

VICTORIA'S BODY RESTS AT FROGMORE

The Final Rites Were Held Today at 3:30 p. m.—The King, Queen and Emperor William Attended the Services.

Windsor, Feb. 4.—Hundreds of people poured into Windsor throughout the morning and by 1 o'clock the long walk was already black with spectators, mostly from the surrounding towns, waiting for a last glimpse at the coffin containing the remains of Queen Victoria. The sun was shining brightly.

The final obsequies promised to be as stately as the initial stages. The representatives of royal families from castle, the Duke of Argyll, Highlanders and pipers, Royal servants, Band of the Grenadier guards, The bishop of Winchester and the dean of Windsor.

The lord chamberlain and the lord steward.

The gun carriage, with the coffin, supported by the late queen's equerries and household, flanked by the same officers as appeared in Saturday's ceremony in London.

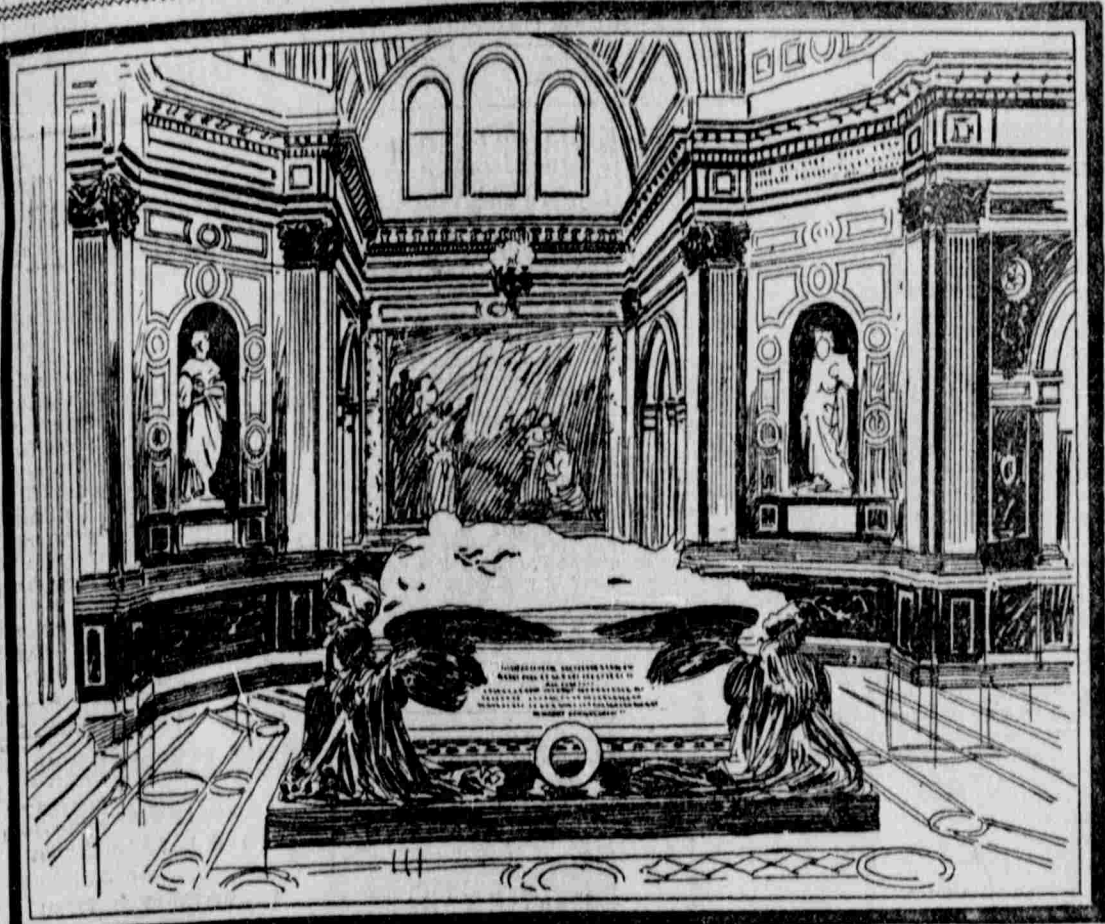

Following the coffin walked King Edward, the Duke of Connaught, Emperor William, the king of the Belgians, Prince Henry of Prussia, and all the other royal personages, including Queen Alexandra, and with the princesses with the exception of the few who have already left England. Those present were accompanied by their suites.

