Judge Marshall, who has been very ill and who has been threatened with an attack of pneumonia, is now on the road to recovery.

Two nurses from the Holy Cross hospital—Sister Felipe and Sister Guadalupe—are now attending the city's smallpox patients at the Parley's canyon pesthouse.

The directors of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company met Saturday afternoon and declared a quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, amounting to $12,775, payable on the 20th inst.

Dr. James E. Talmage has returned home from a trip to California whither he went with his family. He left Mrs. Talmage and children at Pacific Grove where they will remain for some time.

The petition of the employees of the Salt Lake City Street Railway company for a raise of wages has been referred to the board of directors and will be taken up for consideration at the next meeting of that body.

Miss Dora May Neal, of 69 Quince street this city, was given a farewell reception last Friday evening at the family residence. Miss Neal left Saturday for Alberta, Canada. Tomorrow, (Tuesday) she will be married to William Lamb, formerly of Farmington, Davis county, but now of Carleton, where the couple will make their future home.

Phil. Raleigh, employed at the Warm Springs, was thrown from the platform of a street car Saturday afternoon on First North and First West streets, receiving severe injuries, consisting of two severe scalp wounds and several cuts about the face. He was attended to by Dr. A. C. Behle, and at last accounts was doing nicely.

Mr. P. A. Anderson, a citizen of North Salt Lake, is very pronounced in his opposition to compulsory vaccination or indeed any vaccination. He says when he was vaccinated in Sweden the result was a period of five weeks' sickness; his body, beginning with his arm, was swollen to abnormal proportions. In fact, the skin almost burst and he suffered intense agony. At times when attending him thought he was dead, and even made preparations for his funeral.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Rescue Home was held on Saturday and the resignation of the officers of the past year were tendered and new officers elected for the ensuing term. The new officers elected are Mrs. W. A. Neiden, president; Mrs. H. W. Brown, first vice president; Mrs. Critchlow, second vice president; Mrs. Charles Miller, treasurer. The past year's officers were Mrs. Charles Plummer, president; Mrs. Peyton, vice president; Mrs. Moyer, secretary, and Mrs. Vincent, treasurer. Several plans are being discussed for the institution, but nothing will be settled definitely until the next meeting of the board which will occur next week. Every effort will be made to have a proper home provided for the Rescue Home, and steps will be taken towards that purpose. The number of girls cared for in the past year is thirty-five.

Y. L. M. I. A. STAKE CONFERENCE.

Interesting Addresses by Pres. Joseph F. Smith and Others.

PROGRESS AND IMPROVEMENT

Purity Enjoined as the Brightest Gem in the Character of Both Sexes.

At the conference of the Y. L. M. I. A. in the Tabernacle last evening, there was a very large attendance. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Nellie C. Taylor, president of the Salt Lake Stake organizations.

The opening hymn, "Softly Beams the Sacred Dawning" was sung by the Temple choir.

Bishop O. F. Whitney offered the invocation, and the choir sang the hymn, "Some Sweet Day, by and by." The officers of the general board and the Salt Lake Stake officers of the Young Ladies' organization were presented and unanimously sustained.

Mrs. Douglass was called on to deliver a brief address. She said the organization had made considerable progress in the Salt Lake Stake, they are carrying out their motto, "Improvement."

The young ladies are studying their Manuals and obtaining a testimony of the Gospel.

There is as much progress in the remote hamlets among the organizations as there is in the organizations nearer the center of Zion.

Mrs. Mary B. Freeze testified to the improvement that had taken place. She was one of the first presidents of the organization, and at that time when they were first organized they never secured their wisdom in imagination.

Such a scene as was presented to her gaze, at this time. She urged the young ladies to be faithful and continue in the work they have so nobly begun.

Mrs. Freeze was followed by George D. Pyper, who sang the solo "There is Sunshine in the Soul" with exquisite sweetness, being followed by Mrs. Minnie J. Snow, who congratulated the young men and women as sons and daughters of Zion.

She trusted that in the future there was none in their ranks who was ashamed of the Gospel. When they understand things rightfully, they will feel grateful that their fathers and mothers listened to the voice of God.

There has been a marked improvement in spiritual way, among the young ladies of Zion, there seemed to be a greater desire for and seeking after the Gospel among the young ladies than she had witnessed in former years.

Mrs. Snow felt that the coming of the Savior was not far distant, and it was high time that the young people were preparing to meet Him at His coming. Jackson county will soon be built up, and young men will be chosen from the people to pioneer that great work.

