Appropriations to Members for Back Salary Account.

LEGALITY OF THAT ANNEXATION.

Protest against Dissenting School No. 2—in the Sixty-sixth District.

All of the members of the Board of Education were present at last night's meeting. Vice-President, Nelson in the chair.

THE SIXTY-SIXTH DISTRICT.

P. L. Williams, legal advisor to the board, sent in a communication commenting on a report recently submitted by the committee on sites and buildings on the newly annexed Sixty-sixth district, south and east of the city. Mr. Williams reported that it would be necessary to examine the records of the original Twenty-ninth district, together with its boundaries, also of the Sixty-sixth, and finally the action in connection with the annexation of the district, in order to give a definite opinion as to the legality of the annexation and the rights and liabilities of the respective districts. He also stated that he had called upon the county collector with reference to the payment in the board of the taxes levied the present year, and was informed by him that he paid the funds to the trustees of the Twenty-ninth district a month ago. Further, that he had addressed a letter to the territorial Commissioner of schools asking him to allow to the city the amount of general funds due on account of the school population of said district as per the last census. Received and filed.

PROTEST AGAINST DISCONTINUANCE.

George Armitage and nine others protested against the action to discontinue school No. 2 in the 66th district. Committee on sites and buildings.

BUILDING MATERIAL.

OGDEN NEWS ITEMS.

Court Matters.—The last meeting of the Old Board of Education, etc.

NOTES STANDARD.

E. A. Lukes, the ticket broker who was given a term in the penitentiary for forgery but pardoned by the governor after he had served two weeks, has been released in Denver, Colorado, with the same crime. It is said that he passed a forged check for $20.00 on a Denver merchant, but was captured before he could cover up his tracks.

Bio Grande Western passenger No. 1, due in Ogden at 12:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was delayed two hours on account of a freight train which crossed the main west of Clear Creek. A light engine crashed into the rear of an eastbound freight train, derailing several of the cars and demolishing the caboose. The valunne escaped without injury.

D. P. Tarpay yesterday brought suit in the Fourth district court against John Sharp, George V. Wallace, and William Sharp, executors of the estate of Bishop John Sharp, of Salt Lake, on an appeal bond of $200 given by John Sharp and George V. Wallace in a suit brought by Tarpay against the Deseret

Mail company which involved certain calls made on the lake shore.

Judge Miner had set for hearing the case of Amute L. Atkin vs. George Atkin, in which a decree of divorce was granted four months ago. One of the conditions of the decree was that the defendant was to pay $15 monthly alimony, and the man had failed to comply with the order and was arrested at Provo and yesterday brought to Ogden by Officer Redfield. Both the interested parties, with their attorneys, were present in the courtroom at the time of the hearing of the case. At the conclusion of the case Atkin promised to pay the required alimony and made a cash payment on the spot of $15. The lady agreed to wait for the balance. The defendant's wife is the daughter of one of Provo's leading merchants.

The present board of education held its regular business meeting last night and the board was cleared of all its affiliated business. Some time ago a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Adams, Fauge and Page, was appointed to investigate the matter of estate of the deceased Amute L. Atkin, and the petitioners submitted a report in effect that no arrangements had been made, but recommending that the managing board be impowered to retain the services of the earliest convenience. The matter of a will was also discussed, and the buildings for electric lights and bells was referred to the superintendent with power to act. A special report of the president and clerk was submitted to the transactions of the board since its organization in July, 1892.

A Camp Experience.—A Rhode Island soldier, while on picket guard, was rained upon by a party of Confederate cavalry. He fired his revolver at them and ran. The soldier was an open field about fifty rods from the fortification by an olive tree, and beyond lay a thicket of bushes and undergrowth. For this last he retained the soldier started a half dozen incendiaries after him. Fortunately for the fugitive, the rain had softened the soil, and the bushes clumped through the turf so easily that prevent was slow.

A pistol ball passed through the runner's hat, but he reached the fence, and with one hand landed on the top, intending to give a long spring, but the old fence crumbled beneath his weight and down he went.

But luck favored him again, for a log had rotted out a great deal and planed, so that the soldier was lying on a log.

The soldier fell plump into this hole, and the frightened fugitive cut one strand and scampered into the undergrowth, leaving the newcomer in possession of the hollow and buried under the debris of the fence.

A minute more and up dashed the horseman. Hearing the rustle of the fleeing fugitive in the bushes, they supposed he to be the picket, and dashed through the gap in the fence and launched on.

When they were well out of sight the fugitive crawled out from the undergrowth and ran back to camp.

The following day one of the same horsemen, when present, Our here recognized him alone.

"I say," he said, "did you catch that fugitive yesterday?"

"We did that," retorted the prisoner; "but it wasn't the one we were after!"—Youth's Companion.

He Thought He Knew That Face.

"I pride myself on never forgetting a face, but as a numbskull I am a far-reaching and iridescent failure," said A. G. Knott as he brushed the crumbs of the table off out of his whiskers. "Some years ago I was in a Boston street car when a lady entered whose face was very familiar. I felt that I knew her well, but to save me I could not recall her name. I shook hands with her, said after her her health and tried to make my way to the door. She turned me to ice water, but that is a peculiarity of women, so I didn't mind. Finally she told me frankly that she had not the pleasure of my acquaintance."

"That bluffed me, but I handled her my card. She read the name and shook her head. She was quite sure that she had never even heard of me. I gabbled and put on my thinking cap. Was she making game of me or was it possible that I was mistaken? I couldn't make it out. That night I went to the theater and the mystery was solved. The woman I knew so well, but who had never heard of me, was that queen of tragedy, Mrs. D. P. Bowers,—St. Louis Globe-Democrat."

The Weather.

The weather is the one topic which never wears out. It is wet, it is dry, it is hot, it is cold, it is fickle, it is agreeable, it is good for the crops, it is trying for invalids, it is this or it is that, and it furnishes a never ending, tantalizing source for conversation. The less gifted have been a drab, the more intelligent can magnify a fine old and young man of common grade.