The route was through the Norman gateway, across the quadrangle, through the George IV archway, down the long walk, through the lodge gates and then from the long walk to the mausoleum.

The route from the George IV archway to the gates of the mausoleum were lined with troops under the command of Col. Miles, of the first life guards.

The queen's pipers played from the gates of the mausoleum itself. On arriving there the queen's company of Grenadiers opened outward and formed in double rank on the steps of the mausoleum.

The choir met the funeral cortege on the steps. The Highlanders, pipers and servants, on their arrival, went into arrived from London at about 1 o'clock and drove to Windsor castle. The streets of the old town were still busy with wreaths, sadly faded since Saturday. The stores were closed during the day.

INTERIOR OF THE ROYAL MAUSOLEUM, FROGMORE.

This view shows the interior of the octagonal chamber in the imposing mausoleum erected near Windsor castle by the late Queen Victoria in honor of her long lamented prince consort. In the center of the room is a double sarcophagus of dark grey granite, resting on polished black marble. It bears a recumbent statue of Prince Albert, executed in white marble, and at each corner is the bronze figure of a kneeling angel. It is here the late queen will soon be laid at rest beside the dust of her "great and good husband."

Disappointed life guardsmen in their scarlet cloaks, the white plumes of their helmets glistening in the sun, kept the route clear from the castle slope. Amid the bare boughs of trees below the mist arose from the damp earth, trampled into mud by the uneasy few chapel royal, Windsor, and his choir, all in surplices and college caps, walked quickly down the slope, through the crowds to the mausoleum. Then minute guns commenced to boom, as a battery of artillery at the foot of the long walk paid its final honors to the dead queen. The Windsor church bells tolled solemnly and the strains of the band, gradually growing stronger and stronger, echoed from the castle quadrangle.

At 2:15 p. m., the head of the procession passed slowly out of King George's arch in the following order:

The queen's company of Grenadier guards with arms reversed.

The governor and constable of Wind-the mausoleum and took up the positions allotted to them.

Then the coffin was carried into the mausoleum, preceded by the choir and clergy.

The members of the royal family took places on each side of the sarcophagus, the royal household standing in the transept on each side. The rest of the ceremony was private, as the space was limited.

The choir sang Sir Arthur Sullivan's anthem, "Yes, Though I Walk," the hymn "Sleep Thy Last Sleep," and Tenison's "The Face of Death is Turned Towards the Sun of Light," set to music by Sir Walter Parrott.

oborra, Neb., and was once on duty in Cuba.

Thos. Q. Seabrooke, the actor, is a guest at the Knutsford.

Miss Minnie Davis of Cincinnati, O., the sister-in-law of M. Louis Koltz, is visiting her friends in this city.

Percy Sage, manager for the Zenda company, is at the Kenyon. Mr. Sage, while still a young man, has been manager for some of the most successful companies. The last time he was here (five years ago), Mr. Sage was manager for Louis James under the direction of Wagenhall and Kemple, and he has since then been manager for Frohman, of the original Zenda company, and last season managed the American tour of Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, the great English actors. The manager for the Zenda company playing here this week was also manager of the original Zenda company, and has brought with him nearly all the old company.

F. D. Smith of Ely, Nevada, and formerly professor of geology and metallurgy, in the University of Montana, is at the Kenyon. Mr. Smith is now superintendent of the Chairman mill at Ely, and is in town to arrange for plans for a new $20,000 combination mill to be built at the Chairman. He says that the mines near Ely produce copper, and that they are doing well.

H. B. Hickox, representative for an Ottawa corset company, is at the White House. Mr. Hickox says: "There is no reason why Salt Lake should not have a corset factory, and if there were one here it would keep lots of money at home. I am trying to start one here as my company is interested in establishing such manufactories."

J. Wm. Knight and wife of Provo are at the Cullen.

Don McGuire of Ogden is at the Cullen.

F. R. Gooding of Shoshone, Idaho, who owns one of the largest sheep ranches in the world, is a guest at the Kenyon.

W. H. Philbrick, the cattleman of American Falls, Idaho, is at the Kenyon. Mr. Philbrick bought some of the most valuable Herefords sold in this city during the stockman's convention.

