WESTON DELIVERS LETTER TO FISK

Pedestrian, Although Five Days Behind Schedule, Accomplishes His Great Transcontinental Walk.

San Francisco, July 15.—When Edward Weston today handed to Postmaster Arthur Fisk the letter given him by Postmaster Morgan of New York on March 15 last, the little ceremony ended one of the most remarkable pedestrian feats on record. Although five days behind on schedule, he had set for himself, and had accomplished, a great feat. "It was a great walk," he said, "and but for the fact that I was so far behind on my journey I would have been in the city long ago. Still, I am feeling fine and could do it over again." Weston slept this morning and was in a hurry to deliver his letter to Postmaster Fisk. "I dare say it can wait a few hours," he said, and went into a late breakfast. It was after noon when he started from his hotel to the postoffice, about a half-mile distant, where the letter was waiting for him. The pedagogue old man was quickly recognized by the crowds on the street. He had a big following that escorted him to the postoffice to see him deliver his letter and formally end his long tramp.

FISK READS LETTER.
Shortly before 1 o'clock Weston entered the office of Postmaster Fisk and without any further ceremony handed him the letter from Postmaster Morgan of New York, which he had carried across the continent. He was warmly greeted by Postmaster Fisk, who engaged him in conversation for about half an hour, after which the famous pedestrian returned to his hotel.

Weston said that his plans for the future were as yet undetermined. He will rest in this city for several days and then probably will return to New York by train, though he may walk to Seattle.

Following is the text of the letter presented by the athlete to Postmaster Fisk:
Office of the Postmaster,
New York, March 15, 1909.
Hon. Arthur M. Fisk, Postmaster, San Francisco.
My Dear Mr. Fisk—This letter will be presented to you by Edward Weston, a pedestrian who, on the 15th day of March, 1909, at the age of 37 years, 11 months and 11 days, after a journey of 11,000 miles, has delivered to you this letter from the Postmaster of New York. I am sure that he will make a very truly yours,
E. M. MORGAN, Postmaster.

HIS MAJESTY KING WAGNER THE FIRST IN DESPERATE SLID E FOR HOME PLATE.

Now that about half of the National league race has been run a pretty good line can be obtained on the probable pennant winner. At present it looks as if nothing but a series of accidents could stop the Pittsburgh Pirates from carrying off the flag. The two weak spots of last season—first and second base—have been strengthened by the addition of Abstein and Miller. The feature of many of the Pirates' games has been the batting of Manager Clarke, Leach, Gibson and the old reliable Hans Wagner. The latter is hitting the ball harder than ever and is leading the National league with a percentage of .420. He was second player in the circuit to make 100 bingles. Wagner has stolen more bases than any other player in the older organization and has made more runs than any one in either league, having crossed the plate over 55 times. Wagner playing at short is without an equal. He is as fast as lightning and gets almost as many plays at second and third as he does in his regular position. Age does not appear to wither the wonderful ability of the mighty German. In the last three years he has led the league in batting each season. He had a higher average last year than in either of the two preceding years, and it looks as if he intends to eclipse them all in 1909. In the past 12 years Wagner's lowest average was .305 and his highest .350. He is the only man who has ever led a league in batting for six different seasons. Wagner's base stealing ability has almost kept stride with his wonderful work with the bat, as he has stolen 638 bases in 12 years. His best year came in 1907, when he pilfered 61 sacks. In the last five years he has stolen more than 50 bases each season. The picture shows Wagner sliding for home in a game with New York recently.

A road from Reno to Sacramento as the result of a persistent campaign conducted by autoists of California and Nevada, in now assured by the building of a 22-mile stretch between Reno and Inyo counties. The committee organized in the counties interested have inspected the proposed route and have agreed to stand one-half the expense and the autoists are to stand the remainder. The route is to be completed in one month. This will give one of the best roads in the country and with the attractive pleasure spots in the California lake country will undoubtedly be much used.

A New York dispatch says: Rumors of a gigantic consolidation of automobile manufacturing companies, which have circulated here for several weeks, have at last been confirmed by the declaration of officials of the General Motors company that none of its constituents will be sold, lost or otherwise disposed of without the consent of the holding company. The consolidation was formed some seven months ago as a holding company for the Buick, Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Pontiac, Oakland, Reo and two or three other less known automobile companies.

Bad roads yesterday marred the pleasure of the contestants in the Golden Gate race. The only one that did in any way interfere with the success of the day's run. The tourists arrived in La Crosse late yesterday afternoon after plowing their way through rocks, dust, sand, mud and weeds, over and down hills and with only punctures on their tires to show for it.

Terry McGovern is now in an insane asylum having been taken there yesterday under protest. He was prevented from getting into the automobile for the journey only after his mother was permitted to accompany him. McGovern was arrested in New York a week ago for intoxication and was kept in the observation ward of the Kings county hospital since that time until yesterday, when he was removed to an insane hospital. McGovern is the holder of the world's featherweight title for many years.

So said J. J. Jeffries, who reached the city yesterday and who departed almost immediately for Kansas City. "We will be back from Kansas City Saturday morning," he said. "We simply are going to give an exhibition there. It won't take me long now to get into trim, and then I will meet any man in the world."
