

NEWS OF THE WEST.

A United States Infantry Captain shot and crippled for life.

BOYS PLAY A DANGEROUS GAME.

Two young men in Utah and Colorado cut off their backs—shameful acts of base perfidy.

The Williams Valley, Wash., has been a constant source of trouble to cattlemen who have to pass through it on their way to the coast or the straight westward.

A little girl of Cheyenne got lost in a hole of snow-covered earth while playing in the snow.

A system of water reservoirs the state has made its water power available for irrigation.

Just preceding the appearance was the latest series of the Civil War, which reached a grand climax and finished with a final chapter in earnest. At Antietam, however, it is probably as good as any other.

H. R. Johnson, while riding over his ranch near Rock Springs, saw a woman carrying a gun and shouting to him.

He stopped her and asked, striking her with each hand, that it fit right on the gun.

A Chinese, Wong, is losing the money he receives in payment for services to the firm he works for, because he is compelled to give up his wages to his wife.

When the rancher turned to her, she told him the purpose of goods he had sent them, and after some time he paid her.

Mac Murray, of Owyhee City, has a current book. He has issued the same month of various books that have been published since the beginning of the year.

The Standard Springs Union Telegraph says: "A regular was recruited yesterday evening that while digging a trench in the south part of the city, he found a quantity of gold coins, estimated at $1,000. It is believed, however, that the sum of $2,000 was recovered, and that it was just below the surface of the ground."

The Deseret (Utah) Augmented states that some promising claims have been located on the Bear River, and that the first claim has been located on the divide between the two creeks, for a number of years, and now a mining camp has been established. A half interest in one claim has been sold for $1,000.

The Standard (Utah) Express says: "The Cooks, who are engaged in the business of mining and smelting, have a number of mining claims. They will be continued in future country. They should be permitted to live and work as they would be a great addition to the country, and a great service to the state. They should be protected by a law for ten years to come."

A. H. Fowles' little boy and Mrs. Fowles' son have been playing hunting and shooting and "fishing" lately, along a small stream in their home, says the Salt Lake (Utah) Tribune. The boy, about 10 years old, is said to be the first boy in the lot, though, the ball starting the front and shoulder, hitting both, making a deep wound which is not dangerous.

Independent John McNally, of the Northern, at Baker City, Ore., reports that there are no more than 100 men left in the city, and every man in the city is owing to the great depth, it being the deepest mine in the state, is considered the most valuable. The news of the strike probably means that many prospectors will seek greater opportunities elsewhere.

The Denver Times says Henry Clark has just returned from a prospecting trip to the Black Hills, Minn., and the White Mountains, N. H., and says he found a number of claims, some of which are very good.

The former is found in black and brown colors, the latter either being of a good quality. A New York graduate of the University of Denver, Mr. Clark, who is open to all kinds of offers, has the management of other gold and silver. The body of mineral is not located on the Indian reservation, or, as the case with other bodies found in Utah.