Emanuel Kahn, of the firm of Kahn Bros., writes that he is greatly improved in health, and that he expects to leave Honolulu for home on the 15th or 18th.

Bishop John M. Dunn, of Kimball ward, Alberta, Canada, after a month's business sojourn in Salt Lake, will return home tomorrow.

Prof. McClellan and Prof. Goddard returned last night from a very successful concert trip to Richfield, Sevier county. They leave for Payson to give a concert there, Wednesday evening.

M. A. Robertson and wife and Jas. J. Harper of Eureka are at the Knutsford.

CAPTURED WHILE ROBBING A STORE.

Walton Brothers Cleverly Gather In Two Bold Burglars.

EFFICACY OF THE SHOT GUN.

The Walton's Expected a Visit and Were Prepared—Robbers Landed in the City Jail.

Caught in the act of robbing a store, forced to throw up their hands at the point of a gun and marched off to jail, chronicles briefly the experience of two young burglars last evening. They gave their names as George Simmons, age 23 years and Fred Rigby, age 24. The scene of their capture is a small store situated on Fourteenth South near the Oregon Short Line tracks. The store is owned by J. H. and E. T. Walton, to whom belongs the glory of capturing the robbers. In conjunction with the store the brothers operate a coal and lumber yard. Saturday night the place had callers who did not leave their cards. They carried off considerable lumber and coal, and the Walton's began a search which resulted in locating a hobo rendezvous. Some of the stolen fuel and lumber was in evidence and the owners concluded to watch their place. Accordingly they concealed themselves under a box-car and waited. About 7:15 last evening two men were seen to approach the store, look cautiously around and then deliberately force in the front door. Some noise frightened them and they fled. The Walton's then slipped into the store, rightly surmising that the thieves would return. They did so. As they stepped into the store, they were greeted with the stern command to "throw up your hands." They were taken completely by surprise and as the shotgun held by one of the Walton's was dangerously near and had an exceedingly ugly look, the fellows lost no time in reaching skyward.

They were marched to the Murray car and brought to the city and turned over to the police. They said their occupation was that of laborers. They were thrown behind the bars and booked for burglary.

BORROWED FROM THE BANKS.

One hundred and fifty-eight thousand dollars' worth of the city bonds, which have been called in and are to be redeemed by the new issue of $500,000 refunding bonds, the form for which was approved by the City Council as its special meeting last Friday evening, have been presented to the city treasurer for redemption. To take up these bonds the city has temporarily borrowed from the local banks sufficient funds to cover the amount of the old bonds, which were furnished by the following banks: The National Bank of the Republic, $34,000; Wells, Fargo & Co., $65,000; and the Desert National bank $57,000. These loans are calculated to be of only short duration, as it is expected that now the form of bonds asked for by Parson, Leach & Co. has been approved, the money will soon be forthcoming.

BABY HAS GONE ALSO.

Infant Son of Captain J. Wash Young Dies of Pneumonia.

The funeral of Captain J. Wash Young's baby boy, aged two months and 21 days, was held yesterday afternoon. Owing to the fact that the house, 67 Third street, is still under quarantine for diphtheria, no services were held there, but short services with quartet singing took place at the grave side.

The destroying angel has visited the home of Captain Young three times within two weeks. The first to be called was his daughter Liberty, who died of diphtheria. The next visitation was for his wife, the mother who for days had combated the dread disease, constant and patient nursing and watching over her little ones had sapped her strength to utter exhaustion, and during Tuesday night, while she slept, her soul was recalled to its Maker. Now comes the death from pneumonia of his baby boy and namesake, to further chasten the stricken father, already bowed down with grief. His large and deeply sympathetic circle of friends rejoice to know that both the captain, and the children who were left to him are on the way towards recovery.

PRaise Salt Lake.

Representative of American Sheep Breeder is Enthusiastic.