Miss Donetti Smith followed with a few remarks. It was very encouraging to see such a large attendance of young ladies in Zion. The young ladies' meetings she had found that they were greatly interested in their work and in the Gospel. The young men and young ladies in Zion continued the speaker, should be very happy at having the large number of meetings and associating with the servants of God.

The speaker said she was not particularly fond of the name that had been given the Latter-day Saints, that of "Mormons," but oftentimes devoid of many of those qualifications that are necessary to constitute a Latter-day Saint. "Mormonism" in its real, true sense, is the following and practice of all truth and the forsaking of error, in other words, it is the Gospel.

The beauty of the Gospel is that every man in the Church, no matter how great he may be, must obey the commandments of God, that he may be worthy to pass back into His presence, when his work shall have been completed.

The speaker stated that it was offering an insult to God to say that men have been placed upon this earth to live, breathe, die and cease living forever. God had placed men here in His image for a far nobler purpose.

The speaker went on to point out evidences of God's existence, that are contained in nature, and in all the animal creation of the world, and above all, He is seen reflected in the image of a righteous man.

Neither God nor the Son required anything of His children, that they were not willing to do themselves, and that they did not do. If man lives up to the voice that is revealed to him he is as perfect in his sphere as God is in His, although it is more exalted.

"NICK" HAWORTH IS HELD OVER.

Accused Had His Preliminary Hearing at Farmington Saturday.

HE HAS TO GO BACK TO JAIL

Charged With Being the Murderer of Thomas Sandall, Who Was Shot Dead Last March at Layton.

N. T. Haworth, the man charged with the murdering of Thomas Sandall the old night-watchman of the Farmers' Union store on the night of March 25, 1899, has been held without bail, to answer to that charge before the district court.

Haworth was examined Saturday, the proceedings consuming the entire day. The hearing was had before City Justice Ezra F. Richards of Farmington. County Attorney Streeter and Attorney E. M. Allison of Ogden, conducted the prosecution, and Attorney Joseph Lippman, of the firm of Powers, Straup & Lippman, looked after the defendant.

The details of the dastardly crime excited public interest to an extremely high pitch, and the arrest and trial of the alleged murderer has revived the intense interest, and it would seem that every resident of the county had come to see the accused man.

The prisoner displayed remarkable self-possession, considering his condition last week. Although the great throngs of spectators who were tramping upon each other's toes in their eagerness to see him, made him a little nervous, the officers assured him that he was safe and he became quite calm, following the testimony very closely.

At 10:30 the prisoner was brought into the courtroom, and the proceedings commenced with the appointment of Daniel Hamer as official stenographer. The first witness was E. P. Ellison. He testified to the facts as have already become patent to the public. A diagram of the Farmers' Union store, was exhibited and declared by the witness to be practically correct. He testified that the watchman was alone in the store, so far as he knew, on the night of the murder; that he went on duty before the clerks left the store; that the crime was discovered early the next morning, March 26th; that a thorough search of the premises was made that day, for articles that might give some clue to the identity of the murderer. An empty shotgun shell, a bunch of keys, a man's white woolen sack and some other things were found. All these articles were produced, as was also a purse, a shotgun, a number of shells and a revolver, an overcoat and a mask, that were found at different times subsequent to the murder, and handed to the witness.

Lawrence Thornley, of Layton, testified that on September 23, 1899, he found a shotgun under a strawstack north-west of Layton; that he saw the same to Mr. Ellison, who had been placed in evidence by Mr. Ellison. The revolver exhibited by Mr. Ellison was also found by witness. This revolver was recognized by Mr. Ellison as having been the property of Mr. Sandall.

Eugene Sandall, the murdered man's son, was examined in the afternoon, and identified a purse found near the scene of the murder as his father's. John H. Ellison, who was called by the witness to see defendant between Kayville and Layton on the evening before the murder.

John Harrop, of Ogden, swore that an overcoat which in evidence, had been worn in Ogden by the defendant, during the winter of 1899. Witness had been well acquainted with Haworth since 1895.

The testimony of Moritz Richter, of Ogden, was given in the afternoon, during the hearing. He said that during the morning of March 26th, at 6 a. m., Haworth and a companion drove to the Helleville stable in Ogden, coming from the south, and that Haworth had no overcoat on.

