The Tintic Miner says that Superintendent Kirby, of the Bullion-Beck reports everything moving along satisfactorily at that property. The total shipments for the month of April were 157 carloads of ore, or over 3,500 tons, which is an exceptional record. The present month is also starting out fully as well, and from the appearance of the ore bodies in the mine, shipments will equal last month.

Down in Los Angeles, says the San Francisco Chronicle, there is a tough street, lined on each side by houses of disreputable women. As the cars run through the street and tourists are witnesses of its infamy, the city authorities have tried vainly to remove the occupants of these dens. Now they have decided to build a high fence along the edge of the sidewalk, thus shutting out from the street all traces of the vile traffic.

While hauling a load of wood from Walters' Brothers corral to the depot, H. Herron has met with a very painful though not fatal accident, says the Tooele Transcript. While going at a pretty good pace down a grade the bolt came out of the double-tree and Howard was thrown directly in front of the wagon, which passed over both legs about the knees and badly crushing his right foot. His right hand had the skin torn from the palm. He is slowly recovering.

Homer Hamilton, the man who was shot in the jaw by Charley Hamilton forty days ago at Anaconda, Mont., has coughed up the bullet. He had fully recovered his health, and while at work was seized with a fit of coughing and raised the bullet from his throat, into which the ball had worked its way from his neck. A small, sharp piece of his jaw bone is attached to the bullet. The bullet was 44-caliber, and the doctors had been unable to locate it.

A dispatch from Fort Collins, Colo., says that a carload of ore has been shipped from the Copper Bug mine and another consignment of ore will be shipped this week. The Copper Bug has been leased by Montana and Boston capitalists and will be worked steadily. The mine is now working forty men and six teams. The ore in the Copper Bug is very rich in copper, running from 50 to 90 per cent pure copper, and resembles very closely ore of the Comstock mine of Montana.

The Lehi Sugar company, had it not been for the heavy rain, would have put on quite a force of boys on Wednesday to thin beets. Generally speaking the seed this season has come up most excellently. This is due largely to the pains our farmers have taken to prepare their land for the seeds. It never before has been in such good condition as this season. The main reason for this is the farmers have learned that the beet crop pays them better than any other, and the better condition the land is in the better the crop. The company has purchased of the Guano company one ton of that fertilizer, two hundred pounds of which will be used on the land this season as an experiment. If it proves a success there will no doubt be a good demand for the article next season.—Lehi Banner.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ELIZABETH L. BURTON.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Elizabeth L. Burton, widow of William Burton, were held in the Sixteenth ward assembly rooms, Salt Lake City, Sunday, May 5th, at 12 o'clock, Bishop Keeler presiding.

After the usual opening exercises, Apostle F. D. Richards addressed the meeting. After speaking of the extreme age and remarkable circumstances connected with the life of the deceased (she being 91 years of age and having been a widow for 44 years), he said he could not do justice to his feelings without speaking of her husband, who was the pioneer of his father's family in leading them to the Gospel. Both Brother and Sister Burton were born in Yorkshire, England; they came to America with their parents in 1817; were baptized in Canada in December, 1837, by Elder Zera Pulephor, Sister Burton being taken from a sick bed for the purpose during the cold season of that northern clime, and received great benefit to her health from the ordinance. They then moved with others of the same branch in the fall of 1838 for the gathering place of the Saints in Missouri, but had only reached Quincy, Illinois, when they heard the news of the exterminating order of Governor Boggs. Leaving his family at that place, Brother Burton took his team and traveled 300 miles to assist some of the poor Saints from Missouri. He was also present at the laying of the foundation stone of the Temple at Far West, April 26, 1839. They were present at Nauvoo during the mobbing and driving of the Saints and shared in the sufferings incidental thereto. Brother and Sister Burton came to Salt Lake in September, 1848.

In April, 1850, she was again deprived of her husband, he having been called on a mission to England. After laboring there for a short time, he was called to preside over the Dundee conference, in Scotland, where he worked with the same energy and zeal that he had at all times shown in the cause of truth. In March, 1851, he went to Edinburgh to attend a general conference of the Scottish mission. Here he contracted a cold which resulted in his death. His body, together with that of Elder Lorenzo D. Barnes, was brought to Utah, and interred by Bishop R. T. Burton in the family burial lot in Salt Lake City cemetery.

Sister Burton has lived alone from that time until her death on the premises in the Sixteenth ward where her husband left her to fill his mission to England, and had been one of the permanent residents of that locality.

Elder Angus M. Cannon, president of the Stake, made a few feeling remarks on the virtues of Sister Burton, after which benediction was pronounced by Elder Rodney C. Badger.

The funeral cortege then proceeded to the cemetery, where she was interred by the side of her husband, Wm. Burton.