The following enthusiastic words of praise for the hospitality of Salt Lake and the Live Stock convention are from The American Sheep Breeder:

The Salt Lake People are nothing if not hospitable. Convention week was made a continuous round of pleasure to visiting stockmen. Men, women and children vied with each other in every conceivable plan for entertainment of the 7,000 or 8,000 guests of the city. The very air was benediction, the weather very like an Eastern Indian summer. Dramatic, musical and social entertainments followed each other in joyous, bewildering succession. Hospitality was unbounded and always as gracious as generous. Visitors were overwhelmed with kindly and even delicate attentions. It was a week of genuine social intoxication that carried many a visitor fairly off his balance and made him feel like a child of Utah sunshine, half wishing he might stay in the shadows of these grand hills forever. One could not live in Salt Lake and remain cheerful and cynical. The sunlight is too genial and the social life too warm and generous and kindly to long admit of littleness, narrowness or meanness. The visit has been an eye-opener to many an Eastern man who came here to meet and measure savages and bigots. Generous culture, broad-mindedness, love for the best and sweetest amenities of human life; the universal hum of industry, the genuine spirit of good-fellowship, and, above all, what Margaret Fuller calls the spirit of Divine Unity seem to have fallen upon the manhood and womanhood of this charming city of the desert. These Utah people disarm you of critical intent and compel you to a feeling of kinship for every blessed mother's son and daughter of Desert and her modern and cosmopolitan metropolis. Half the strangers in Salt Lake that memorable convention week want to go back again in some not distant year and see President Springer yield his name and give up his life over the charmed life of convention days, when all the men were chivalrous knights and the fair-haired women daughters of the king. When comes convention week again may we be there to see and hear. The National Live Stock association meeting at Salt Lake City was much the most largely attended, enthusiastic and successful in the history of the organization. It was attended by 1,500 delegates, and from start to finish was characterized by unity, good-fellowship, working spirit and enthusiasm quite beyond any preceding meeting. This great organization has now become so far-reaching in its plans, work and influence as to give promise of great usefulness in securing needed legislation, in correcting current abuses in transportation, settling vexed questions as to rights of range and in many ways conserving the live stock interests of the country. The association has been admirably managed from its inception and goes steadily forward to the fulfillment of its mission.

The old National Wool-growers' association, long ago grown obsolete by misdirection and inattention, was decently buried at Salt Lake in the presence of 250 wool-growers, representing the best blood, ambition and working ability of the great national industry. Peace to its ashes.

ANOTHER CELEBRATION.

Arrangements Under Way for Big Patriotic Observance in Salt Lake.

August 12, the anniversary of the entrance of the American army into Manila, is to have a fitting observance in Salt Lake, and steps are now under way to make the annual meeting of the National Society of the Army of the Philippines, to be held in Salt Lake City on August 13th, 14th and 15th, a grand success. On the evening of the 12th there is to be a meeting in the Tabernacle, at which prominent visitors will offer addresses. On the following morning it is proposed to have a street parade and devote the balance of the day to a good time at Saltair beach.

HISTORICAL DATA.

In accordance with appointments made at the last Priesthood meeting held in the Salt Lake Stake of Zion, Elder Andrew Jensen, of the Historians' office, will visit the following wards in the order named:

Brighton ward, Tuesday, Feb. 5, 2 p. m.

Cannon ward, Wednesday, Feb. 6, 10 a. m.

Eighteenth ward, Thursday, Feb. 7, 7 p. m.

A punctual attendance of old settlers, ward clerks, quorum and association secretaries, with all books and records, both new and old, is kindly solicited.

A Convincing Answer.

"I hobbled into Mr. Macken's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine as they all failed. He said: 'Well if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it. I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism.'

There is probably no disease or condition of the human system that causes more suffering and distress than piles. FALBER'S BUCKEYE PILE OINTMENT cures them quickly, without pain or detention from business. Price 50 cents in bottles. Tubes, 75 cents. Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.

JEFFRIES AND RUHLIN TRAINING.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 4.—Jeffries and Ruhl and Martin and Childs are proceeding with their training today for the two championship contests that are scheduled for this city on Feb. 15, notwithstanding the action of Gov. Nash during the past two days. The contestants and their managers, trainers and others say that they will not give up until there is a decision by the court on the pending application for an injunction. Meanwhile, the directors and members of the Saengerfest Athletic association and their attorneys are considering the communications which Gov. Nash has sent to Sheriff Taylor, Prosecutor Hoffheimer, the Roth Packing company and other petitioners, and a meeting of the directors of the Athletic association will be held this afternoon to decide on some definite plan of procedure. Judging from the talk of the promoters and members of the Saengerfest Athletic association, there is not likely to be any definite action taken until after Judge Hollister passes on the application for an injunction.

