may jerk out that bell-wire, or kick in the door, but when you married me, you married a woman who doesn't scare."

Boston girls generally write poems on the immortality of the soul until they are old enough to swing on the garden gate with a young man of honorable intentions.

A physician wrote a prescription, and, as the patient went out of the room, said to him: "I wish you would let me know if that does you any good, for I have myself been very much troubled with rheumatism lately."

A correspondent writes us that he and others are perplexed with the direction of our Lord in John xiii, that the disciples should wash one another's feet. Why is not the command literally obeyed? * * * Heaven knows it is needed.—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

As a stern wheel steamboat was passing up the Ohio River the other day, a little girl who was standing on the hotel stoop ran into the house to her mother, calling out, "Mother! mother! come and see this steamboat—it's got a bustle on."

A correspondent met Mr. Heneage, of the English Diplomatic Service, who had just married the Princess Salm-Salm, and asked him where he was going to settle. "Oh," said he, "we don't know yet. My wife is living at Petersburg and I in London till we see how we suit each other."

"Marla," observed Mr. Halcomb, as he was putting on his clothes, "there ain't no patch on them breeches yet." "I can't fix it now, no way; I'm too busy." "Well, give me the patch then, and I'll carry it around with me; I don't want people to think I can't afford the cloth."

Some old fraud says, "Get up with the sun if you want to be healthy and wise." It is easy enough to follow this advice in the winter, when the sun acts sensibly, and doesn't get up until seven o'clock; but when he commences to get up at four o'clock, we have observed that the wisest men give him about two hours' start, and let their wives accumulate health and wisdom.

A Virginia City (Nev.) justice is very confidential in his court-room. "Most men make fools of themselves when they marry," he remarked, one morning. "Now, I called the turn when I got spliced. Do you know, boys, I don't never buy a bit of wood hardly. The old woman is always nosing round and snatching a board here and there, an' she's so down on Chinamen that she does all her own washing. All women ain't like her, though. Most of 'em want to put in ten hours a day in a rocking chair. My old hen ain't had a new dress for three years."

CORRESPONDENCE

Treasury Ladies, etc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30, 1876.

Editor Deseret News:

We are now in the midst of a season of dinners, church festivals, matinees, private theatricals, and tableaux. In the Departments, the clerks work only in the forenoon, during the holidays, and in the afternoon the streets present a gay and animated appearance, for the young ladies of the Departments are out, arrayed more gorgeously than Solomon or the lilies, in bewitching pull-backs, rouge, pearl powder, dark eye-brows, and underscored eye-lashes, bent, like Tamerlane, on conquest. They move down Pennsylvania Avenue usually in pairs. From the Treasury Department to the Capitol, via the Avenue, is a measured mile, but only a portion of this distance is fashionable for promenading. Our Treasury beauty husbands her munitions until she reaches Thirteenth Street; here she is truly formidable, and members of Congress, or attachees of foreign legations, to say nothing of our famished army officers, from the western border, who are able to pass her without one long lingering look, deserve a certificate from a returning board composed of such anchorites as Plato and Stoicus. But let us not, as is the fashion, lightly accuse her of levity, merely because, like all her sex, she is anxious to see and be seen. The average Treasury girl, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, is no more brazen than the daughters of members, senators, generals, admirals, cabinet or foreign ministers, whom she meets on the avenue, and frequently eclipses in dress and beauty. She is, in short, no better nor worse than the sex which is a little lower, but much more interesting, than the angels. These are the virgin notes, or the dainty ladies who first touch the virgin notes, when they are as fresh as unlicked postage stamps, and before they have become acquainted with the vicissitudes of life in exchange for gin, sardines, and chewing gum. Bear in mind that I am writing just now about fractional currency, not the ladies, whom we have left to their devices on the avenue. It is difficult to follow them. I know from experience. A man objected to a turkey because it was rather too large a meal for one person, but not enough for two; so with the gait of these ladies, it is rather too rapid for a fat man, but a little too slow for a lean one. This necessitates, in the interest of flirtation, frequent stoppages, and intense scrutiny of the shop windows as they pass and repass each other. But it is growing late and the Avenue is partially deserted, the fair denizens of the departments have retreated to their boarding houses; some of them will reappear soon at the theatre, others will go to the dancing club, literary society or church, according to their predilections; but the larger number of them will remain at home solitary, or to receive the visits of disreputable U. S. senators or honest livery stable clerks, as the case may be. "Such is life." It is a happy though precarious existence. Independence is no less sweet to women than to men. The sense of being able to pay for one's bread and bustles without the humiliation of asking husband or father for the money, is deliciously exhilarating. Nevertheless they will surrender their independence on provocation, at least they submit to the form and ceremony. They are not averse to marriage, and they make famous wives, but this is only a truism, applicable to the sex; "famous" is intentionally broad and non-specific. Some of them marry senators and members of Congress, and some of them do not. Occasionally one rakes in an attachee, who may be a count, or baron; a title which can usually be translated by the American synonym "dead-beat." Senator Christiancy of Michigan, it will be remembered married a buxom young counter of fractional currency, and the old man's darling arose to take her stand among the highest of the land; the peer of cabinet ladies, with true feminine instinct, cutting her former associates. This winter Mrs. Christiancy remains in Michigan, and the old senator paces the room of his boarding-house alone. C.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Ogden Junction, Jan. 5—