A number of witnesses were produced to confirm the contentions of the prosecution regarding the identity of articles that were found near the scene of the tragedy, and the production of the articles were then formally offered in evidence by the prosecution. Attorney Lippman objected to the admission of the articles one by one as they were introduced, but his objections were overruled.

The prosecution then closed and Attorney Lippman moved to discharge the defendant on the ground that nothing had been introduced to connect the defendant with the crime, and that the evidence on both sides, introduced in a brief argument. The defendant was held to appear before the district court, without bail, and was given over to the tender offices of the sheriff.

HOME INDUSTRY.

It may not be generally known that C. J. Gustavson has embarked in an industry of no mean proportions, his axe has been known for many years, but about four years ago he commenced the manufacture of lubricating oils for sewing machines, spindles, separators, etc., indeed for all kinds of machinery. Upon bearings which have hitherto been oiled twice a week, when this is found to be serviceable has been known to last a month.

He makes an oil for light buggies, also a kind for the preservation of leather, shoes, harness or leathers exposed to the weather, making them waterproof. According to his formula the soles and uppers of shoes should be treated, thus making them last twice as long. This oil is found to be serviceable in the preservation of rubbers, preventing them from cracking.

This enterprise is a home industry and the News urges its readers to give these oils a trial.

About the first of the year a company was organized, called the Deseret Machine Oil Co., with Mr. Gustavson as manager. The office and works are located at 66-68 East Second South.

PRES. TANNER MAKES REPORT.

Tells of the Condition of the Agricultural College.

INCREASE IN ATTENDANCE.

Annual Report of Receipts and Expenditures Forwarded to the Secretary of the Interior.

The following is from the report of President Tanner of the Agricultural College to the secretary of the interior regarding the condition of the College:

The course of study remained the same during the past year as during the preceding year. The last legislative, however, made provision for a five months' course of study, beginning Nov. 1, for the benefit of students who cannot leave the farm before that time. This course, in accordance with the provision of act of Congress, begins Nov. 1 next.

The same legislature made provision for the construction of a greenhouse. This building has already been erected at an expense of $2,800.

The most noticeable progress in the College is the increased percentage of students who remain throughout the entire year of nine months.

The experiment station issued during the year five bulletins and an annual report, as follows: Bulletin No. 53, "The Chemical Life History of Locusts," No. 54, "Alfalfa or Lucerne—Its Cultivation and Feeding Value," No. 55, "Tree Planting in Utah," and ninth annual report. A spraying calendar was also issued.

In addition to these station publications the College issued during the year five bulletins and an annual report, as follows: Bulletin No. 53, "The Chemical Life History of Locusts," No. 54, "Alfalfa or Lucerne—Its Cultivation and Feeding Value," No. 55, "Tree Planting in Utah," and ninth annual report. Note.—The classification of students under No. 3, with the exception of Phillips of the hotel bar, which terminated in the gambler being thrown out of the place bodily.

Sheets was intoxicated and accused the bar tender of overcharging him for a room of drinks. Phillips heard the remarks and the trouble began. As Sheets went out of the door, he took the glass along with him. The gambler's hand was cut quite severely and required the assistance of Dr. Root. Besides a cut hand he received a black eye.

DAN DILLON LAID TO REST.

Sorrowing Friends Attend the Funeral Services for the Dead Policeman.

St. Mary's cathedral was crowded to its full capacity yesterday afternoon by the many friends of the late Patrolman Dan Dillon. They assembled to pay their last respects to the dead policeman. Almost the entire police department attended. The A. O. U. W., a large number of firemen, ex-Chief Pratt, Sheriff Howells and deputies and a number of Officer Dillon's former associates, occupied prominent places in the gathering.

Among the many beautiful floral offerings were those from the police department, a policeman's badge, consisting of chrysanthemums, roses and violets; the fire department, Officer's shield of carnations and ferns with the lettering "L. C. F. D." and the order of Hibernian's the Workman's anchor, and harp. The services were conducted by Father Keenan who spoke in the highest terms of the deceased. He said in part:

thought, his only word was, "I am going to meet my God." His death was but the fulfillment of a good life. "To speak of him as I would like to I have not words, but I believe his qualities can be summed up by saying he was a noble man, a noble of the nobles; and the respect in which he was held in indicated by the attendance of so many of you here today."

As the congregation passed out and reviewed the remains, Miss Darnee sang a beautiful solo.

Sergeant Burbridge, and Officers Hilton, Chase, Fitzmaurice, Randolph and Hempel acted as pall bearers.