Arguments will be made before Judge Hollister by counsel on both sides tomorrow, and he may reserve his decision until Wednesday, or later. But even if Judge Hollister should fail to grant an injunction, the Saengerfest Athletic association is now confronted with the declaration from Gov. Nash to them directly, and frequently repeated to local petitioners, that whole power of the State will be used to prevent the fight from being pulled off in Cincinnati, as scheduled, Feb. 15. The sheriff and prosecutor today replied to the communications of the governor that they would do their duty as outlined in his communication. As the governor promised to assist them with the full power of the State, the outlook for the proposed fight in Cincinnati is no longer regarded as promising.

It is now certain that the hearing before Judge Hollister in the Jeffries-Ruhl case, set for 10 a. m. tomorrow will not have to be postponed on account of Atty Gen. Sheets, as he has left Columbus for Cincinnati. Thus the State, through its legal officer, will be here to battle against the promoters of the fight.

ADAMS EXPRESS CAR ROBBED.

Van Running Between Philadelphia and New York.

Philadelphia, Feb. 4.—A car of the Adams Express company, attached to the train which left this city at midnight Saturday for New York, was robbed en route of miscellaneous freight valued at $4,000. The robbery was not discovered until some time after the train had arrived at Jersey City.

Express Messenger Thomas Barber, of Union, was in charge of the cars when they left the Adams Express company in a car which carried diamonds and jewelry and consequently was unusual in the presence of the robbers in other cars. It is thought the robbers carried with a duplicate key.

Pittsburg Building Collapses.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—The large story iron front double building on Third street, occupied by the Stevenson Printing company, collapsed today. The ruins took fire and in less than an hour the destruction was complete. The building had been closed for repairs. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

PERSONAL.

Salt Lake may look for noted visitors on the occasion, for it is said that some national heroes will grace the occasion.

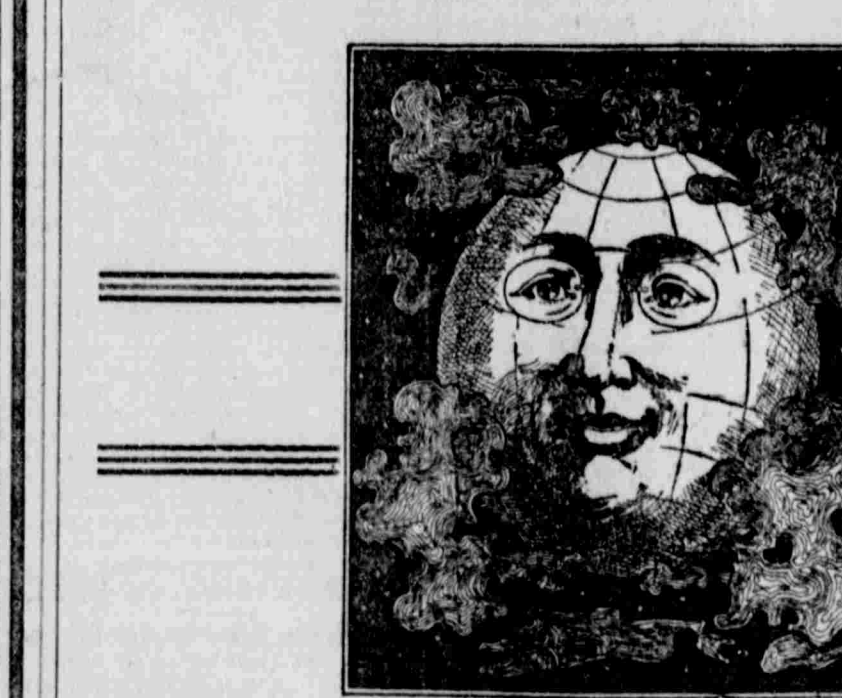

Wm. Lander, a merchant of Kemmerer, Wyoming, is in the city. Mr. Lander is an old Salt Lake, and is in the city on business. He reports the new coal mining section from which he comes to be prospering and expects a population of 5,000 before another year. He says that for the coal mines, the Oregon Short Line hauls 250 cars of coal to the adjacent States every 24 hours.

Secretary C. F. Martin of the live stock convention, is now able to be at the Knutsford, after his severe attack of la grippe, and hopes soon to be around again.