About 1 o'clock this morning the watchman, Mr. C. B. Griffin, and the night policeman, Mr. James Brown, saw flames issuing from some premises on Fifth Street. The fire proved to be at the rear of Mr. John Hart's shoe shop, in a log outhouse, built for a granary, but used as a chicken house by Mr. Gaines, who resides close by. The flames ran up about thirty feet, and by great exertion here extinguished with buckets of water, all present exerting themselves in a praiseworthy manner. The fire was doubtless the work of an incendiary; an evident attempt to burn the premises in the immedtate vicinity of the burned building.

Mr. D. B. Lamoreaux, of Logan, says there is very little snow in Cache. The new Tabernacle at Logan will be opened for public services two weeks from next Sunday. The general health of the people is good.

Franklin, Jan. 5th.—William J. Lee, a boy about seventeen years old, of this place, was accidentally shot through the right arm and body, by William Chadwick, about 11 o'clock yesterday, at Five Mile Creek, between Weston and Clifton. While going to the cañon Lee was sitting on the front part of the sled driving, and Chadwick on the hind part with his gun; when they drove through some thick brush, the hammer of the gun caught a twig pulling it almost out of Chadwick's hand. The gun going off, the charge struck Lee, passing through his arm, breaking and bruising it badly, and passing to his side, where the ball still remains. Hopes are entertained of his recovery. Dr. O. C. Ormsby, of Logan, is expected up to attend to his wounds this evening.

TO CALIFORNIA.

We don't give this for un fait accompli, but it is very strongly rumored that Cedar Rapids is to be the half-way station between Chicago and Council Bluffs.

If this is to be, and some experiments have been made to that end, we suppose it is on account of the superior condition of the road. A trip on the steel railed and well ballasted road, is not any more now, if as much, wear and, tear on the employes and machinery to a train, from Chicago to Cedar Rapids, 218 miles, as it was on the iron rails from Chicago to Clinton, 138 miles, in the olden time.

It is not necessary for us to say that the C. & N. W. R'y is a first-class road in every particular, that it rides as easy as sitting in a "rocking chair," that its coaches are parlors, that its employes are the most polite and affable gentlemen the traveling public can meet or will meet in a lifetime of travel—the esprit de corps of the employes, if we may so say, is at a high standard; we say we need not say this in a newspaper, it is self-evident to every traveler on the road. But in the future these are to be increased; we suppose the speed will be increased; if possible, the superb trains will be more superb: there is to be no train more complete, either for comfort or safety, leave the world's commercial metropolis for the GOLDEN GATE, THAN THE GREAT TRAINS ON THE CHICAGO & NORTH-WESTERN RAILWAY—THE ONLY COMPANY RUNNING OUT OF CHICAGO THAT HAS A ROAD SO RELIABLE THAT THEY ARE NOT AFRAID TO RUN AT ANY SPEED CAPABLE OF BEING ATTAINED BY ENGINES OF THE MOST IMPROVED CONSTRUCTION, RUN WITH THE HAND OF IRON NERVE, AND A HEAD OF BRAINS, WITHOUT ANY FEAR OF ACCIDENT OR INCONVENIENCE.

Every employe on the road feels a personal interest in the North-Western Railway; it's the "clipper" road in the West, and so far as anything he can do it will continue so to be.

THIS IS THE TRANS-CONTINENTAL LINE FROM THE GREAT LAKES TO THE GREAT MISSOURI RIVER.

The old time traveler speaks in high glee of the "ease and comfort" of these days of steel in contrast with the pioneer days of this pioneer road in the days of iron. The comforts of travel on the North-Western Railway are to every traveler's mouth from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It must be a proud compliment to the efficient management, and that is the reason every officer or employe feels so happy and obliging.

It is with pride we mention these things, and join the general shout along the line, Hurrah for the "OLD RELIABLE."—Cedar Rapids Republican, Aug. 14, 1876.
