RYCHEL CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

Story of a Man Who Befriended An 18-Year Old Boy to No Purpose.

HE ROBBED HIS BENEFACTOR.

Strange Story of Lad's Alleged Ingratitude Told in District Court This Afternoon.

Dan T. Rychel, who it is charged, burglarized the home of his benefactor on the night of Dec. 31, 1904, is on trial before a jury in Judge Armstrong's court today. The evidence introduced showed that Rychel, who is only 18 years of age, had been taken in by Mr. H. A. Hoagland and given employment for about a month before the crime was committed and was invited to eat

Christmas dinner with the family.

Six days later he returned and showed his appreciation for the kindnesses shown him by Mr. Hoagland by burglarizing his house and stealing four watches, a gold watch chain, a gold necklace, a bracelet, a silk skirt, a purse containing several rings and a pair of ear rings. He pawned the skirt in a house of ill fame and the watches and jewelry in a pawn shop. The case is being prosecuted by Dist.

Atty Loofbourow and the defendant's interests are being looked after by Atty. James F. Smith. The case will be sumbitted to the jury late this af-they will proceed immediately to the grounds of the Lewis and Clark exposition. These natives will populate the Philippine village on the government peninsula at the exposition.

Upon their arrival, the construction of the Philippine village will be started at once. A feature of this will be a city of houses built on poles over the surface of Guild's lake. This is characteristic of the expedient resorted to by the natives to avoid reptiles and toes of similar kind. The city of pole-houses will be occupied by the Moros, who with the Igorottes stand lowest in the scale of civilization. Boiled dog will represent the principal sustenace of the Igorottes, who are conceded to be epicureans regarding this delicacy. The general supposition is that a hearty meal of boiled, fried or roasted canine adds fervor to the fighting prowess of Igorotte warriors. Accordingly, the dogflesh is served only to the males, the fairer sex being denied the rare treat.

THE EGG DANCE.

A Curious Easter Custom of Ancient France-A Reyal Romance.

In very ancient times a most curious Easter custom prevailed in France. Woolng lads and lasses would come forward as applicants for the "egg and matrimonal dance." A hundred eggs matrimonal dance." A hundred eggs were arranged on a level sward spread with sand, and all the young tenantry selected their partners to dance on the green among the eggs.

The story is fold by an old chronicler that Philibert, duke of Savey, was out, hunting and, being in the neighborhood of the beautiful palace of Margaret of Flanders, called to pay his respects to her. All the tenantry were dancing on the green, the eggs were laid, and the lovers were treading a measure of the national dance amid them. Few there were who managed to dance through without breaking some of the obstructions. If they succeeded not even the "nay" of the parents prevailed to break up the match. It was an evidence of up the match. It was an evidence of the intentions of Providence to smile on the union. While many had tried and been unessful, the duke besought the priness to try the dance with him. Though t was the first time they had met, she agreed, and they executed the national dance without breaking an egg. They were greeted with enthusiatic cheers, and, as it was a sure sign that they were afflanced by divine will and their welded life would be one of great bliss, they bowed to the fates that ordained it so, and in the sentiment of the romance they were "married and lived happily ever after."—Philadelphia

WANTED, A MAN.

Piladelphia wants a man. She wants him badly, because she needs him. She wants him fust as seen as she can get him. She isn't particular about height, weight, or looks, except she wants him high in principle, strong in courage, and straight faced. She doesn't care wether he is a descen-dant from Benjamin Franklin or an ascendant from some back alley, just so he is honest, clean, fearless and just. But she wants a man-a being with some regard for right and decency and fair play; who doesn't wear pockets in his clothes and can see a red light when it's swung in the middle of the road. She doesn't want a man who makes premises, but one who makes good. It doesn't make a bit of difference whether or not he wears a long coat and teaches Sunday school, long coat and teaches Sunday school, or even whether he is an enroiled member of any church, so long as he respects truth and the common interests of his fellow men and women. He must knew how to sweep and scour, He must know the difference between graft and honest gain. He must be his own boss.—Philadelphia North American.
